Today

See the Desert.
Mrs. McCormick Wins.
Inside Wet, Outside Dry.
Mr. Sloan's Flourine.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

HODGE, Cal., April 10.

THIS beautiful Mojave desert country is covered, for miles in all directions, with wild flowers, yellow, blue, purple, scarlet. The tall Spanish bayonet plants carry huge white blossoms, each protected by a circle of sharp bayonets. The Joshua trees, growing above 4,000 feet elevation, spread their heavily flowering branches in eccentric fashion. Big desert turtles are out, in pairs. This is their sentimental season. Jack rabbits are fat and run slowly, thanks to abundant fillaree and other desert grasses born of the scant desert rain.

THE alfalfa fields, irrigated from wells tapping the underground Mojave River at the rate of five hundred pounds of water for every pound of alfalfa harvested, look like a thick, dark green velvet carpet. Louis Weiss, of Victorville, is now laying for the writer of this column, twelve-inch cement pipe for more alfalfa acres. It does not pay an absentee farmer. But this spot produces the finest alfalfa hay grown anywhere in America. Sold here at twenty-two dollars a ton, it is 100 per cent better than alfalfa that costs the writer forty dollars a ton, for horse feed in New Jersey.

COME here on your way West to see a beautiful part of America and breathe wonderful air from the Pacific Ocean which is 70 miles west of here, and twenty-five hundred feet lower than this high desert land.

BUT do not come to make money in real estate for you will not do that. It is a place to invest, if you enjoy changing desert sand into green alfalfa fields. But the investment will yield only satisfaction, "one self-approving hour," in place of money.

MRS. McCORMICK'S victory in the Illinois primary election is doubly satisfactory. It will send an intelligent, hard working, ambitious woman to the Senate, which ought to have one good woman from each state. And it tells the blind of Washington and elsewhere, that this country is against the League of Nations-World Court nonsense and wants no European entanglements. Mrs. McCormick vigorously opposed the League throughout the campaign. Her opponent for the Republican nomination was all for the League, and he stays at home, to think it over.

A POLL of Congressmen shows that a strong majority, among those willing to answer are bone dry politically.

A scientific medical poll of congressional interiors would show in many cases a wetness not apparent in the members voting.

Many a pair of congressional kidneys, if they could talk, would say to their owners "Please drink as you vote, you are working us to death."

AMONG others of our great industrialists, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, appropriates millions each year for scientific research. Thanks to this wise and profitable course, followed by the nation's greatest corporations, Steel, Standard Oil, etc., important discoveries are made in many directions.

A GENERAL MOTORS laboratory, devoted to improving artificial refrigeration, the mechanical ice box, has produced a new substance called flourine, a combination of flourine, chlorine and methane. Poured into a receptacle the flourine, "boiled" at a temperature 18 degrees below zero.

DR. MIDGLEY, whose research work is sponsored and financed by Mr. Sloan, placed his face above the flourine, allowing its fumes to enter his mouth. He then breathed gently upon a flame and it was instantly extinguished.

What would be the value of a flourine agency down below?

MUSSOLINI forbids intoxication which means more in Italy than forty constitutional amendments would mean here. But Mussolini allows his Legislature to decide that the mild and rare drunkenness caused by drinking natural Italian wines, does not count. Only hard liquor drunkenness is to be punished.

TO prohibition that seems absurd, but it is not quite absurd scientifically. Natural wines, no matter how much you drink, do not produce delirium tremens.

Champagne of course is not included among natural wines and is about as bad as whisky with the additional disadvantage of completing the process of fermentation in your stomach.

THE Italian Deputy Cruciani says, truly, that wine drinking populations are not drunken. Italy has lost her wine markets in Russia and America. Italian wines are cheap, abundant, and yet their use has fallen. In 1913 each Italian averaged 32 gallons of wine a year. Last year the average was 20 gallons. Mussolini has kept his countrymen so busy they have had little time to drink. Once, in Italy, wine was so plentiful and cheap that it was mixed with the feed of horses, to strengthen them. Italian men drank no more than ordinarily.

STUDYING events in India you realize that British statesmen are able, and Britons understand management of for-

COUNT ENDS; MARK TIME IN MERGER

Opponents Await Moves Pending Court Decision; Litigation Is Considered

BULLETIN.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 10.—(AP.)—Motion to dismiss the injunction restraining the vote of 71,038 shares of stock in the merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, was filed with Judge C. S. Turnbaugh here today.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 10.—(AP.) — Announcement of the vote on the billion-dollar merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and the Bethlehem Steel Corporation at the meeting of stockholders at 4 p. m., appeared uncertain today, even though it was stated that the count would be completed at that time.

Opponents of the merger, who have obtained a temporary injunction from Judge C. S. Turnbaugh restraining the voting of Sheet and Tube shares sold after the date of record, were awaiting the next move of the merger proponents' attorneys. Whether they would file a petition to dissolve the injunction with Judge Turnbaugh or carry the case to some higher court was a matter of conjecture.

PREPARE NEW LIST

The suit involves 51,038 shares purchased by Otis & Co. and today opponents to the merger were preparing an exhibit "B" listing 20,000 additional shares bought after day of record.

It is believed the suit would affect as many as 125,000 shares more than enough with the 310,000 directly controlled by Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, who

GUN ATTACK ADMITTED BY BRIDE

Shot Mother-in-Law, Girl Wife Confesses, After Argument Over Linen

CHARLEROI, Pa., April 10.—Mrs. Rose Lacava, 18, has admitted the shooting of her mother-in-law, Assistant District Attorney H. Russell Stahlman, of Washington County, announced today as he concluded an investigation of the serious wounding of Mrs. Katherine Lacava, 65, at her son's home, yesterday.

Mrs. Lacava was removed to the Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, last night after a third bullet wound was found. This mark was across her cheek and an infection was feared. Other wounds are in the left temple and at the back of head. All were inflicted by a .32-caliber revolver, loaded with old bullets which had lost their full effectiveness.

The girl-wife in her alleged confession, which was made to County Detective Frank Creps, said that her attack on her mother-in-law, who lived with her, culminated an argument over two linen bedspreads.

The girl will be returned to Charleroi for a hearing on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, preferred by Acting Police Chief Alex Murray before Justice of the Peace Paul R. Nutt, on Friday or Saturday. Until then she will be held in the Washington County jail.

CLARK DODGES CENSOR JOB

Although Public Safety Director James M. Clark, with his wife and daughter, was among the first-nighters at the presentation of the "Strange Interlude" in the Nixon Theater, he said today he would await a report of two detectives before acting upon a demand that the play be suppressed.

The demand was made in a letter by Dr. Theodore Diller, of 724 South Negley avenue, a nerve specialists with offices in the Westinghouse Building. The physician denounced the play as "indecent and immoral."

Following the complaint, Director Clark assigned Detectives John Crouse and William O'Bryan to attend "Strange Interlude" tonight and censor the lines, although he heard the lines himself.

President Will Toss Baseball at Opening

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(INS.)—President Hoover today told Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Baseball Team, his arm is in "good shape" and that he will be at the stadium Monday to inaugurate the baseball season by tossing out the first ball in the game between the Senators and the Boston Red Sox.

Griffith presented to the President, on behalf of the American League, a season pass for all league games. He left a pocketbook, containing a similar pass for Mrs. Hoover.

Story He Won't Run In 1932 Irks Curtis

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(INS.)—Vice President Curtis and his friends were incensed today over a newspaper article asserting he would not be a candidate for re-election in 1932. The story, published in New York and elsewhere, quoted "Curtis' friends" as saying he planned to retire at the end of one term.

His friends have made no such statement, said Curtis, remarking that it is too early to discuss the vice presidency in 1932.

You Tell 'Em, Illinois!

So they gave the little lady a great big hand.

On Tuesday, Senator Deneen ran for renomination in the Republican primaries in Illinois on a ticket advocating our entrance into the International Court of the League of Nations.

Ruth McCormick ran against him on a platform with just one plank, STAY OUT of the League and all its branches, including its legal department.

This was the ONLY ascertainable issue between the two candidates. Illinois and the country watched the election as a REFERENDUM on the League Court.

Well, the VOTERS of Illinois agreed with Mrs. McCormick.

By the tremendous majority of approximately 200,000 votes they told President Hoover that the people of the United States still believe in America for Americans and want the government at Washington TO MIND ITS OWN BUSINESS AND OUR OWN BUSINESS.

Illinois reports that the people do NOT want their government to entrust our future peace and prosperity and our vital national interests into the hands of ANY KIND of foreign organization controlled by foreign votes.

In language as plain as the people can use they told President Hoover that they want him to STAY AWAY from foreign organizations and leagues and alliances and pacts and courts.

They want him to do all his self-advertising and to make his place in history not by intruding into European complications and conflicts, but by serving the best interest of his own people and his own country.

Since it is the VOTERS who have spoken, we suspect that the politicians perhaps, even including the President, will finally pay some little attention to what the Hearst newspapers have been trying to tell them for the last five years, ever since the internationalists first got Harding to recommend United States entry into this alleged "court" with ten foreign judges and one American judge on it.

United States senators in particular will thoughtfully chew the cud of the news from Illinois. Some day—so the President has announced—he may ask the Senate to ratify his personal agreement to put the United States into this international court that Illinois has just voted on. Deneen shows what happens to a Senator who leaves his own to stand on foreign soil.

We sometimes wonder whether President Hoover is actually capable of attaining any real comprehension of what the American people WANT in foreign policy.

If he can now, in the light of the Illinois election, better understand the sentiment of the American people he will FORGET about the International Court of the League of Nations.

He will take this particular charter of internationalism and quietly slip it into the nice deep ash can which the voters of Illinois have generously provided for him.

He will attend to his neglected HOME WORK which has not been going so well of late.

He might even spend an evening or two in his study reading up on what Washington and the other founders of the nation said about foreign entanglements; the things he learned as an American schoolboy in Iowa and California; the things he has forgotten in his long residence in foreign lands.

It's getting very late, Mr. President.

BETTER COME BACK HOME!

PROHIBITION FOES BACK TICKET

Modification League Support Opposes Wets; Anti-Saloon Neutral in Senate Fight

Pennsylvania's political storm began to break today in full fury on the prohibition issue, with these developments:

1—Davis-Brown ticket was indorsed by the Modification League, as "a step forward in the fight against prohibition."

2—Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League indorsed Pinchot and condemned Brown and Phillips for governor, while remaining neutral in the fight for Senate by Davis and Grundy.

3—William S. Vare in first public speech for Davis and Brown declared "the main issue is to restore to the people their stolen Senate seat."

4—Philadelphia leaders answering Grundy's attack on W. W. Atterbury in Senate threatened court action to "give him a chance to prove in court" charges that Pennsylvania Railroad contracts are helping finance the Davis-Brown campaign.

5—Senator Reed reported evading factional warfare by remaining abroad until after campaign, while Mellons remain aloof to all candidates except Brown for governor.

Anti-prohibition forces were rent asunder today in the Pennsylvania political campaign by conflicting indorsements of candidates for the United States Senate and for governor.

The Modification League, from Harrisburg, announced unqualified indorsement of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for the Senate and Francis Shunk Brown for governor, as opposed to Thomas W. Phillips and Francis H. Bohlen, running on a wet plat-

HOOVER WARNED TO DROP COURT

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP.)—The Illinois Republican senatorial victory of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick was declared in the Senate today by Senator Dill, (Dem.), Washington, to constitute a referendum against American adherence to the Court of International Justice of the League of Nations.

Senator Dill said that Senator Deneen went down to defeat before Mrs. McCormick "carrying the Hoover banner on the world court." He expressed the hope that President Hoover would take notice of the McCormick campaign against the Court and refuse to submit to the Senate the modified proposition of American adherence to the Court as embodied in the root formula.

'SQUEAL' HELPS TRACE KILLER

Developments in the "barrel murder mystery" today were:

1—Story of James Moleno, Clairton racketeer, that Philip Fazio, alleged head of a bootleg gang, had offered him $200 to help in the slaying of William Gregory, spurs detectives in search for third man believed to have assisted in killing of Gregory.

2—Police take Moleno over scenes of crime and to wildcat breweries maintained by bootleg gang said to have been headed by Fazio.

3—County Coroner W. J. McGregor and District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner smooth out differences over procedure in holding Fazio.

Detectives redoubled their search for the third suspect in the murder following the accusation of Moleno that the murder plot had been proposed by Fazio.

Moleno says he refused the offer to help kill Gregory and it is the theory of detectives that Fazio then made the same proposition

STEEL ORDERS SHOW GAIN

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP.)—Unfilled tonnage orders of the United States Steel Corporation March 31 showed an increase of 90,905 tons over the Feb. 28 total.

Unfilled orders at the end of last month aggregated 4,570,653 tons against 4,479,748 on Feb. 28, and 4,668,710 on Jan. 31. The total for March 31, 1929, was 4,410,718 tons.

This moderate increase in tonnage was a pleasing surprise to Wall Street, for, in view of the rather slack demand in the earlier part of March, little change had been expected, and most forecasts indicated that a slight decline was likely.

The steel corporation's back log of unfilled orders is now the largest since February of 1926. The total of 4,410,718 tons at the end of March, 1929, set a high record for last year.

The present high tonnage, however, is due in a large measure to curtailed operations. The company's current operations are around 80 per cent of rated capacity, against 98 per cent at this time last year.

WICKERSHAM UNDER FIRE IN CHURCH, DRY PROBE

ATTACK LED BY TINKHAM, CARAWAY

Witness Calls Volstead Act 'Jackass Law' in Assailing Anti-Saloon League

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP.)—The connection of George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission, with international banking affairs while head of the Foreign Policy Committee of the Federal Council of Churches was termed an "indefensible position" today by Chairman Caraway, of the Senate Lobby Committee.

Wickersham's name came before the committee through testimony by Representative Tinkham (Rep.), of Massachusetts, in amplifying charges against the church council. After asserting the council was attempting to substitute a theocracy for the present form of government, Tinkham added that Wickersham had until recently served as chairman of the council's foreign policy committee. He continued that the former attorney general had been active in international business.

PROPAGANDA SCORED

A letter from Wickersham was then read which said that his law firm had represented at times "international bankers, and we probably at the present time do represent a number of such interests."

Senator Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, after Caraway's sharp comment, asked how Wickersham qualified as an officer of the church council.

"I suppose because he is active in international business," Tinkham answered.

Tinkham had testified the council, "largely through propaganda," had attempted to influence both foreign and domestic policies of the government.

DRY LEAGUE ASSAILED

Tinkham also read a letter from Charles S. MacFarland, until recently general secretary of the council, which said the council "does not consider any question involving principles of right and just as secular."

The witness said MacFarland had recently resigned because it was found he "was also upon the payroll of the Motion Picture Producers' Association, whose business the council was attempting to regulate."

Caraway called this "the worst ethics in the business." Blaine asserted MacFarland had been "serving two masters."

Tinkham then began an attack on the Anti-Saloon League.

"JACKASS LAW"

Tinkham read from a book on prohibition which said the late Wayne B. Wheeler, head of the Anti-Saloon League, was "recognized as the most powerful and masterful single individual in the United States," and that he controlled presidents and congresses.

"It also said that the Volstead act should be called the "Wheeler act."

Senator Blaine said a New Englander had said the Volstead law should be called the "jackass law."

Tinkham replied that he thought so.

LAYS DRY LAW TO LOBBY

"What respect," Tinkham demanded, "should be given to a law shown to be a composition of a highly paid and a powerful lobbyist?"

"What difference should it make who wrote the law if Congress approves it?" asked Caraway, a dry.

Tinkham denounced the prohibition laws as a "perversion of representative government." He said it leads to lawlessness "because people, knowing those things, will not respect such a law."

"What respect," Tinkham asked, "should be given to a law shown to be a composition of a highly paid and powerful lobbyist?"

Tinkham added that unless the "sound American principles of government" were carried out the United States would in time become a "dictatorship." He said in no other country was legislation directed from outside legislative bodies.

The committee adjourned until Tuesday, when Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment will testify.

KELLY MURDER CASE GIVEN TO JURY

Self-Defense Claimed in Store Shooting; State Asks First Degree Verdict

BULLETIN.

James M. Kelly was acquitted of the murder of Peter McGann in Criminal Court this afternoon after four hours' deliberation.

The jury in the case of James M. Kelly, on trial charged with the murder of Peter McGann, 33, of 2330 Reed street, retired to deliberate on a verdict this morning.

Judge D. W. Henderson, of Fayette County, charged the jury, which had listened to testimony since Monday. McGann was shot in a confectionery store at 1334 Fifth avenue, November 21 and died four days later in Mercy Hospital. Kelly claimed self defense.

CLAIMS SELF-DEFENSE

Closing arguments of the attorneys occupied practically all of yesterday afternoon. Attorney Louis Little, for Kelly, asked the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty, on the grounds that McGann had been the aggressor in a fight, and that Kelly shot in self-defense. Assistant District Attorney Jackson told the jury its verdict should be murder in the first degree, asserting the shooting was the outcome of bad blood between one booze racketeer and another.

John McGann, brother of the dead man, called to the witness stand during rebuttal testimony, frankly said his brother had been in the liquor running business.

McGann said he worked for his brother, loading trucks with liquor, and had turned truck loads over to Kelly, collecting money for them.

Kelly's assertion that he worked for Booth and Flinn until 18 months ago, when he secured employment in a plumbing supply store, was denied, records of Booth and Flinn showing he had not worked for that company for four years.

Many police officers were called by Attorney Little. These included Inspector James N. Hoey, Lieut. J. L. Hoban, Sergt. George E. Snyder. Among the array of character witnesses were Assistant City Solicitor L. Patrick McGrath, Attorney George A. Sheehan, a brother-in-law of Alderman Thomas A. Flannigan, and Deputy Sheriff W. McGraw.

It had been testified that Kelly, after the shooting, had pointed his finger at David Brown, who had been arrested with him, and said:

"You are next."

Kelly denied this and Attorney Jackson, in addressing the jury, asked:

"Why didn't the defense bring in some more policemen to back up the threat Kelly was said to have made to Brown? You saw how easy it was for them to get police to testify to other matters."

OPEN NAVAL AGREEMENT FRAMED

U. S. in New Move for Five-Power Pact; Blank Space Left for France, Italy

By HARRY R. FLORY,
International News Service.

LONDON, April 10.—Understanding the British negotiations with France and Italy on disarmament have failed, the American naval conference delegation today approached the two Mediterranean powers with a new proposal.

The Americans suggested the French and Italians agree to immediate conclusion of a five-power treaty framework, incorporating all points on which agreement has been reached by the five powers, but leaving blank spaces for the French and Italian tonnage figures.

'BLANK SPACE' TREATY

The "blank-space" treaty also would incorporate the definite agreement formulated between the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

Within the five-power framework, the definite Anglo-American-Japanese treaty would become effective as soon as these three governments ratified it, even though France and Italy have not voted ratification. Italy and France might not ratify until they have reached an agreement allowing incorporation of their tonnage figures.

Under the three-power agreement, America will retain one of the three battleships which were to have been scrapped under the original terms of the Anglo-American program.

The three slated for scrapping were the U. S. S. Florida, Utah and Wyoming. The Wyoming probably will be retained for conversion into a training ship.

BRITAIN TO SCRAP FIVE

The British were to scrap the Tiger, Emperor of India, Iron Duke, Marlborough and Benbow. One of these five also will be retained for training ship use.

Decision of the United States and Britain each to retain one ship scheduled for scrapping was reached after Japan insisted upon retaining the battle cruiser Kongo, which was to have been scrapped. The Kongo also will be used as a training vessel.

Despite previous reports to the contrary, Secretary Stimson is confident the American delegation will be able to sail for home on April 22 as planned, it was learned today.

The delegation's secretary asked Col. Stimson whether the reservations made aboard the United States liner Leviathan for that date should be canceled.

"Decidedly no," was his quick reply.

New Anglo-Russian Trade Treaty Ready

TAXI SERVICE TO CONTINUE

Extended taxicab service continued today in the Oakland and East Liberty districts. E. S. Higgins, vice president of the Parmelee Transportation Company, would not discuss how far the cab service was to be extended at present nor would he state whether Green or Checker cabs would operate.

Downtown the cabs were run again until midnight without any further disorder being reported. All guards and special deputies have been dismissed and the drivers are alone in the machines.

CHARTER GRANTED

The Peoples Taxicab Company of Pittsburgh, organized recently by business men, has been granted a charter as a holding company by the State Department of Pennsylvania. U. J. L. Peoples is the treasurer and controlling stockholder. Other incorporators are G. E. Wortman and Dr. F. C. Blessing. The company has a capital of $5,000. It is understood the company has applied to the Public Service Commission for the right to operate cabs here.

STRIKERS WARNED

Accused of calling cab drivers abusive names, Franklin Diettinger, 24, of 3176 Brighton road, and George Munro, 21, of Sedgwick stret, taxicab strikers, were before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today as "suspicious persons." Yellow Cab Company officials complained against them. After warning them, Rothenberg discharged the pair.

Drug Association Hits Alcohol Change

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP.)—Drug manufacturers protested today against placing industrial alcohol permits under both the attorney general and the secretary of Treasury as hearings opened by a Senate Judiciary Sub-Committee on the House bill to transfer prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

Representing the American Drug Manufacturers' Association, Horace W. Bigelow, of Detroit, told the committee the proposed dual control of permits was unfair to legitimate business by subjecting it to delays.

Curb on Teachers' Liberties Seen as Insanity Cause

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 10.—(AP.)—Warning to the community which sets up barriers against personal freedom for its school teachers that it is contributing to an increasing insanity rate among members of that profession was issued here today by Dr O. R. Yoder, psychiatrist of Kalamazoo State Hospital medical staff.

The community, Mr. Yoder declared, is overstepping its right when it presumes to restrict the personal affairs of the teacher in such matters as the length of her skirts, the cut of her hair and what she does on her week-ends.

PITT LIBERALS LIBERATED

Three Pitt students, arrested yesterday for passing cards advertising a liberal labor meeting, were discharged when arraigned before Magistrate T. D. Jones in Morals Court today.

They told the magistrate they did not know it was against a city ordinance to distribute such literature without a permit. Police Inspector Albert Beebe said a permit had been granted for the meeting in North Side Carnegie Music Hall tomorrow night, at which James H. Maurer, former head of the state labor federation, will discuss unemployment.

Those discharged were Louis Littlebaum, 20, of 5800 Bartlett street; Sol Kaplan, 19, of 1414 Epiphany street, and Robert Wasson, 19, of R. F. D. No. 1, Wilkinsburg.

Kentucky Woman Out for Congress

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 10.—(AP.)—Declaring "I am not running on my petticoats," Mrs. John David Allen, Kentucky Republican women's leader, today announced her candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Seventh Kentucky District, now represented by Robert Blackburn (Rep.), Lexington, who is expected to stand for re-election.

PASTOR CAUGHT IN DRY RAID

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 10.—(AP.)—Five men, including one who gave his name as the Rev. William F. Diehl and described himself as pastor of the St. Lucas Evangelical Church, of Faribault, Minn., were arrested by Federal agents, who raided the Junior Hotel here last night and seized 25 gallons of liquor.

Maurice Silverman, assistant Northwest prohibition administrator, who led the raid, said the Rev. Mr. Diehl would be charged with possession of liquor. The others will face possession and sale of liquor and other charges.

Silverman said Diehl was found drinking with the men in a room.

Should the temporary injunction be made permanent, the pendulum of victory will be pointed and locked over the heads of the Eaton forces, who have waged such a terrific three weeks' financial struggle as the industrial world has seldom known.

Denial of the permanent injunction, however, will crown James A. Campbell, 75-year-old veteran steel chief and chairman of Sheet and Tube, victor of another, and without a doubt his greatest, industrial war.

WINE MAKING IN HOME UPHELD

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—(AP.)—The Appellate Division of Los Angeles County Superior Court has ruled that Section 29 of the Volstead act "prevents the grandmother and the housewife from being penalized and made criminals if they make liquors for use in their homes," but that the protection of the law cannot be invoked in any commercial enterprise.

The court ruled in the case of Albert Stoddard, who appealed from a conviction for possession of liquor. Conviction was on the ground that making "so-called grape juice" from "grape syrup" was a violation of the prohibition law if the alcoholic content exceeds one-half of 1 per cent. The court upheld a $100 fine on Stoddard.

Eaton's Daring in Merger Holds Financial World

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 10.—(AP.)—As the Bethlehem Steel-Youngstown Sheet and Tube merger war progresses, the slowly unfolding story of Cyrus S. Eaton's fight to block the deal reveals one of the most daring financial operations in history.

Eaton, sensational Cleveland financier, built the entire main part of the merger attack on this play—and put up close to $8,000,000 to do it. He did it on the advice of counsel that he could purchase stock without the voting proxies and still prevent the merger proponents from voting it.

TAKES LONG CHANCE

When directors of Youngstown Sheet and Tube approved the consolidation, they announced the company's books would be closed March 22 and that stock purchased after that time could not be voted.

Instead of buying stock before the deadline, Eaton waited until after the lunch hour of March 22, when there was a lull in the market. Then, through Otis & Co., he began to buy, spending millions, until he had control of 51,033 shares.

Eaton, before this purchase, with his associates directly controlled 310,000 shares. He had depended on proxy promises of another 40,000. The 51,038 shares, if his attorneys could prevent them from being voted, made up the rest of the approximately 400,000 he needed for victory.

FIGHT IS STUBBORN

His first legal move to save the 51,038 shares, however, failed. The Federal Court at Cleveland refused to delay the stockholders' meeting, which would have restored voting rights to this block.

The merger committee, holding proxies on these shares, voted them for the consolidation Tuesday night. Meanwhile, Eaton, in a new move, had sought a Common Pleas Court injunction to prevent their being voted. He lost this, too, and observers of the fight were ready to concede his defeat until his surprise move of yesterday, when in a third court hearing he obtained a temporary injunction tieing up the vote not only on this block, but all shares purchased by both sides since March 22.

City Studies N. Y. Plan For Safety at Crossings

The Traffic Planning Commission is studying the effect that four lights flashed simultaneously in all directions to expediate safety of pedestrians at intersections, would have, Burton W. Marsh, traffic engineer, announced yesterday.

Instead of four red lights, should the plan be adopted here, purple globes along with the yellow caution lights would be used as signals, working with other [illegible] could be effected, Marsh explained.

The plan in use in various cities, Marsh explained, which will be installed in New York, is for a signal halting all traffic to be flashed a few seconds between the red and green.

Yellow lights, they say, permit traffic move in all directions. A red light, changing to green, means that the pedestrian who has been pocketed by vehicles making right turns fails to get [illegible] opportunity to cross.

The main contention for the new plan is that pedestrians are protected from injury from vehicles making right turns. Motorists making such turns recognize rights of pedestrians, Marsh says, because a Pennsylvania law provides a fine of $5 or three days in jail for failure to comply.

Women Colleagues Joyfully Greet Senate Candidate; Son Bemoans $1 Bet Loss

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican senatorial candidate from Illinois, came back to the national capital this afternoon to be greeted in her hour of triumph by her women colleagues in Congress and to find that Medill McCormick, 13, isn't quite sure whether he's glad or sorry about the landslide that gave his mother the nomination.

For Medill, it seems, lost $1 on the outcome of the election and it was the first subject he broached when he met his mother at the train.

"I don't know what to kinda say," said young Medill, after he had kissed her. "I lost $1. I guess I'm glad in a way and sorry in a way. Mamma got elected and I lost my dollar."

COLLEAGUES JOYFUL

The boy explained that Mrs. McCormick had assured him she would be defeated, and with that assurance he wagered with the chauffeur.

Not only Medill and little Ruth Elizabeth McCormick, 9, met the first woman ever to be accorded a major political nomination, however. When Mrs. McCormick stepped from the train she found herself in the midst of a three-woman demonstration staged by Ruth Bryan Owen, Democratic Congresswoman from Florida, who forgot her politics in her feminine elation; Florence Kahn, Republican Congresswoman from California, and Miss Mary O'Toole, Mrs. Kahn's secretary. All three were waving little American Flags and shouting a profusion of congratulations.

Photographers were lined up at the station exit in formidable battle array and Mrs. McCormick posed and posed and posed. They took pictures of her alone, of her with her whole family, of her with Alice Longworth, who returned from Chicago with her, and finally of the whole welcoming group.

Then Mrs. McCormick was led to the microphones of the sound reels.

VICTORY FOR WOMANHOOD

"It is a very great pleasure to be back in Washington," she said, "and to be met so cordially, particularly by my colleagues in Congress. Now I am going back to work immediately and stay there for the remainder of the session."

Greeting her, Mrs. Kahn said:

"Not only your fellow women members of Congress but all the women of America feel your victory is a step forward for womanhood. I congratulate you."

Then Mrs. McCormick was bundled into the automobile piloted by the astute chauffeur who is one dollar richer because of his faith in his boss' political ability and motored home for lunch.

VOTE SETS RECORD

CHICAGO, April 10.—(INS.)—Almost complete returns from throughout Illinois today revealed that Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's victory over United States Senator Charles S. Deneen at Tuesday's primary was by a margin of approximately 210,000 votes.

It was the biggest plurality a candidate for the Republican nomination for the senatorship ever had received in Illinois.

As the flush of battle was subsiding, Republican leaders devoted their attention to the coming election in November, when Mrs. McCormick will oppose Col. James Hamilton Lewis, nominee of the Democratic party. Lewis has declared that one of the cardinal points of his campaign will be opposition to the prohibition law.

VISION-PHONE TEST SUCCESS

NEW YORK, April 10.—(INS.)—While two-way telephone-television, in which persons participating see and talk directly to animated photographs of each other, was successfully demonstrated in New York yesterday, officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company said today there was no immediate possibility of commercial adaptation of the principle.

The conversations were conducted from soundproof booths by an apparatus called the ikonophone. A clear speaking photograph in a 5x7 inch frame was shown of each person and both sound and vision reproduction was declared remarkable. The slightest change in facial expression was recorded and synchronized with the voice perfectly.

WALES EVADING MOTHER'S PLEA

LONDON, April 10.—(AP.)—The statement that the Prince of Wales has implicit confidence in the judment of his mother on every subject except marriage is contained in a new unofficial biography of Queen Mary which contains many stories about the royal family.

The queen, the writer says, would like to see her eldest son married as a prospect for a direct heir to the throne, but thus far her efforts to persuade the prince to take a wife have been in vain.

The book was written by Mrs. Charlotte Cavendish, widow of a colonel in the British army. It was not submitted to the queen before publication.

The writ r says Queen Mary is not a believer in youthful marriages, but she now is eager to see all of her sons settled, although she thinks that if the Prince of Wales remains single, it will not be such a national calamity as some people have predicted, because the Duke of York is already married and has a daughter and the other two sons, Henry and George, can scarcely be classed as woman haters.

The independence movement throughout British-India inspired by Gandhi has reached a high degree of enthusiasm. Demonstrations have increased in size and fervor.

Police today raided the National Congress headquarters here and arrested the secretary, Abid Ali, and Mehr Ali, "Commander of the National Militia."

SENATORSHIP HOLDS NO APPEAL

Former Executive Also Cool To Proposals That He Run Again for President

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Calvin Coolidge is through with public office.

He feels that when he left the White House a year ago he left it for good. And he is not interested in returning to Washington in the role of United States Senator.

Over his own signature the former President made this clear today in an article appearing in Cosmopolitan Magazine. It amplifies and throws new light on the Coolidge philosophy, and it particularly illuminates that famous phrase of "I do not choose to run," with which he electrified the country in August of 1927.

GREATLY RELIEVED

"When I left Washington I left public office," says Mr. Coolidge in his latest article. "It is an incomprehensible relief and I have no intention of returning to it."

That was the way he felt on March 4, 1929, and the way he still feels. He has little patience with the suggestion that he stand for the Senate, as he was urged to do this winter.

"If I were in the Senate," he says, "it would not be agreeable to many of my colleagues, and with all my desires to be helpful it would probably oftentimes be an embarrassment to the administration.

"To have a former President in Washington exercising political power would result in all kinds of uncomfortable complications. Only the necessity of serving in some national crisis, so great as to subordinate all other considerations, would warrant it."

And again referring to the presidency, he continues:

"Nor do I have any sympathy with those who are discussing again making me President. The service that I could give to the people in that office I feel is done."

VIEWS ON VARIED MATTERS

In his latest contribution to current literature, Mr. Coolidge steps outside the historical limitations he has hitherto imposed upon himself, and discusses many things—what he thinks about prohibition, the tariff, the stock market, how to mind one's own business—in fact, he states the Coolidgian credo of how an ex-president should deport himself.

A good deal of space is devoted to prohibition, and on that all-absorbing subject the former president has this to say:

"Considering that people have differed most radically on the best method of regulating the sale of liquor for generations, it is not likely to be settled for a long time to come."

"THE rise of Calvin Coolidge," the former President's own story, starts Sunday in the Sun-Telegraph.

BALM AWARDED GRANDMOTHER

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP.)—Mrs. Adelaide Lean, 58, divorced wife of Charles Kaufman, a Detroit banker, was awarded $25,000 today by a jury in Supreme Court in her $250,000 breach of promise suit against Charles F. Harman, 71-year-old millionaire bachelor.

Mrs. Lean, sister of Cecil Lean, musical comedy actor, is a grandmother.

She was introduced to Harman in Peacock alley, the famous promenade in Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, by Mrs. Lena Turner, accused as a plotter in the balm action, eight years ago.

Harman denied he ever had proposed to her.

He admitted paying her rent and buying her clothes, but explained that he was "sorry" for her. Mrs. Lean, however, testified that he had twice proposed to her, telling her that he was "lonely."

PEPPER LAUDS VICTORY

By GEORGE WHARTON PEPPER
Former United States Senator from Pennsylvania.
(Telegraphed from Philadelphia Exclusively to Universal Service.)

Ruth Hanna McCormick's victory will check attempts to flood America with League of Nations propaganda. She has effectively plugged the leak in the dyke.

While not neglecting domestic issues, she has demonstrated her fitness to deal with the international problems which are the distinctive responsibility of the Senate.

Since Washington's time the foreign policy of the United States has been to seek honorable peace, but to avoid those permanent commitments which, while bearing the label of peace, have always proved a fruitful source of war.

She took her stand with the upholders of this American tradition and was relentless in exposing every effort to dodge the issue. She has made it unsafe for her Democratic adversary to line up with his party in advocating League membership for the United States and she has compelled him to seek cover in the wet and dry issue at the very moment when his party is being split by it.

Her victory, therefore, is not only a national but an international significance.

License Reveals 'Secret' Stage Romance Here

A Pittsburgh girl's bossing behind the scenes of "Strange Interlude" sounded like words of affection to her assistant and a closely guarded secret engagement was chatter topic today for members of the company.

Miss Eula Guy, stage manager, and W. James Todd, of Chicago, assistant stage manager, are the names on the marriage license issued here yesterday afternoon. They thought it was a secret. The day for wedding bells is their secret now. Some friends were suspicious the ceremony was over.

"Next week," is the answer the happy couple gives.

Their first meeting was in "As You Like It," and the idea went over from the start. That was two years ago in St. Louis. Miss Guy, who was born and educated in Coraopolis, and graduated from the Carnegie Institute of Technology drama school in 1919, joined the Eugene O'Neill production 16 months ago. A few weeks later Todd joined as her assistant.

Miss Guy admits she's boss on the stage, but neither will say who will be head of their household. At least, not when questioned together.

Miss Guy is the daughter of A. D. Guy, Dr. W. H. Guy, of 5888 Bartlett street, is a brother. Following graduation here, Miss Guy joined forces of entertainers in France during the World War. Later she starred in several productions, including "The Hairy Ape," with Louis Wolheim, which appeared here.

DAWES ON RADIO HITS GANG RULE

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP)—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, speaking from London over a radio-telephonic hookup, told 2,000 Chicago business men last night that gangsters are "but hornets on the flank of a lion" and that the advance of Chicago is "irresistible and imperial."

The banquet at which Ambassador Dawes spoke by remote control was a part of a campaign to stress Chicago's civic virtues rather than its gang murders and lawlessness.

Dawes, whose home is in Evanston, a suburb of Chicago, said the city "needs no defense. This generation may fail to do its duty to her and contribute to her onward step, but the advance of Chicago is inexorable, irresistible and imperial; goes on and will go on through the centuries."

INFORMER GUARDED

Moleno will remain safe from gangland's vengeance upon the squawker behind steel bars in the Allegheny County jail.

County Detective Chief George W. Murren made this revelation today following verification of Moleno's alleged accusation of his former racketeering boss in the slaying of Gregory, whose headless body was found in a cabbage barrel in Penn Township nearly two weeks ago.

"Moleno has told all he knows," Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren declared. "He is necessary as a material witness and we feel it necessary to safeguard his life to keep him in jail."

Moleno identified a piece of rope as that Fazio used in demonstrating how he intended to bind Gregory preliminary to making him pay with his life for the double-cross in hijacking a truck loaded with beer, sleuths said.

Moleno also identified a blood-stained wrench which the detectives say they believe was used in the killing. The wrench was found in the Lorigan street building formerly occupied by a wildcat brewery said to have been operated by Fazio. It was found by Paul Scullo, 14-year-old son of Pasquale Scullo, owner of the building. The boy had attempted to wash the blood stains from the tool, detectives say, not knowing what they were.

ATTORNEY ADMITTED

Moleno, held incommunicado by county detectives until yesterday afternoon, was permitted to talk to Attorney A. M. Oliver late in the day. It was learned Attorney Frank Zappala had made several attempts to see Moleno during the day, but was denied permission by Chief Murren who insisted Moleno had not requested that Zappala be retained.

Zappala, who represented Fazio at the habeas corpus hearing which resulted in Fazio being turned over to the coroner on charges of murder, declared he had been retained by relatives of Moleno who accompanied him to the County Detective Bureau. Attorney Zappala said he would try again today to see Moleno in jail where he is being held under $25,000 bond.

OFFICERS CLASH

Meanwhile, County Coroner McGregor conferred with District Attorney Gardner on dissension between the officials in the Fazio case. McGregor has demanded that Gardner turn over to him the evidence against Fazio, but Gardner has held that the District Attorney's office does not wish to reveal the evidence at this time.

Asked whether McGregor could free Fazio if the evidence were not turned over, Gardner said that in such a case county detectives could appear before a magistrate and make an affidavit for the re-arrest of Fazio. Heretofore, Gardner said, the coroner's office has held prisoners in murder cases merely on the word of the district attorney that sufficient evidence exists to detain the suspect.

SERVICE BOARD TARGET FOR PINCHOT

High Bus Rate Here Laid To 'Utilities Cat's Paw' In Westinghouse Talk

Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, seeking nomination for another term, opened the outdoor political campaign today by addressing several hundred Westinghouse employes at East Pittsburgh.

Pinchot assailed the Public Service Commission and the coal and iron police system. He declared that if he were elected he would ask the legislature to abolish both.

He would have the Public Service Commission replaced by a board elected by the people and the coal and iron police replaced by a force trained, controlled and paid by the state, he declared.

AGAIN ATTACKS BOARD

Previously at a meeting of 75 key men and women supporters in his Western Pennsylvania headquarters in the Magee building, Pinchot had denounced the Public Service Commission as a "cat's paw" of the public utilities interests.

In his East Pittsburgh talk Pinchot charged that the commission enabled the utilities companies to fixe unfair rates and cited the 25-cent bus rate fight in Pittsburgh.

At both meetings he referred to unemployment and pledged efforts to solve the problem if he were elected.

"It is the duty of the state to see that every man and woman has a chance to earn a living," Pinchot declared.

Pinchot called attention to the fact that he was the first governor to appoint a woman to a cabinet position and to provide equal pay for women doing the same work as men at Harrisburg.

CITES SLAYING

Pinchot recalled that he had "cut out the thugs from the coal and iron police while he was governor but the force "did not stay clean."

"There will be no more Borkowski outrages if I am elected," he declared.

After his address in East Pittsburgh, Pinchot took his place in line with a group of workmen and ate his lunch at a cafeteria in Braddock avenue. Tonight he is to visit Beaver Falls for a meeting with his committee there and a speech over KDKA at 8 p. m.

His schedule tomorrow calls for early meetings in headquarters, an address to Westinghouse employes in Wilmerding at noon, a visit to Washington, Pa., and a speech over WJAS at 8 p. m. He will leave here tomorrow night for Lycoming County.

Senator Joseph R. Grundy will not get here before next Monday.

Hit by Trolley, Sues Butler Line

Henry Ackerman, of 515 Sylvania avenue, Beltzhoover, while waiting at Richards stop on the Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler and New Castle Railway Company the night of February 14, waved to the motorman to stop, and was struck by the car. He wants $50,000 damages. Ackerman claims that there was no light at the station and that he had to get close to the track to make the motorman see him. The ribs on his right side, he alleges, were crushed. N. J. Lippard represents the plaintiff.

'STOLEN SEAT,' VARE ISSUE

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—(AP.)—The main issue in the Republican campaign in Pennsylvania, in the opinion of William S. Vare, leader of the Philadelphia organization, is to "restore to the people their stolen senate seat."

Most of the other issues Mr. Vare declared last night in addressing the Women's Republican Club of Pennsylvania, were smoke screens to blind the voters. It was Vare's first appearance on a public platform here in more than two years.

The local organization is backing the ticket headed by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, for United States senator and Francis Shunk Brown, for governor. Mr. Vare, who after his seat was denied him by the Senate, declared that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination in the coming primary, finally retired in favor of Secretary Davis.

He declined at the close of his address to comment on the utterances of Grundy before the Privileges and Elections Committee in Washington yesterday. Grundy urged the need of a senatorial investigation of the alleged political alliance of W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Vare in the Philadelphia organization and reports that the organization was financed largely by the railroad through contracts.

Councilman Charles B. Hall, who was mentioned by Senator Grundy as a reputed stockholder in one of the favored construction companies, declared today that if the senator continued to make these "reckless and ridiculous charges" he would "give him a chance to prove them in court."

In the opinion of Senator Shortridge (Rep.) of California, chairman of the committee, Senator Grundy "abused the courtesy extended by the committee" by attacking a member of his own party in such a proceeding.

DRY FOES SPLIT ON AIDING DAVIS AND BROWN

form and backed by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

The Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League indorsed former Gov. Gifford Pinchot for governor, while condemning Brown and Phillips and remained neutral in the fight between Grundy and Davis.

REFERENDUM FAVORED

Declaring that he had been ordered by headquarters in Washington to throw the Modification League support to the Brown-Davis ticket, Gustavus B. Fletcher issued a statement in Harrisburg endorsing the stand taken by Brown favoring a referendum on the question.

The Phillips-Bohlen slate had hoped to consolidate all persons disgruntled with the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead law of the federal government and the Snyder act in Pennsylvania into a solid voting unit.

Phillips and Bohlen have assailed—as has Pinchot, a dry—the stand taken by Brown, terming it "straddling and evasive." The Modification League in its endorsement takes the stand that it is only through legislation such as that endorsed by Brown that progress can be made in the fight against prohibition.

ANTI-SALOON POSITION

Meanwhile, in Philadelphia the headquarters committee of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League issued a statement indicating its position with reference to the various candidates for United States senator and governor in the Pensylvania primary campaign.

Opposing Phillips for his outspoken wet stand, the statement declares indorsement of Brown is withheld because he "has not told us whether he is wet or dry" and condemning Brown's advocacy of a referendum as "unjust, unwise and discriminatory."

Pinchot is indorsed "unanimously and heartily" for his "record and life of devotion to our cause."

Of the Grundy-Davis fight, the statement says:

"With reference to the United States Senate, the committee has given careful consideration to the statements made by Senator Joseph R. Grundy and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, and believes them to be equally committed to the support of President Hoover and his program.

"The committee at this time has no suggestion regarding the senatorship except that we are opposed to the candidacy of Mr. Francis H. Bohlen, who is running on a repeal platform."

DAVIS REMAINS SILENT

Thus far Secretary Davis has resisted attempts to force from him an outright declaration on the prohibition issue. He has repeatedly referred inquirers to addresses made throughout the state prior to his political filing as a candidate. In these expressions he championed complete and impartial enforcement of the law, which apparently has satisfied the prohibition forces which have indorsed his candidacy.

His opponents, it is indicated, are not satisfied with his reference to previous expressions and hope to elicit from him a current comment. He has, it is known, been importuned by leaders within the Vare faction, which is supporting his candidacy against Senator Grundy, to declare either for modification of the Volstead act, or support the referendum idea advocated by his running mate, former Attorney General Brown. The Vare faction, one observer pointed out today, would be embarrassed, in view of its open advocacy of three per cent beer in the 1926 campaign, if Davis should refrain from taking sides, or express his gratitude for indorsement by the Anti-Saloon League.

The drys have not been idle. Representative prohibitionists within and without the state, including Mrs. Belle Lewis and former Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes, have reasoned with the labor secretary that his chances of winning the nomination as a dry, or without declaration, are superior to the outcome of a modification position.

Ex-Wife of Author Faces $20,000 Balm

LIMA, O., April 10.—(AP.)—Mrs. Carl Patton was awarded a verdict of $20,000 in Common Pleas Court here in her alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Lee Eden, former wife of the late James Oliver Curwood, author and explorer.

Last November in Florida Patton shot Mrs. Eden and then shot himself. He later was tried on a charge of assault to kill and was acquitted after introducing evidence to show that Mrs. Eden threatened him with a pistol prior to the shooting.

Robber Finds Pen Mightier Than Sword

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 10.—A pen proved mightier than a revolver in a duel between Ralph Rodgers, a gasoline station attendant and T. C. Riggs, an alleged holdup man. Riggs drew his revolver. Rodgers whipped out his pen, which was of the tear gas shooting variety, and its charge temporarily made Riggs helpless.

He was taken to a police station a prisoner. The pen used by Rodgers was the product of a Pittsburgh tear gas appliance manufacturer.

Two Bandits Slain, Bank Holdup Foiled

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 10.—(AP.)—Two Negroes who attempted to rob the First State Bank of Polytechnic, a suburb, were shot to death today in the bank. J. M. Fry, assistant cashier, was wounded, perhaps fatally.

REED TO EVADE FACTION FIGHT

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP.)—Report that Senator David A. Reed will remain abroad until after the May 20 primaries, regardless of the adjournment of the London naval conference, which he is attending as a delegate, and the continued indication that Secretary Mellon and his nephew, William L. Mellon, will concentrate their attention on the election of Francis Shunk Brown as governor, to the exclusion of candidates for other offices, summarizes Pennsylvania political discussions in the national capital today.

Because the senate fight appears to be developing into a bitter factional contest, saturated with charges and issues which pertain to Eastern Pennsylvania political conditions, a maneuver of aloofness in 1930 by the Mellons may redound to their benefit in 1932, students of Pennsylvania politics point out, when the winner of the current primary must seek re-election, and in 1934 when Senator Reed, if he seeks another term, will be a candidate.

Ask Chicago Boys Take Oath of Loyalty

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP.)—Chicago's 700,000 boys are to be asked to take an oath of loyalty to Chicago in the campaign "to restore to Chicago her good name." Boys' Week, May 14-21, has been designated for the ceremony.

"One of the most beautiful ceremonies of ancient Greece was when the boys took the oath of loyalty to their city," said George W. Dixon, president of the Boys' Week Federation. "Why should not such an event be made impressive and helpful? I believe it will stimulate the lads to a conscious pride in their city and to devoted efforts to improve it. It will mean a better Chicago in years to come."

Drug Control Obstacles Bared

Dope is a world-wide curse. No peoples are immune. It invades and menaces every class of society.

Dope, experts agree, is more destructive than wars, and yet the world has taken only half-hearted steps to suppress it. Greed and graft prevent aggressive measures.

In a remarkable series of six articles, based on official information, a noted British writer portrays the ramifications of the problem, and the misery, suffering and death caused by dope. In this, the first article, is described the extent of the evil and the measures necessary to curb it.

By G. W. L. DAY

(Reprinted by Special Arrangement with the London Daily Mail.)

LONDON, April 10. On the face of it the dope devil is a menace which ought to be obvious to everybody, and which could be beaten easily given a little goodwill and common sense.

What is easier than to get each government to state its legitimate requirements of dangerous drugs?

Combining these we could assess the world's total needs, and the quotas to be manufactured by various countries could be fixed by international arbitration.

The same process could be applied to the raw materials. An international bureau could ration the production of opium, coca leaves, Indian hemp and the rest.

That is what ought to be possible. But actually rationing the world's supplies of narcotics is a matter of the utmost difficulty and complexity.

Racial Conflicts

The moment you try to straighten out the dope tangle you run your head against racial customs, international treaties, state financial policies, vested interests, and a score of other bogies, which scotch every attempt at reform with the precision of a mechanical killer.

The delegates of the various opium conferences at Geneva, held under the auspices of the League of Nations, come primed with the policies of their governments. They are ready to fight the drug devil only in so far as it does NOT interfere with the opium revenues or the drug manufacturing interests which they are there to protect.

If somebody makes a proposal to reduce cultivation, the "opium bloc" complains that it will ruin the farmers. If restricted manufacture of drugs is suggested, the "drug cartel" protests against interference with national industries.

Or possibly a rise in price of medical supplies is given as the excuse. Viscount Cecil complained in The Times last November that any really effective control of drug manufacture might send up the price of medicinal drugs to such an extent that poor patients would suffer!

Cost Exaggerated

Considering that an average dose of morphine costs only one-twelfth of a penny at wholesale prices, the danger seems a trifle exaggerated.

It is strange, too, that we can still talk of opium-growing or drug manufacture as a country's own private concern, or be content with laws so lax that traffickers escape punishment even when it is proved they have poisoned an entire nation.

Manufactured drugs are the easiest of all commodities to smuggle. Every one of those concerned in trafficking, from the manufacturer to the peddler in the street, may hope to make anything from 50 per cent to 1,000 per cent profit.

What is a fine of some thousands, or a few years' imprisonment to the heads of the dope gangs? The profits are so colossal the fines are scarcely noticed. And the odds are enormous that only their paid employes will be caught and jailed. Some of the biggest known smugglers have escaped punishment and are still carrying on their nefarious trade.

Lax Countries

What does it matter to traffickers if the narcotic laws are tightened up in one or two countries? There are always plenty of other countries where the laws are lax and where they can bolt for cover when things become too hot for them elsewhere.

The truth is we are trying to fight dope runners with bows and arrows. We are fighting them on a broken front without an intelligence staff, a concerted plan of action, or a unified command.

The world's yearly medical requirements of narcotic drugs are roughly 100 tons of medicinal opium, 14 tons of morphine, 8½ tons of codeine, 1½ tons of heroin, and 5 tons of cocaine. Yet, it is estimated that no less than 30 tons of morphine are smuggled into the United States each year!

Only by setting up a government factory for each country and prohibiting all exports of morphine, heroin, and cocaine, can we insure a water-tight pipe-line from the chemical works to the arm or the stomach of the legitimate consumer.

(The second article of this series, to appear Saturday, tells how drug smugglers evade the law.)

FIGHT FOR FIRM CONTROL ON

WILMINGTON, Del., April 10.—(AP.)—The fight between two factions of the Freeport Texas Company for control of the big Sulphur concern's affairs continued last night with little prospect of reaching a definite conclusion before late today.

The annual stockholders' meeting convened at noon last Monday and has recessed three times since. Of the 729,844 shares of stock outstanding, approximately 672,000 have been counted. The faction seeking to oust the present board of directors claims the votes of 322,818 shares.

Late last night both factions were busy sending out telegrams to stockholders in various parts of the country seeking permission to vote the shares of several thousand who have not yet been represented by proxies.

Members of the firm of John L. Williams & Sons, of Richmond, Va., are understood to be leaders of the faction seeking to remove the present management, which includes E. P. Swenson, president, and S. M. Swenson, treasurer. The Swensons and E. E. Dickinson, R. C. Holmes, C. P. Northrop, A. H. Matteson, A. L. Beatty and H. W. Jenkins, all of New York; Eppa Hurton, Jr., Richmond, and L. M. Atherton, Boston, constitute the board of directors.

The company is one of the largest producers of sulphur in the world.

BARNES CITES JOBLESS CURES

NEW YORK, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Expansion of industrial facilities to provide employment and improvement of the fundamentals of distribution were laid out as the remedies suggested last night by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of President Hoover's national business survey conference, for alleviating the unemployment problem.

Barnes spoke at a meeting of industrial and other leaders called by the survey associates. He said that seasonal unemployment could not be eliminated entirely, while technological unemployment is growing.

He attributed the present unemployment situation largely to the recent stock market crash, which he described as a "terrific shock to the industrial and psychological forces of the country." This shock, he said, cost the country $20,000,000,000.

TRENTON, N. J., April 10.—(AP)—The State Supreme Court has upheld a verdict of $2,000 for Miss Josephine Rizzo, who has a scar on her left leg, and an award on a bet.

Says the opinion:

"In the present style of dress, including the height of the skirt and thinness of the hose, it cannot be said that such a scar is either in an obscure place or not subject to observation and consequent embarrassment."

OCEAN AIR LINES SEEN BY BYRD

WELLINGTON, N. Z., April 10.—(AP)—Speaking today at a luncheon attended by New Zealand officialdom, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd said he believed aviation would bind nations closer with ties of peace as great airships soon would be flying over the Atlantic and the Pacific.

"I believe aviation is more an instrument of peace than of war," said the American Antarctic explorer. "It tends to bring the nations of the world closer together and to know is to understand; knowledge lessens criticism.

"In a few years time, I believe great airships will be flying across the Atlantic Ocean and in a few more across the Pacific. Some day I hope to revisit New Zealand in one of those airships."

RADIO DIRECTOR ASKED BY DILL

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, has prepared for Congress a legislative proposal for placing non-commercial radio broadcasting in the hands of a director of radio.

Dill said today he had drafted the plan into a draft of the radio section of a bill by Senator Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, proposing to place all communications companies under supervision of a federal commission. The bill is to be given early consideration by the Inter-state Commerce Committee which already has held extensive hearings on it.

The radio director under Dill's plan would receive a salary of $10,000 a year and would make recommendations for licenses and per-use inspections. Privately-owned radio stations and those operating on a commercial basis would be allowed to continue, but eventually all the radio regulations now exercised by the Department of Commerce, with some functions now under the Federal Radio Commission.

OIL MAN FREED BY KIDNAPERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 10.—(AP.)—Exhausted from a month of privation and terror in the hands of Mexican bandits, J. E. Bristow, American oil man, was released by his kidnapers yesterday in the mountains near Ahuacatlan, Nayarit, after payment of ransom by his son, Obie Bristow.

Details of the delivery, reported both in official and private advices, were given last night.

Obie Bristow went to Mazatlan two weeks ago and carried the ransom money to the mountain village of Ahuacatlan, where final arrangements for the elder Bristow's release was effected.

The exact amount of the ransom has not been made public, but was believed to be either $1,500 or $15,000.

As the oil man said he did not know until last Friday that any effort was being made to rescue him.

Bristow was worn from his long captivity, and his face was covered with a heavy growth of graying beard. He had been held since March 10, most of the time in the sub-crater of an extinct volcano near Ahuacatlan, where the bandit gang camped.

The place was a natural fortress against the Mexican federal troops which have been pursuing the outlaws.

Cruz Delgado, the bandit chief, made the final negotiations with messengers employed by young Bristow. The money was obtained by Obie from two Texas banks which had done business with his fatner.

Anne Shelby is one of the main witnesses against Soapy but she declines testifying against him because she believes the penalty of hanging the severe punishment for the theft of cattle.

Although Soapy has hired a regular lawyer to defend him, the prosecutor denies that this is a matter of justice and but legal technicalities.

The unexpected happens, however, when Slug McClure, seeking revenge against Ben Graham, and Antonio is the first to fall. Anne, swoops down on the proceedings.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

ROSA PONSELLE, Metropolitan soprano, who is as charming as her voice is beautiful, will sing on the Victor Hour over WCAE at 10 o'clock tonight.

Her repertoire will include "Tacea La Notte" from Verdi's "Il Trovatore"—an aria whose bravura held the rapt attention of a large audience in Syria Mosque Monday night.

Another number, in which she is not often heard and which is a decided novelty for her radio audience, will be "Kiss Me Again," the perennial favorite from Victor Herbert's "Mlle. Modiste." Other offerings will be "Ave Maria" from Verdi's "Othello"; Eckert's "Swiss Echo Song" and "By the Waters of Minnetonka."

Rosa Ponselle

Gifford Pinchot will fire the opening gun of his gubernatorial campaign when he speaks on "Getting Down to Cases" over KDKA at 8.

Marian Harris on WCAE at 8, the Oregon Trail Dinner on KDKA at 9 and the Frank & Seder recreation of Bob Fitzsimmons' meeting with Jim Jeffries, WJAS, at 8, will make the radio evening attractive.

WSXK is merely the call of KDKA's experimental short wave station operating on 20, 25 and 48 meters.

It means that the programs we hear on the average home radio are also being broadcast on short wave for the consumption of VK2ME, G5SW, and other stations throughout the world.

Under this arrangement it is possible for European and South American listeners to pick up KDKA direct. Sets in those countries have a frequency range from 20 to 1,500 meters.

* * *

A. K. Brew, Baden, Pa.—Amos and Andy switch to Columbia is a frequently repeated rumor in radio circles and nothing really new. Logical to believe that they will change hoo-ups after their contract with NBC expires in August. But there's nothing definite yet.

Austin H. Clark, curator of the U. S. National Museum, is to speak on "Three Aspects of Evolution," on the D. A. R. program from Washington at 7:30 tonight. It is a WEAF, WRC, WSAI feature.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

Three cigar store Indians that used to guard him on his way to school were purchased recently by James Stanley, bass of the Davy Tree Hour, and ensconced on the porch of his cottage in the Adirondacks, where they can gaze across the lake into a primitive wilderness.

Farmer Crushed By Tractor Dies

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 10.—George Gary, 36, of Washington, R. D. 6, was killed yesterday when he was crushed beneath a tractor as he was hauling timber on his farm, near Lagonda. He was hauling a heavy log uphill, the weight of which pulled the tractor over on him.

A neighbor, Fred Chase, rushed the injured man to the Washington Hospital, where he died.

POSTAL LEASES QUIZ PUSHED

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(INS.)—The demand for a sweeping inquiry into the government's present system of leasing temporary postoffices at an expenditure of $18,000,000 a year, grew in the Senate today following charges of fraud and corruption in the handling of leases.

Postmaster General Walter F. Brown was drawn directly into the controversy when Senator Blaine (Rep.), of Wisconsin, charged the Postoffice Department had "guilty knowledge" of what he termed "fraudulent leases."

He also charged the Toledo Trust Company, in which Brown is a director, has profited from handling bond issues for some of the temporary postoffices.

The inquiry, if ordered, will go into every state, since some 6,000 leases have been negotiated for temporary postoffice buildings.

Blaine also said Attorney General William J. Mitchell's office has sought to "suppress and hush this thing up" when demands were made that the Department of Justice prosecute the contractors in cases "fraudulent on their face."

Postmaster Brown issued a statement, denying knowledge of any fraud.

REWARD UP FOR MISSING GIRL

Parents of Miss Elizabeth Hanzel, 22, of 241 Fayette street, choir singer and assistant department manager of a downtown store, today offered a $200 reward for information leading to the finding of the girl, who disappeared April 1.

Disappearance of Miss Hanzel without any apparent motive has baffled police.

Miss Ruth Kemmler, of 1745 Cowley street, told investigators last week that the missing girl had called her the night she vanished and invited her to a party. Miss Hanzel's voice trembled and she seemed to be frightened, Miss Kemmler said.

Police fear the missing girl may be a victim of foul play.

A description of Miss Hanzel has been broadcast over the statewide police telegraph system.

FIREMEN SAVE WOMAN, CHILD

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., April 10.—Two persons were injured and a woman and infant child were carried to safety by a fireman when a fire followed a gasoline explosion at the home of Chester Killen, West Aliquippa.

Killen, who police say, dropped a lighted match into a small pool of gasoline, was burned about the face, hands and side. Mrs. Mary Oleska, his sister-in-law, sustained cuts about the hands and face when she broke through a window to escape the fire.

Mrs. Killen and her infant were carried from the house by George Opsatnik, West Aliquippa fireman.

RICHER and CREAMIER

Folks once traveled miles for it — now you can get it anywhere

. . . . this richer, creamier mayonnaise called Ivanhoe. Once it was the treasured possession of a mother and her own family. But good things can't be be kept secret. And the fame of her home-made mayonnaise spread. Her friends asked her to make it for them . . . in such increasing numbers that a great business was the outcome of her home specialty!

Today, although Ivanhoe's fame is nation-wide, the same home recipe is used. Choice eggs with the finest oil and spices are still employed. Yet it costs no more than ordinary mayonnaise. Once it's tasted Ivanhoe is the constant choice of any family.

Buy it almost anywhere in quarts, pints, half-pints, or in 3¼ oz. jars if you are a "kitchenette family."

"SALAD LEAVES" is a unique booklet of salad recipes and balanced menus. Write for your free copy to Harriet Meeker Osborne, Ivanhoe Kitchen, Auburn, N. Y.

FILIPINOS FIGHT EXCLUSION

WASHINGTON, April 10 (INS.)—A Pacific question which threatens to throw Congress into turmoil was raised today when the House Immigration Committee opened hearings on a bill to ban Filipinos by extending the Japanese and Chinese exclusion law.

A direct outgrowth of the recent riots in California, the bill is sponsored by Rep. Welch (Rep.), of California, and backed by strong Pacific coast organizations.

The position of the islands' Philippine Commissioner Osias declared is that exclusion is logically wrong as long as the American flag floats over the islands.

The island people, he said, want independence and are willing to accept any immigration laws that may be passed after that is achieved.

DOG ATTACKS POLICEMAN

Patrolman John Dolan, 34, of 200 Elizabeth street, today is in the South Side Hospital suffering lacerations of the right leg inflicted by a large police dog who attacked the officer last night. The dog and its owner, Samuel Lackendinko, 55, of 2617 Carey way, were lodged in the South Side police station.

The dog attacked the officer when Dolan went to Lackendinko's home to arrest Lackendinko and John L. Perich, 30, of 2512 Carson street, who were said to have been fighting. Lackendinko is reported to have set the dog on the officer. Dolan drew his revolver to shoot the dog but refrained when he noticed a crowd of children nearby and who might be endangered if he fired.

THAW FIGHTING GIRL AWARD

NEW YORK, April 10 (INS.)—Counsel for Harry Thaw and Marcia Estardus yesterday waged a wordy battle over the question whether the $25,000 judgment won by Miss Estardus night club hostess, against Thaw for the alleged beating he gave her on New Year's Day should stand.

Thaw says he has new evidence which will disprove the contentions of Miss Estardus in her $100,000 damage trial last fall. The jury voted her $75,000 but Justice Aaron J. Levy cut the sum to $25,000. Thaw's attorneys appeared before Justice Levy in Supreme Court to have the entire verdict set aside.

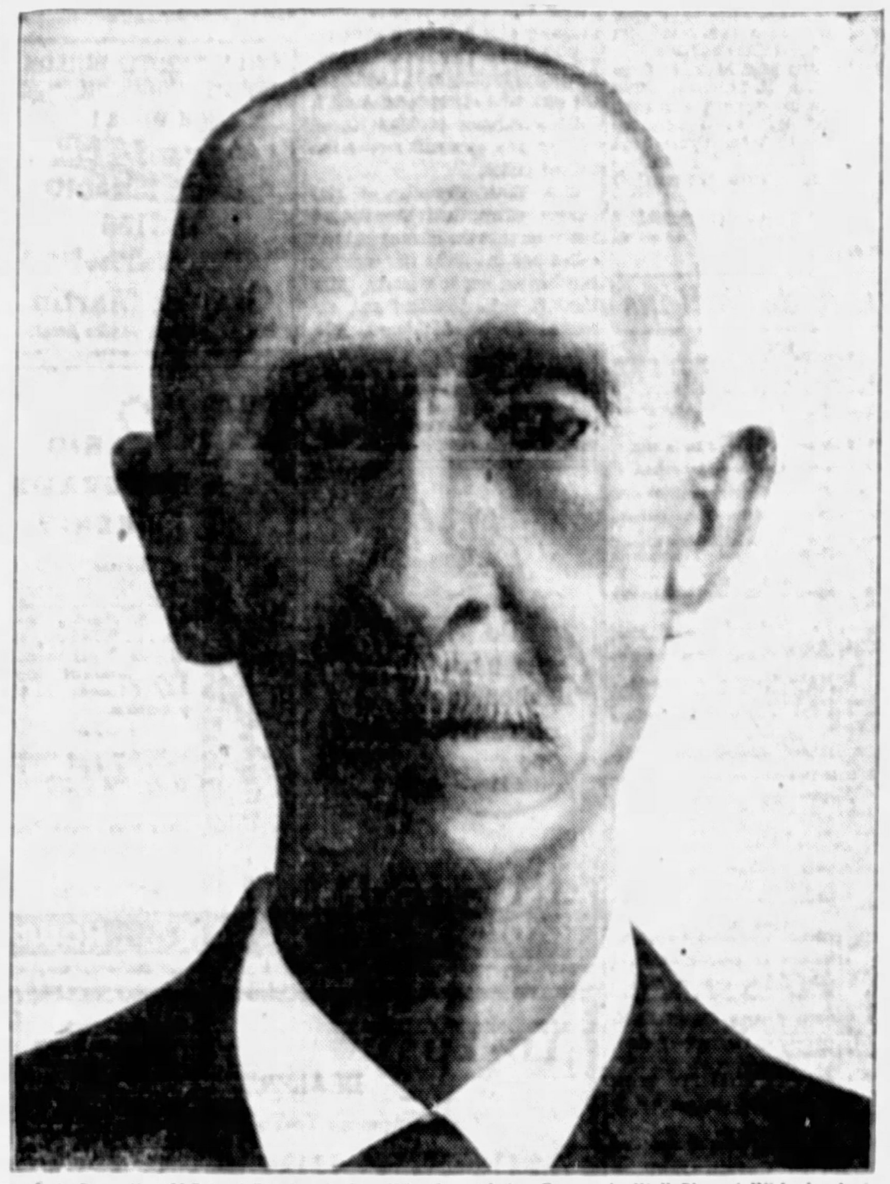
Good Old Experienced Pittsburgh Physician Lauds Remarkable Flaxolyn


Dr. J. A. Donnelly (M.D.) of Pittsburgh, Pa., Who Says "I Am Extremely Well Pleased With the Action of Flaxolyn Upon the Stomach, Liver and Bowels."
Wants Every Person Here to Know How Certain Toxic Poisons and Acids Are Robbing Thousands Of the Full Energy and Strength Rightfully Theirs
In an interview with Dr. J. A. Donnelly, of Pittsburgh, Dr. Donnelly pointed out the important place Flaxolyn has found in the lives of the people of this country. He declared that through Flaxolyn's wonderful natural powers of removing the toxic poisons from the intestines, life has taken on a new golden hue for thousands of Flaxolyn users.
Dr. Donnelly says: "I am convinced that a vast number of ailing men and women will find a new zest in living, from the use of Flaxolyn. The more common weaknesses and sicknesses can usually be traced to trouble of elimination—and Dr. Lunts is to be congratulated on the discovery of such a genuinely beneficial group of herbal ingredients to stimulate hearty appetite, bring peaceful slumber, purify the nerve-wracked body and encourage healthy excretions of bodily wastes from the bowels and kidneys—all without drastic drugs.
"The action is natural," says Dr. Donnelly—"the result is a body freed of the hall-and-chain of poisons. Flaxolyn is truly the launching of Good Vigorous Health. Ours will be a healthier world to live in when more people learn the Flaxolyn secret."
No stronger endorsement could be given a medicine than Dr. Donnelly's statements. Coming from a man of his experience, it should convince the most skeptical sufferers of the wholesome health properties of Flaxolyn.
Woman Doctor Urges All Womankind to Use Flaxolyn

Dr. Katherine M. Griswold, of Cleveland, Ohio.
Dr. Katherine Griswold, of Cleveland, Ohio, has a very large following among members of her sex who look to her for valuable health advice.
Dr. Griswold has helped many a woman improve her health and appearance and win greater attractiveness by recommending the Flaxolyn discovery of Dr. Harris H. Lunts.
Not only this—Dr. Griswold herself has used Flaxolyn with excellent results and says: "Flaxolyn is natural in its action. I am thoroughly convinced it is all and more than claimed for it. I most heartily recommend the use of Flaxolyn to all my patients.
"In my case, Flaxolyn drove out the impurities and toned up my internal organs to such an extent that I felt wonderfully invigorated, carefree and buoyant."
Brighten Up Those Dull Lusterless Eyes
It is surprising how few people realize why it is that the eyes so often lack natural luster. Any doctor can tell you how constipation robs the eyes of their healthy sparkle. Hundreds of doctors here and abroad can advise you to take Flaxolyn as a means of bringing back that ruddy glow of health; that natural keenness of eye, that wholesome complexion which no cosmetics can duplicate.

GERMANS LOSE PLEA ON BONDS

WASHINGTON, April 10. —(AP.)—An order handed down by Justice Wheat in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, dismissing a petition filed by Adolph Pilger and a group of German citizens, was declared at the office of Howard Sutherland, alien property custodian, to clear the government's title to about $17,000,000 in German-owned securities of American industrial, railroad and financial enterprises.

The object of the government is to continue the process of making a substantially complete return of the property to the German owners, but the proceeding brought by Pilger would have held up the distribution to await a court adjudication.

Unless Pilger and others associated appeal the decision of Justice Wheat to higher courts, Custodian Sutherland will assume that the approximately $17,000,000 of securities involved in the litigation are opened to distribution after the fashion set in the other German property seized during the war. The custodian is now returning 80 per cent of German property to owners who prove claims, retaining the balance of 20 per cent to be adjusted after the settlement of American claims against Germany.

At Last!—Hands, Too, Like Ivory

Satin for Women Who Do Heavy Housework

Women Who Did Heavy Housework Asked For Caressing White Hands, Too

AN UTTERLY NEW WAY IN CLEANING

WOMEN who do heavy housework, women who do ALL of their own work; who scrub and rub, wash and scour hours of every day; asked, too, for pretty hands. And found them!—hands like their sisters' who did only "wash basin laundering" or occasional dishwashing.

At night—the hands of a Duchess; caressing hands, lovely, soft and alluring. Hands that from all appearances never did a single useful thing in all their previous days; yet hands fresh from heavy suds and cleaning work! You can have them if you wish.

What To Do

Use any kind of soap—even ordinary laundry or household soap.

BUT—to the water add one tablespoonful of Climalene. That is all.

That instantly takes the harshness out of harsh water—makes it soft and gentle as rain-water.

10¢ packages (12 OZ.) 32 oz. Pkg. 25¢

CLIMALENE

Then, you use just ONE-FOURTH or LESS the amount of soap you now use. And thus do your work, NOT with skin eating, harsh suds, but with the MILDEST of all cleansers.

You do your work in ONE-HALF the time—dishes, floors, laundry work. For it DISSOLVES grease, dirt and grime instantly. And thus saves bruising skin-fabric with rubbing and scrubbing. Saves fine fabrics, too, from soap-fade and ruin.

When you take your hands out, they are beautifully white—soft as a child's. For this preparation contains incomparable beautifying agents for the skin.

Believe it or not; but try it. What happens will amaze you. Hundreds of women will tell you so.

Remember—Climalene is what you ask for. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages.

EVERY WHERE I WENT IT WAS THE SAME STORY

"Don't need anyone right now, but leave your name and address and when we need a man we'll send for you." (In a letter to the Sun-Telegraph, Mr. M. K. A., Fifth St., Beaver, Pa., continued:) "Tired, hungry, disgusted, with my stomach nearly as empty as my pockets, I decided to spend half of my last dollar on an ad. Others had had results—perhaps I would be lucky like some of the ones I had read about. So I went to the Sun-Telegraph Office and inserted an ad. I went home and told my wife what I had done. She thought maybe someone in need of a good 'all 'round' man might see the ad and answer it. In due course of time I went back to the Sun-Telegraph office and, to my surprise, was handed two answers to my ad. I went to see the sender of one of the answers and got the job, which led to a better one with more pay later on. I gave the other answer to a pal and he, too, got a job which helped his wife and 'kids' through the hard times. So, naturally, I'm for the Sun-Telegraph.

FEARED DANCER, AMSTER PLEA

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP.)—Edward M. Hamlin, Boston stock broker, who described to the jury how Nathan L. Amster, financier, quailed before threats of Olga Edwards, dancer, faced cross-examination today in Miss Edwards' trial for extorting money from Amster.

He was called by the prosecution to tell how Amster had appealed to him for aid when Miss Edwards threatened to tell his wife he was the father of her 6-year-old son.

Hamlin said he was present when Amster signed an agreement establishing a $100,000 trust fund for Miss Edwards' son. He said Amster hesitated because he feared it inferred he was father of the child, but signed when Hamlin said:

"If you're going to allow this woman to blackmail you, I see no reason why you shouldn't sign this and end it all."

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP.)—A bronze statue of Samuel Rea, late president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, yesterday was unveiled in the Pennsylvania Terminal in the presence of officials of the road.

"Samuel Rea, Vice President, 1899-1912; President, 1913-25, under whose able supervision this station and the extensions of the Pennsylvania Railroad into New York and New England were designed and constructed."

The presentation of the statue, on behalf of a special committee of the board of directors that gave it, was made by Effingham B. Norris, senior director of the company.

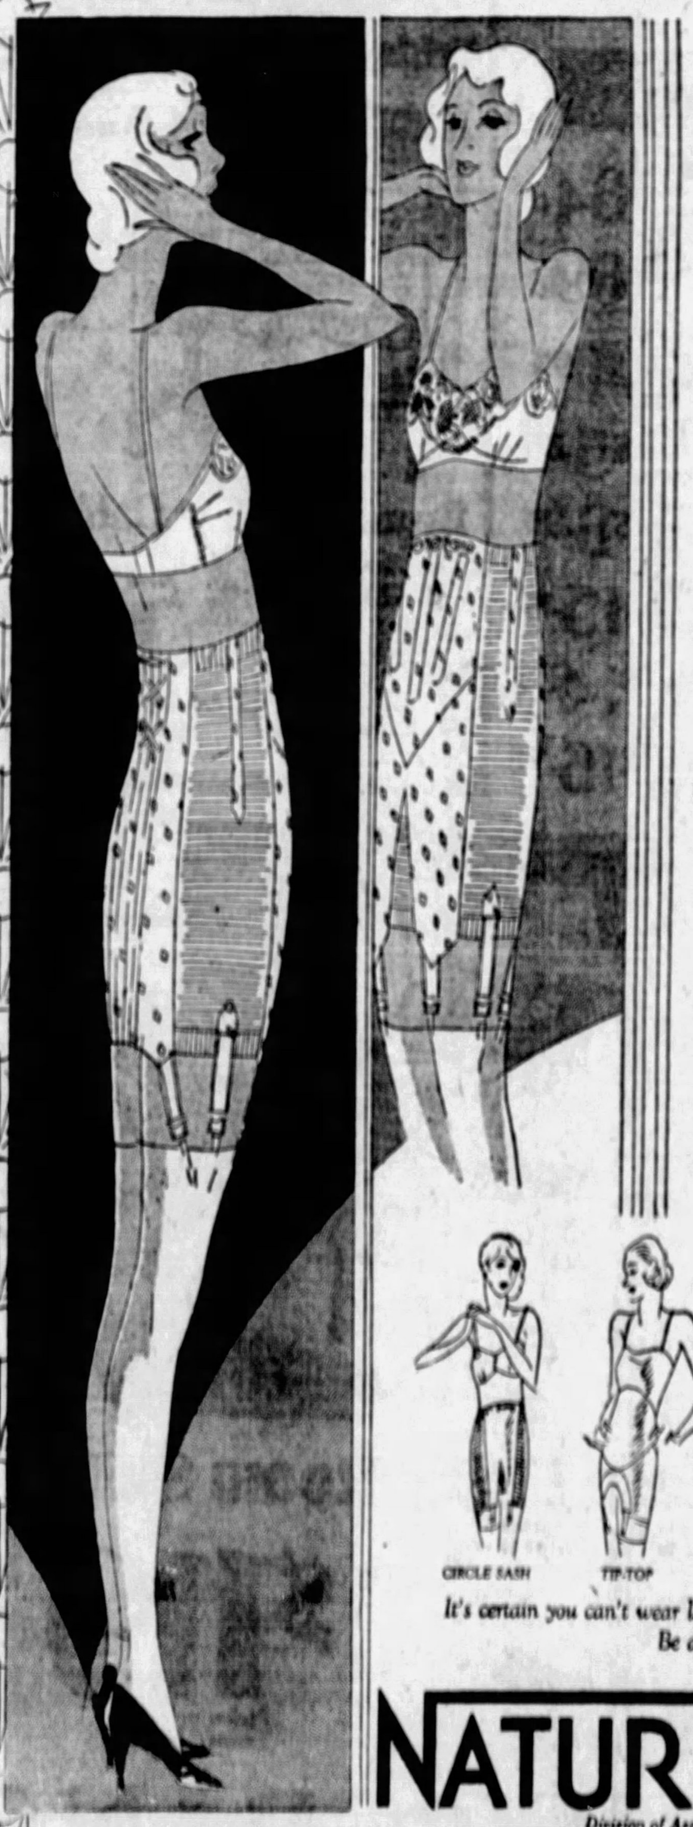
TO THE NEW FASHIONS
A SMART FOUNDATION



If the figure Nature gave you isn't perfectly proportioned to the 1930 vogue in costumes, it is up to you to discover the way to make it so. A foundation is your best solution. And the right foundation one of the lovely, supple, body-moulding garments presented by Nature's Rival.

Whether lines need accenting or modifying, the new Nature's Rival models accomplish their task effectively. Indeed they are so varied in style—and so adjustable—that by her choice a woman can practically sculpture her figure to the lines she wants.

Step-in Girdles, Girdle-Brassieres, Circle Sashes, Garter Belts and Bandeaux are included in the Spring collection. Some confine definitely with stays and elastic. Others mould merely by means of material cleverly cut and shaped.

If you would follow the Parisian formula for smartness with waistline slim and nipped in, hipline long, sleek and firmly moulded, and bustline correctly upcurved, seek out one of the stores in your town that carries these Nature's Rivals.

NEW RAIL RATE PERIL SHOWN

Representatives of leading Pittsburgh district industrial firms at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce were warned of the possibility of Pennsylvania losing important manufactures and millions of dollars worth of tax revenues paid by them yearly if the Interstate Commerce Commission carries out its proposal to increase rates on iron and steel shipments in the Pittsburgh district.

They were urged to push their fight against the new rate which is scheduled to become effective May 20.

Donald O. Moore, traffic manager of the Chamber, said the new rates would increase the industrial freight bill here $2,000,000 yearly, and added that it would effect, even, the pocketbook of the average citizen. Seriousness of Chicago competition was shown by Moore, who read from a Western newspaper an account to the effect that Chicago's steel production is now on a par with that of Pittsburgh, having exceeded that of English and the Ruhr's steel plants.

With Pittsburghers forced to compete under the burden of added freight rates, Chicago eventually will drive Pittsburgh from the steel markets, he declared.

AUTO LICENSES SHOW SLUMP

HARRISBURG, April 10.—Registration of passenger automobiles in Pennsylvania during March fell off 10.8 per cent below March, 1929.

The monthly report of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles showed only 61,391 motor cars were licensed last month as compared with the March, 1929, registration of 68,778, a drop of 7,387. The aggregate for the first three months of the year, however, of 1,278,449 was still 68,863 or 5.7 per cent above the registration for the corresponding period of last year.

Decreases for March were also recorded for registration of taxicabs, motorcycles and motor vehicles dealers. Issuance of learners' permits to operators dropped nearly five per cent.

TRUCK DRIVES DELAY POSTOFFICE

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM DFARR

A FORMER telephone operator became nothing less than loquacious in our hearing the other day, so that we now have what might be called "The Inside Story of What Goes On at the Switchboard." Everything she said interested us—that, for example, the numbers nine and five were responsible for the most wrong connections, that three and two, in the same telephone number, were next in guilt.

The operators are not allowed to chew gum, neither may they talk with each other. Everything they say to you is dictated to them during their training, such as the long-distance operator's favorite query, "With whom will you speak?" We prefer "With whom will you talk?" but we're too broad-minded to argue the point.

In the past the operators on long distance exhibited an air of superiority over the local operators, much as the sophomore high-hats the freshman. This feeling is disappearing because the local operators today handle more long distance calls than once they did. But that has not affected the attitude of the operators on private switchboards outside the telephone company who like to feel that they are very superior to both local and long distance, whether they are or not.

The penalty for listening in is dismissal. There was a day when the operator might eavesdrop a word or two, but today the supervisor is able to tell immediately, and there is very little, if any, of this going on. Operators liked to get together in the good old days and discuss what they had heard.

The supervisor is the woman who moves about the floor of the exchange checking, through her head-phone, on all calls. Long-distance operators, allowed so many minutes to put through each call, hear from her when they overstep the deadline.

There is more telephone traffic between Pittsburgh and Cleveland than between Pittsburgh and any other city. New York is the second city, Chicago the fifth. More calls come from and go to the William Penn Hotel than any other building in the city.

THE operators are urged to look ahead. The telephone company tells them they can become supervisors or, better still, instructors. The operators seem to prefer instruction posts because the tension is not great. Tension is what makes the long distance operator's work more than a light-hearted affair. In a limited number of minutes she is asked to locate, let us say, John Jones, who might be anywhere in New York, which is a pretty big city.

The long distance operators will go to lengths to get her man or woman. She will chase the call over the country. Recently a Pittsburgher called a person in New York. The operator was referred to Chicago. The Chicago operator suggested a nearby Illinois town. Eventually the operator learned that the person wanted had died 24 hours before.

Canada, for a reason our authority could not explain, is the most difficult territory for the operators. Connection with points in the wilder parts of Canada—hunting camps, small summer settlements—are not nearly so clear as connections with Paris. We blame Niagara Falls, even if we are wrong, simply because not enough things have been blamed on Niagara Falls.

We asked this operator why the telephone girl of today seemed to be a girl of greater intelligence than the operator of five years ago. She explained that the scarcity of jobs had sent girls of better training to the switchboard, but that is simply her explanation. She emphasized that some operators were college graduates.

The girls have fun discussing their uncles. It seems the telephone company insists on sending home in hired cars those operators who quit after midnight. They must ride these cars to their very doorstep, but there was a time when they were excused from the ride if they were met at the company's doors by either father or uncle. Brother will not do, for some reason or other. Consequently many operators suddenly discovered they liked to be escorted home by uncle.

Niel Is Jealous of Ardeth When Out With Her

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ardeth Carroll is being wooed by Neil Burke, who rooms with her Aunt Stella. Almost every night when she returns home from work she finds him waiting in the hall for her, and he often causes her to be late for dinner. Aunt Stella gets angered and scolds Ardeth for holding back the meals. Ardeth feels depressed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER II.

HER father had named her Ardeth.

As Aunt Stel succintly remarked, "He would!"

It was indicative of Jim Carroll's love of the strange and the beautiful, even in sounds.

Ardeth was amazingly like her father—which was perhaps Aunt Stel's chief reason for disliking her. You don't care to have a reminder of your secret and hopeless love underfoot day and night, though you deny that love, even to yourself.

Jim Carroll had worn that same look of gay courage. That almost rapt air of gazing at some brave sight hidden from others. Charm had played like a flame within him—an unconscious magnetism which had drawn hearts to him as a light draws moths.

The flame of him had drawn the pretty pale moth of Ardeth's mother. She had married this golden boy of hers—had borne him a golden child. And in her secret heart she had never ceased to marvel that Jim Carroll had ever wanted to marry her at all. It had lent her a dazed, slightly breathless air at times.

She never had understood the vivid joy of life in him. She was content merely to idolize him. A frail, slightly pathetic figure Thelma Carroll had been, swung violently through life by the blazing comet of her love. She lived only in the vivid flame of her man, and when the flame went out—Jim Carroll could not resist the hot excitement of war, though he had a wife and child dependent upon him—Thelma had quietly faded away from the earth.

Jealousy
Bet Scornful Just Like Mother Had Been

Ardeth had come to live with Aunt Stel at the death of her parents.

Aunt Stel had hidden her feelings well. No one had guessed the violent jealousy which swept her when handsome Jim Carroll had come courting her younger sister, Thelma. After Thelma's marriage Stel had married Ed Harrison, just to show Jim that she could.

Not even Ardeth guessed why her aunt was so severe with her. She supposed it was because of Bet.

To a certain extent, she was right. Betty Harrison, sandy-haired and pasty, seemed more uninteresting than ever by comparison with her cousin.

At 12, Ardeth could not be sent to the corner store without annexing at least one attentive male escort. But Neil Burke, by a sort of squatter's right through his residence in the flat below, quickly established his monopoly of the girl. It was then that Bet experienced the same jealous pangs her mother had known some years before.

Curled up on their mutual bed now, elaborately filing her nails, Bet registered large scorn of Ardeth before the mirror.

Sarcastic
Aunt Stel Disapproves of Ardeth's Clothing

"For the love of Pete quit primping!" she said sourly. "A person'd think you were going out with the Prince of Wales."

Ardeth laughed without malice. The discontent of the night before was gone. Such a simple thing as a Sunday outing could send the joy of life bubbling through her.

Ardeth loved Sundays. Loved the delicious sense of leisure they brought...to dress in one's own time...to put on one's best things—even that was an adventure.

She was going for a ride with Neil in his cut-down auto. But the sun was shining and she was wearing a sport dress which she had bought in a noon-hour sale the day before. At 20 that is excuse enough for being happy.

She turned before the glass now in innocent vanity. Ardeth loved being pretty...loved the feel of her silk stockings.

Those silk stockings! Aunt Stel's basilisk gaze fell on them now as she stood in the doorway, swathed in a frayed silk kimona whose painted irises had long withered to a discouraged greyness.

"New stockings again! Silk all the way up, I'll bet—though the Beehive basement had a sale on lisle tops last week! Why any decent girl has to have her stockings silk where they don't show, beats me!"

"It isn't just the looks, Aunt Stel," Ardeth explained, absently, her attention going to pulling on her hat without disarranging her hair. "It's the feel. It's just to know that they're all silk."

"Well, be sure you don't have a tumble with your fine ideas!" retorted Aunt Stel, darkly. "And those flimsy silk and lace things you wear underneath...going around half naked, the way no good girl would dream of going when I was young—"

Their heavy disapproval lay all about her like a wet cloud.

But balm to her young pride, the look Neil turned on her as she came down the front steps in response to the toot of the auto horn.

Slim and vivid and golden in the morning sunshine, she was. Creams and browns of the new sport suit playing up to the gold of her...Hazel eyes glowing under the brim of the new brown hat...

The young fellow's black eyes devoured her. He breathed, "Gee, you're sweet..." as she seated herself beside him.

Ardeth's heart leaped under gaze as it leaped when he put his arms about her, but there was a little uncomfortable edge on her thoughts at his fervor.

Neil Pleasant
Happy When He Says Nice Things

It was pleasant to have Neil say nice things...but when he grew so serious she was a little afraid of him.

Neil's whole family was queer...His father, Comus Burke, was a bitter, unsuccessful man who vented his disappointment of life by railing against everything. His quarrelsome disposition had won him a reputation as a trouble maker. Work was becoming increasingly hard for him to obtain—that added to grievance and his railing; thus the circle rounded on itself.

Neil's mother was dead. His grandmother kept the house. A mystic old Irishwoman, half living in a fanciful world of her own.

The boy's fiery nature had been warped by the constant association of these two. At 23 he was on the defense against the world. Romantically good looking he fluttered feminine hearts in the neighborhood, but in all the world there was only Ardeth Carroll for him.

Perhaps he already had some inkling that he might lose her, for he was passionately jealous. He swept the girl along on the surge of his own emotions, trying to snatch by force the love he was not patient enough to

TWO HILL RAIDS REVEAL STILLS

Raids on a stable in the Hill district and a dwelling in Lawrenceville netted prohibition agents two stills yesterday.

The owner of a 300-gallon outfit which, agents said, was found in a stable in the rear of 1610 Clark street, along with 1,000 gallons of mash, was being sought. The contraband was destroyed.

In a raid on a house at 4912 Hatfield street, the dry officers seized a 50-gallon still, a small quantity of moonshine and arrested Anna Gobolick, 37, and Sam Sineick, 53, they reported. Both were released on their own recognizance.

Illegal Parking On Increase Here

Illegal parking of automobiles in downtown streets has increased 14.8 per cent in the last two years, in spite of an increased demand for space, caused by 22.4 per cent more cars entering the district, according to a report by Traffic Engineer Burton W. Marsh for the Better Traffic Committee.

Regarding the proposed elimination of parking in the congested area he declared that business in the "Loop" district of Chicago has not been killed off, and that the attitude of leading merchants there favors streets unencumbered by parking, which was eliminated in 1928.

Prizes to Be Given Architect Winners

Winners in the first architectural exhibition, being held this week in the Chamber of Commerce, under auspices of the Chamber, will be awarded prizes by President James Rae at a luncheon in the Chamber next Wednesday. Judging will take place tomorrow, and winners announced the following day. Ten members of the honorary jury of award, headed by Taylor Allderdice, yesterday viewed the 400 exhibits and cast their ballots for the winners.

SACCO RIOTING CASES FAIL

Ten coal miners, arrested after State Trooper John J. Downey was killed in a riot at Armetonia August 22, 1927, were cleared of rioting charges today on motion of the district attorney. Judge H. H. Reward was informed the complainants had left the court's jurisdiction. The 10 were charged with rioting and resisting an officer.

Salvatore Accorsi was acquitted of Downey's murder several months ago.

Those against whom charges were dropped today are Dominic Mangini, Pete Mangini, Dominic Lorefice, Joe Bracco, Mike Maratowich, Tony DeBarnatti, Joe Lorrie, Frank Maskelumas, Mike Maratovich and Peter Moretti.

The riot resulted when the troopers attempted to disperse a meeting of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers.

The road at that particular point will be rerouted over a parcel of land owned by the city.

ERROR FOUND IN TRAFFIC PLANS

Blueprints Again Returned To Architects in Capital To Rectify Specifications

Pittsburgh's song of hope for its new postoffice, sung in long meter for more than 20 years, has relapsed into a drowsy largo while government architects once again will go over their blueprints in an effort to place a few motor truck entrances in the building plans.

Plans submitted here within the last two weeks showed that no provision had been made to comply with traffic regulations on abutting streets or to furnish means for the coming and going of the great number of vehicles used in the collection and distribution of mail matter in bulk.

LONG DELAY SEEN

Traffic Bureau officials made suggestions with a sweeping hand, and back to Washington went the blueprints. It is declared that this latest snag in the plans means another delay of six months or more before the specifications will be completed.

Discovery of the omission of proper motor truck entrances to facilitate traffic movement came after the arrangements of the postoffice sections on the first floor of the building were regarded as finished. This phase of the matter was handled by a special committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce more than a year ago, and it was believed by members of the committee that suggestions made at that time had been acted upon.

WOULD CUT DEFICIT

The latest cause of delay in the postoffice came to light today when the Chamber of Commerce announced its action in support of the bill in Congress "to provide for the classification of extraordinary expenditures contributing to the deficiency of the postal revenues."

By charging certain postal items, such as exempt publications, franked mail, ship subsidies, etc., to public service accounts, it is contended that half of the $87,000,000 deficit in the Postoffice Department would be eliminated from that branch of the government.

Gideons to Convene Late This Month

Business sessions will be under the direction of W. B. Cummings, of Abington, Pa., state president.

Married Teachers Retain Jobs in Chalfant

Married women teachers will continue to hold jobs in the Chalfant Borough Public School next fall in spite of an attempt of a group of citizens to have them ousted. A petition presented members of the Board of Education asking local single girls be named instead of the three married teachers was ignored at a meeting held last night.

After a series of lively tilts between school directors and several of the 75 citizens present, the board renewed contracts of Mrs. Lulu Lloyd, Mrs. Annabelle Cotton and Mrs. A. Goodman. The directors also gave Mrs. Lloyd an increase of salary, boosting her wages from $115 to $125, but at the same time reduced the income of Mrs. Cotton from $140 to $130 a month.

Two unmarried women applied for positions as teachers, Miss Pauline Sokolowski and Miss Violet Valecavich. The board hurled a bombshell when it voted not to renew the contract of Miss Mary Sokolowski, a teacher in the school six years, and named her sister, Pauline, in her place. The father of the Sokolowski girls had been active in circulating the petition, it was disclosed.

President Peter Gonella, Secretary Joseph Forman and Director Richard Schultz voted not to renew Mary Sokolowski's contract. Directors Louis Simek and Francis Mileski voted against the move.

The school employs six teachers.

West View Pupils To Give Operetta

Downtown Blast Does No Damage

Firemen were called out early today when an explosion occurred in a manhole in Third avenue at Wood street. The heavy lid was hurled high into the air. No one was injured. Workmen who searched for the cause of the blast said it probably was due to accumulated gas.

Protest Giving Airport To Private Concern

The Aero Club of Pittsburgh has sent to Mayor Charles H. Kline, City Council and the County Commissioners copies of a resolution protesting against the suggestion that management of the new Pittsburgh airport be placed in the hands of a private corporation.

The Aero Club contends that the municipal airport should be managed by a citizens' commission, similar to the present City-County Air Board, through an airport manager, and that all profits should go to the city and county.

A meeting with the city and county authorities, to discuss the subject, is requested.

YO YO COMPLEX SPREADS TO ALL AGES

Popular Hawaiian Toys To Be Given Children At 8 Theaters Tomorrow

If you happen to come to dinner and find that your wife has burned it—blame it on the Yo Yo! If your stenographer fails to type those important letters—blame it on the Yo Yo! If your kiddies are late getting home from school—blame it on the Yo Yo!

This newest craze which has just been brought to Pittsburgh by the Sun-Telegraph and Warner Brothers Theaters, is gaining in popularity by leaps and bounds, day by day.

Everybody's Yo Yoing!

You see them playing with the little wooden disc on a string in every office, on all street corners, and even in the street cars. People walk along the street, extremely preoccupied, bobbing a Yo Yo up and down.

And so great has the fad become that already we have several "Yo Yoiacs"—people who continually practice until now they move the middle finger of their right hand automatically.

CAUSE FAMILY CLAMOR

One man went into a downtown store yesterday and demanded a big package of Yo Yos immediately. He had, in his innocence, taken home a single one of the Hawaiian novelties the night before, for his six kiddies to play with. So great was the ensuing clamor and commotion that he immediately rushed out to purchase each of them two of the tricky toys.

And hey, kiddies! Tomorrow's the day on which you get your Yo Yo absolutely free.

All children attending, as patrons, any of the first Yo Yo parties at Warner Brothers Regent, Liberty, Belmar, Arsenal, Rowland, Schenley, Manor or Plaza, between 4 and 6 o'clock, with one of the coupons clipped from this page, will be given a Yo Yo absolutely free.

OTHER FREE STATIONS

Saturday at the Enright, between 1 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon, all children attending, as patrons, the East Liberty Enright, with one of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's coupons, will also be given one of the Hawaiian toys free.

C'mon kids! Get your free Yo Yo and be the first in your neighborhood to be able to make it do tricks. There's going to be a big city wide elimination tournament soon, and you know the old saying: "Practice makes perfect." If you want to win one of the many big prizes that will be offered, get your Yo Yo and practice!

NO SUCCESSOR FOR MARSH

No definite time has been set for appointment of the successor to Burton W. Marsh, city traffic engineer, whose resignation becomes effective May 1, it was learned today.

Marsh tendered his resignation to Council several weeks ago, to accept a position as traffic engineer of Philadelphia at a much larger salary. Several applications of men to succeed Marsh have been placed on file, but it is not likely that action will be taken until Mayor Kline returns from the south. Names of applicants were not divulged, although it was intimated one of Marsh's assistants was being considered for the job.

Coming here nearly five years ago, Marsh took charge of the Bureau of Traffic Planning and was largely instrumental in securing installation of the present traffic light system. Before coming to Pittsburgh he served as traffic consultant in Dayton, New Haven, New York, Worcester, Mass., and a number of other cities. He was the first traffic engineer in the United States.

CITY CLOSES GAMMA WAY

Gamma way, located in the Regent Square district, will be closed until Council can frame an ordinance providing for its repaving, it was decided yesterday when a delegation of residents described its alleged condition. The thoroughfare is 700 feet long.

At the same time an ordinance was also asked for the paving and improving of Henrietta street, in the same district. The work would be done in two sections, one from LaClaire street to the east line of Milton street, would cost $15,000, and the other, from Milton street to the city line, would cost $16,000.

D. M. Hackett, of 907 LaClaire street, spokesman for the delegation, told Council that drainage on Gamma way was so bad that water poured into homes and cellars. In bad weather, he said, the street is impassable for automobiles. A fire menace existed, he related, because fire engines are unable to get through the mire.

SPROUL FACES CHECK CHARGE

F. J. Vogel, of 301 Colton street, today was expected to appear before the grand jury to offer testimony against John W. Sproul, evangelist, who, Vogel claims, gave him worthless checks in return for a part of a $5,000 loan he had made to Sproul. Vogel, who has been bedfast for nearly three years, will be taken into the court room in a wheel chair.

Vogel is a former railroad conductor and three years ago suffered a broken back in an accident. His son, Fred J. Vogel, Jr., 18, will assist him into the court room. Vogel charges he made the loan to Sproul a year ago so the evangelist could build a "glory barn" in Parnassus.

Yesterday Sproul was notified that his radio broadcasting station, WMBJ, located on Frankstown road, Penn Township, had been listed for sheriff's sale at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. The sale is to satisfy a lien of $7,943.75, the sum Kenneth R. Cunningham, former attorney for Sproul, alleges that Sproul owes him for professional services.

MANY PLANTS EQUIPPED FOR SIDELINES

Chamber Analysis Reveals Factories Set to Make Hundreds of Products

An anlysis of Pittsburgh industrial plants, begun several months ago by the Industrial Expansion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, of which F. R. Phillips is chairman, shows that 240 manufacturers here are equipped to make several hundred products along with their regular output, A. S. Keller, manager of the industries division said today.

Expansion of plant facilities and utilization of equipment for the manufacture of additional commodities, according to the analysis, points out that growth of industry has been stimulated by this diversification of manufacturing, and the effect of the continuity of production is reflected throughout the community.

The fact that the manufacturers can produce commodities other than their regular output should not be confused with their capacity in time of a national emergency, Mr. Keller said. The analysis deals only with what the plants can do at the present time with their equipment.

The Camera Question Box

Today's question: What do you think of church approval of birth control by New York Methodists?

SIDNEY A. TELLER, Irene Kaufmann Settlement, executive: "I think it's a very big step forward for the Methodists to go on record advocating that information about birth control should be available. I hope that similar groups will work in Pennsylvania to have the existing laws repealed, to have birth control information available through licensed physicians."

Sidney A. Teller

EDITH DEMING, Knoxville, business student: "I'm in favor of birth control and I think the church should be in favor of anything which will tend to make the world better. I think the Methodists have helped in the progress of the world by this move."

Miss Deming

MARGARET ZIMMERMAN, Oakmont, teacher: "Well, I can't quite understand a church advocating birth control. That sounds like work for some "anti"-society. It seems like it's so much against any other teaching in the Bible that it sounds funny for the church."

Miss Zimmerman

BILL JOHNSTONE, Ben Avon, law student: "I think birth control is all right in certain cases. I think it's a good move on the part of the Methodists. It shows they're awake to our needs."

Bill Johnstone

J. G. GRAHAM, Duff's-Iron City College, teacher: "I think it would be all right if done here. I think the Methodists did a good thing when they made the move. It shows that they are broad-minded and progress with the times."

MAXWELL E. LIZZA, Pitt Law school student: "I believe it's a fine thing. Church support is one of the best means of taking this fine thing to the people. The time is fast approaching when birth control will be an urgent need."

4-TIME VICTIM OF ROBBERS FIGHTS PAIR

Pal of Slain Thief Flees as East End Man Defies Order to 'Stick 'em Up'

Harry Bluestone, East End druggist, shot and killed an unidentified robber in a gun battle in his store, the Shady Avenue Pharmacy, at 527 Shady avenue, last midnight. Another robber, believed to have been wounded, escaped. Bluestone was ordered to make a formal statement of the affair to detectives today.

The only clue that might lead to the identification of the robber, a youth aged about 21 years, is a new cap he was wearing. It had been purchased at a Frankstown avenue store. Bluestone has been a victim of robbers four times. Two years ago he was wounded by a bandit with whom he attempted to "shoot it out."

TELLS OF GUN FIGHT

He tells his story of last night's fatal shooting:

"God knows I didn't want to kill him—he was just a kid. But he was determined to get me and it was my life or his.

"The two men came into the store just as I was getting ready to close. I had just finished waiting on a customer—W. Bradford Lorenz, of 514 Shady avenue.

"Mr. Lorenz was at the soda counter. As the two men entered I moved down behind the counter to the candy case at the front of the store and the foremost pulled a gun on me about 10 feet away and yelled:

" 'Stick 'em up you —— or I'll kill you.'

"I pulled my gun out of my pocket where I have carried it ever since the last holdup six weeks ago, but before I could raise it the man fired at my head. The bullet hit a box of candy directly over my head and I ffred.

SECOND MAN FLEES

"I hit him the first shot, for he staggered back, but he kept on firing at me. His second shot hit the show case over my head and the third shot went into the ceiling.

"I kept firing as long as he did, pulling the trigger as fast as I could. I fired five shots. I think one of them hit the second man who backed to the door and sort of sank on one knee.

" 'Don't shoot — don't shoot. I'll give up,' he yelled."

"I couldn't shoot any more anyway. My gun was empty.

"I ducked around the corner and dived at the fallen man's gun before his companion could reach it, but the second man had other plans. He ran from the store. I followed as quickly as I could but he was out of sight by the time I reached the sidewalk."

ANXIOUS MINUTES

"Mr. Lorenz dropped behind the stools at the soda fountain when the shooting started, but when I came back into the store, he had started to telephone for the police.

"It was an anxious few minutes with that fellow pumping lead at me, determined to kill me, but I couldn't be scared. It was different the first time and I know how it feels to be close to death.

"That other time, you know, the bullet hit me in the chest just above the heart, but it didn't go in very far because of the heavy wad of papers I had in my inside coat pocket."

Today attaches at the Western Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza were to view the body to determine whether the robber had ever been a Morganza inmate, and city detectives were to take his fingerprints for comparison with their records.

OHIO BOYS SEE SIGHTS HERE

Fifty high school boys from Knox County, Ohio—farmers' sons for the most part—yesterday concluded a two-day study of the livestock business here. They spent the morning inspecting the plant of the Pittsburgh Provision and Packing Company and devoted the afternoon to Carnegie Museum, the Liberty Tubes and other sights.

The boys, students in vocational agricultural courses, drove 195 miles to the Pittsburgh livestock market on Herrs Island and spent the day in a study of terminal marketing. The trip was taken as part of their course in co-operating marketing, as advocated by the Federal Farm Board.

ST. HEARING POSTPONED

The hearing on the proposed vacating of Shingiss street, from Locust street to Bluff street, heard yesterday by Council, was ordered postponed until next week until further data can be secured. At a meeting Tuesday a councilmanic committee affirmed an ordinance providing for vacation.

Norman Brown, director of the county department of public works, assured council the vacation would in no way interfere with the new crosstown thoroughfare.

Previously the City Planning Commission objected to the action, because, it was stated in its report, all plans so far prepared for the crosstown thoroughfare include a major part of the property on which Shingiss street is now located.

Plans showing the connection between the Boulevard of the Allies and the street, according to the city planners, use the remainder of the street.

CLUB PROTESTS HALL DELAY

The County Commissioners were called upon today by the Co-Operative Club of Pittsburgh either to select a site or to make a public explanation why they cannot proceed with the Town Hall project.

In a resolution the club declared that the Town Hall proposition has been before the people of Allegheny County for practically a decade and under official discussion for more than two years.

"The people who authorized the construction of the Town Hall are becoming disappointed with the attitude of the County Commissioners in delaying the selection of a site without any explanation of such delay," the resolution stated.

Copies of the resolution, adopted at a meeting of the club on Tuesday, have been forwarded to the commissioners.

Trafford Trolley Lost Again on Verona Line

For the second time within four months a new operator of a Trafford City street car got lost in Wilkinsburg and instead of arriving in East Pittsburgh, as he had expected this morning, he arrived at Dream City Park stop on the Verona car line in Penn Township.

The operator started from the Rankin barns and was to go to East Pittsburgh to operate as a tripper from East Pittsburgh to Trafford. It was not until he arrived at Dream City Park stop that he discovered his mistake.

An inspector aided the new operator in backing his car into Wilkinsburg on the right line.

$270,000 PAID ON WELFARE

A total of $270,000 has been allotted to members of the Welfare Fund during the first three months of this year, it was announced by officers of the fund. There are 31 welfare organizations affiliated with the fund.

Residents of the county continue to pay their pledges to the fund and to date, 74.7 per cent of the total pledged amount has been paid, according to the March financial statement. This percentage is high compared with reports of similar funds in other cities. Of the 1929 subscriptions, 98.7 per cent has been paid. The average payments on last year's pledges in other cities of the country run about 95 per cent.

John F. Wattman, general chairman of the five schools, will preside, and C. J. Cullen, of the State Department of Labor and Industry, will be the banquet chairman.

MORALS COURT RULES FAVORED

Mayor Charles H. Kline's new regulations for Morals Court, making it no longer necessary to send all women defendants there, has received tentative approval from Mrs. Harry G. Samson, chairman of the women's department of the Council of Churches.

Mrs. Samson would not definitely commit herself because, she said, she had been taken by surprise and was unwilling to offer an unqualified opinion until she had had time to study the matter. But it seemed to her, she said, that in requiring only that women under 21, those who abused children and those charged with immorality be tried in Morals Court, Mayor Kline had taken a step that would help the court and help the social workers connected with it.

The court has been congested, she said, with cases that might just as well have been tried in other courts, and under the new arrangement social workers will be enabled to concentrate on the cases where they can be of greatest benefit.

Bellevue Church Elects Five Elders

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Many Pittsburgh Folks Lingering in South Informally Feted

ALTHOUGH the budding forsythia, the first tangible proof of northern spring in cities, is giving splashes of gold-green to many a hedge, some folks are waiting to return home until trick-playing April is through alternating her showers with snow flurries.

Those who are remaining in the resorts of the far South or those who have stopped on their way home at Pinehurst or Aiken or Hot Springs are enjoying leisurely informal entertainments news of which reach me from time to time.

Mrs. James Frazer Hillman who has been in Augusta Ga for some time entertained at a luncheon this week at Sun Glow There is always a colony of Pittsburgh folks in this stately old city.

In Aiken the J. Frederic Byerses and their family have a prominent place in sports and social events. They entertained recently with a dance in the Tea Cottage in Hitchcock Woods.

AND Pittsburgh folks might be interested to hear that the junior Thomas Hitchcocks and their children are remaining at Aiken where Mr. Hitchcock enjoys his favorite sport, polo.

Polo at Aiken

On Monday night the George L. Meakers of New York gave a farewell dinner in their home, La Fontaine, Palm Beach for the Ambassador to Poland and Mrs. John North Willys who left for New York yesterday. And among the guests was Mrs. Henry R. Rea.

The Lawrence Barrs are still in Pinehurst, where Mr. Barr is playing in the thirtieth annual north and south amateur golf tournament of the Pinehurst Country Club, which opened Monday.

SOCIETY will attend the premiere of "Manhattan Preferred," this year's Cap and Gown production, to be given in the Nixon Theater the week of April 28. As I've mentioned before, the Civic Club of Allegheny County is sponsoring the first night. I hardly need add that the Cap and Gown is the University of Pittsburgh's dramatic organization, like the Triangle of Princeton, and the Mask and Wig of the University of Pennsylvania.

Cherry Blossom Festival Given by Mt. Lebanon Fortnightly Review

ONE of the most beautiful and original affairs the Fortnightly Review of Mt. Lebanon has ever had was the annual luncheon which was given today in Mrs. James S. Huey's Vernon drive home with all the gorgeousness of a cherry blossome festival. The hostess and her committee were arrayed in Japanese costume and Mrs. Huey's attractive home was gay with lanterns, unusual ones from the Pacific coast, and many blossoms. Cherry blossoms, both real and artificial, were predominant, but there were other flowers as well. The lanterns shaded all the lights and one was hung in each window.

Each small table was centered with a tiny Japanese garden of plants and figures, the place cards were geisha girls carrying real parasols and the favors were pretty little bowls. Colorful Japanese mats under the water goblets added another decorative note.

The Japanese idea was carried through the program, too. Miss Mabel King sang a cycle of Japanese songs with Mrs. Sylvia Hibbs MacBeth at the piano and Mrs. A. M. Vance, who lived in Japan for eight years, talked informally and most entertainingly of the cherry blossom festivals and of Japanese home life. Completing the enjoyable hour, Mrs. Lucille Miller Werner sang an aria from "Madam Butterfly," standing on the stairway and singing unaccompanied.

ELSIE BREESE MITCHELL, soprano, accompanied by Grace Blenko Maxlin, will illustrate with period songs the "History of Dress" to be given tomorrow at the Crafton Woman's Club meeting. A SOMEWHAT unusual program was given this afternoon at the Uxority Club meeting in the Congress clubhouse. The choral members, under the direction of Mrs. S. J. Hughes, gave a sketch entitled "Friday Afternoon in District School No. 9," each woman dressing to impersonate a school child. Into the sketch were incorporated the old-fashioned Friday afternoon recitations and songs.

The program, which followed luncheon, also included string quartet numbers by Mrs. Donald Kennedy and Mrs. Ben G. Graham, violins; Dr. Coit R. Hoechst, cello, and Elmer Stephen, piano; several violin duets and solos by Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Kennedy, with Mrs. Herman Ziel accompanying, soprano solos by Mrs. W. M. Garrigus, accompanied by Mrs. Martha Meyers Murdoch and a group of piano duets by Mrs. Ziel and Mrs. S. J. Hughes. Mrs. Hughes also directed the choral's sketch.

BLACK AND WHITE IN THE SARTORIAL SPOTLIGHTS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, April 10.—That veteran team known as "black and white" continues to bask in the glare of sartorial spotlight, despite strenuous competition from the brown and green families, not to talk of the two b's, blue and beige. Not only is black and white at home, in restaurant, theater and ballroom, but it has also established itself in the world of sport, with successful results. Some use has also been made of black combined with pink, but even ance has move the combination place.

It should be remembered, however, that although the color scheme is so striking and becoming to all types, it must be blended with care, and grooming and accessories must be perfect. With due care, the result should be one of breath-taking perfection and charm. And black with touches of white is ever more alluring than white with touches of black. Lately we have seen some black silk and woolen suits with white blouses that looked the essence of freshness and chic. Of course, you have already experimented with the pleasant results achieved by black frocks with white lingerie trimming. Such frocks have had, and continue to have, a well-deserved success here.

THE delightful afternoon frock shown is a subscriber to the charms of black discreetly combined with white. It is a Philippe and Gaston model of black Amazon crepe, which is an new fabric, best described as a very silky and fine georgette. The spiral bandings on the bodice are black at one side, and white at the other, and looped in black hang in two loose ends. The sleeve is very full at the elbow and is gathered into a close lower sleeve. The piecing on the skirt just above the circular flounce, runs down to a narrow pane in front, the edges of which are bound in the same fabric.

THE other sketch is of an evening frock from Champcommunal. It is of white chiffon printed in a delicate design in pink. The zigzag line making the attachment of the frills on bodice and skirt is repeated in the same manner at the back. A soft draped effect at the waistline increases the alluringly feminine spirit of the model.

SLOT MACHINE TRIAL HALTED

SCRANTON, Pa., April 10.—(AP.)—Trial of former Mayor E. B. Jermyn and former Civil Service Commissioner Harry J. Friend, on charges of conspiracy growing out of the slot machine probe, was suddenly halted late yesterday when the commonwealth made preliminary moves for a mistrial.

The move was made after former Director of Public Safety James Arigoni and former Police Chief James Henshaw, who have entered pleas of no defense, testified for the commonwealth. Their testimony failed to strengthen the commonwealth's case to any extent.

After court ordered the courtroom cleared of all persons excepting the jurors, attorneys in the case and the defendants, Assistant District Attorney J. Julius Levy charged that two of the jurors, sitting in the case, made false statements to questions asked of them before they were accepted in service.

He said that M. J. Rafter, a private detective, who has been at the commonwealth's table since the trial opened, has evidence that Jurors J. B. Dougherty, this city, and Alfred Rundle, of Carbondale, made false statements when they said they had no "fixed opinion."

Judge George W. Maxey, after hearing the statement of the special prosecutor, said he would study the evidence of Rafter and announce his decision later.

ALONG NEWS TRAIL IN HOLLYWOOD AND LOCAL AMUSEMENT NOTES

Mason and Dixon Line Irks Colored Playgoers, Letter Reveals

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

FROM a highly intelligent colored woman of this city comes an interesting letter, prompted by the article on Paul Robeson in Berlin printed on this page a week ago. In that article the difficulties encountered by Negro artists and actors traveling in the United States were compared with the cosmopolitan attitude of Europeans, especially in Germany and France.

George Seibel

"What you said regarding the hotel accommodations for Negro actors is certainly true," writes this correspondent. "Just two weeks ago when 'Hot Chocolates' was playing here, the members of the company were scattered all over the town. I happen to know that five of them, at least, had no place whatever where they could depend upon staying. The Sunday night they arrived in town they had to call up one place after another before they could find a decent place to stay.

"In Chicago the only Negro member of the National High School Orchestra was denied the privilege of staying in the same hotel with the rest of the orchestra members.

"The Negro Gold Star Mothers are being denied the privilege of making the European trip with the white mothers."

EXPERIENCE IN DRESDEN

A letter from Lewis K. McMillan, who has been lecturing in Germany, is enclosed, and this paints a far different picture of his experiences in Dresden and other German cities.

He lectured in Dresden on "The New Negro in the United States" and a crowd of the city's dignitaries turned out. There were members of consulates, educational and business leaders, and at the close of the lecture a member of the Dresden Opera sang some southern songs.

At the conclusion of the meeting a Russian who had been in the former czar's government circle, told McMillan that his family were proud of having some Negro blood in their veins and that Russia's great poet had been part Negro.

The reference must have been to Alexander Pushkin, who had Negro ancestry like the author of "The Three Musketeers," Alexander Dumas.

Of course there are some amazing notions current over there about the American Negro. One man in Berlin asked McMillan whether it was true that Negroes in West Virginia have recently begun publishing a newspaper in the German language.

ANOTHER LOCAL ANGLE

Another local angle is presented by the Pittsburgh correspondent in a postcript. "I ought to add," she says, "that a group of us have decided not to see 'Strange Interlude' because there's not a decent place to eat during the intermission, the nearest first-class Negro restaurant being far up on Wylie avenue."

She closes with the hope "that the Mason and Dixon Line will be abolished everywhere, not only on the stage." That is a natural hope, justified by our boasts of democracy and Christianity, but it will be a long time before we have either.

Laws have been suggested as a remedy, but legislation to eradicate prejudices is as futile as legislation to eradicate appetite. After all it is no crime to draw the color line; only an inherited or acquired complex.

The most effective educational step that could be taken would be for some rounded people of means and business acumen to start a swell Negro restaurant somewhere downtown and permit white patronage without discrimination. Call it the Golden Rule Restaurant.

Joe Brown Skins His Face And Arthur Ceasar Takes to Polo

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 10.

JOE E. BROWN was called upon to take a nose dive in a scene for "Top Speed." Joe did. He skinned the skin off'n his face. And subsequently hied himself home to grow more. Which means all bets are off a day or two. At that, I reckon Joe is hurt more than the production's overhead.

BILLIE DOVE is a-dithered at the thought when she completes her current First National outloud. "The Devil's Playground." Shes actually going to have that anticipated holiday. Reason: "This film ends her sojourn with F. N."

Billie Dove

Billie reckoned for a while she'd traipse to Europe. Her mother is there. But her mother sails early next month for home, which means they'd cross somewhere on the Atlantic. So Europe is out. Mebbe it isn't. As to her celluloid plans, Billie is saying nothing for a month or two. One can guess. Others have. But when it's a free for all guessing is tiresome.

Billie's exciting news, at this paragraphing, is her dog, Lassie, is now a proud grandmother. And her—not Lassie's—number of canine pets has hit the seven total.

POPULAR DESERT TOWN

PALM SPRINGS is a popular week-end as well as longer vacation spot for weary flickerites. This lil' desert town is a 120-mile spin from Hollywood and a rather hot one at that. Through pancake country at the mercy of desert winds. Last week, Palm Springs fell a victim to the pre-summer heat spell and panted with the thermometer at 105.

Jeannette MacDonald

Nevertheless, a slew of folk survived and rested in the bargain, some of 'em being: The Ernest Lubitschs, Jeanette MacDonald, the Al Jolsons, and—gosh, I've forgotten the others.

PULL forth the hankies and prepare to weep. Arthur Ceasar has gone Hollywood. Verily, the lad who saith of Hollywood sportsmen: "From Poland to polo in two generations" has stumbled. The Ceasar has actually taken to polo himself. Worse. He is having a swimming pool built ter 'um. He has a Spitz dog. He goes for sport clothes. Gone is the valiant Broadway reformer of yesterday. Oh, Arthur, how could you!

LILA LEE vows she overheard a beauty parlor operator admit to another ditto that if she didn't stop spilling hair tonic on the carpet the janitor would have to exchange his broom for a lawnmower. Sounds slightly wavy, but . . .

STAGGERS TOO WELL

IT happened in "See Naples and Die." A sing-songy that Archie Mayo is directing with an all-star cast. Charlie King is requested to stagger into camera range, a tall glass clutched in his hand, hesitate, stop, and gaze soulfully at a girl occupied balcony. As he staggers into the scene, Irene Del Roy rushes after him with a reproachful: "Charlie, Charlie!" That ends that particular angle of the scene.

Charlie rehearsed. He staggered swell. Too swell. For Archie, dabbing at his moist brow (the barrage of lights was terrific) called goodnaturedly:

"Tone down the stagger, Charlie. That last one would be censored even in Italy!"

IN FEWER WORDS

TAKE them from Philip R. Davis: Women want to be coerced into doing the things they desire to do.

THINGS THAT BURN ME UP AND KNOCK ME COLD

THE esteemed Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, managing editor of the F. & W. Standard Dictionary, replies to the N. Y. Times about its editorial on "Whoopee." Dr. Vizetelly, who surely must know the difference between a verb and a noun, disagrees with the Times about the dictionary "straining a point to take the word back to 1622 under the guise of 'whoope!'" and says Harper's Magazine in 1884 introduced characters who "whooped it up."

For that matter, children have had the whooping cough for years, and if that has anything to do with the expression "making whoopee" then why not say that it is a derivation of the sissy's yell: "Whoops m'dear!"?

GANGSTER'S TAGS

A group in an all-night dive were discussing gangsters and their nicknames. Chicago firsample, offers the most terrifying ones such as "Scarface" Capone, "Big Torch" and "Little Torch," "Greasy Joe," "Schemer" Drussey, "Spot" Lahay (because he was as "big as a spot"), "Potatoes" Kaufman, "Rabbit" Cornell, "Billy, the Lover," "Machine Gun" McGurn, "Sleep Out" Louie, "The Billiken" (because he looked like one), "Cockeyed" Mulligan, "Cheeks" Ginsberg and "Highpockets" (high pockets because of the extremely high pockets on the prison denim).

But New York still tops them all for horrible badmen names. The most goose-pimply name to give you the shudders being "Gyp, the Blood."

HEHEHEH

Our Baltimore correspondent, Mr. Charles Brandt, revives the one about Mr. Goldberg who went to the janitor and growled:

"To you I'm taling somting. Unless you gif more heat I'm gung to have you fired!"

The janitor retorted:

"Go ahead, but I'm not going to quit until I've kissed every woman in the building, and I've necked them all but one!"

Mr. Goldberg hastened back to Mrs. Goldberg and repeated the janitor's flip crack.

RADIO FIRM HIT ON SPEAKERS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—(AP.)—Federal District Judge A. F. St. Sure enjoined the Grigsby-Grunow Company of Chicago from making or selling "dynamic" loud speakers for radio receiving sets.

The decision was declared to be a sweeping victory for the Magnavox Company, which held the Grigsby company infringed upon its patents.

The court's decree provides for an injunction against the Majestic company for making or selling any devices embodying the inventions disclosed in the Magnavox patents and also provides for an accounting of the profits realized by the Majestic company from the "unlawful use and sale" of the inventions owned by the Magnavox company.

The decision of Judge St. Sure sustained the contentions of the Magnavox company that Edward S. Pridham and Peter L. Jensen were the pioneer discoverers and joint inventors of what is known as the dynamic loud speaker.

The nominal defendant to the patent infringement suit was the Frederick H. Thompson Company, of San Francisco, a distributor of the Majestic loud speaker. The Grigsby-Grunow Company defended the action, however.

Last Surviving Men in Gray Recall '65

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 10.—(AP.)—James H. Sills and George Wilson, only surviving Confederate veterans in Morgantown, met here and observed the anniversary of the ending of the Civil War.

They recalled how, on April 9, 65 years ago, they stood by the side of General Robert E. Lee at Appomattox Court House as he surrendered to General Ulysses S. Grant, and heard Grant tell Lee to have his men take their horses home as they would need them for spring plowing.

Cambria Re-Elects Head of Schools

EBENSBURG, April 10.—Dr. M. S. Bentz, of Ebensburg, was re-elected Cambria County superintendent of schools for four years, with a salary increase of $2,500 per year.

Flames Destroy Home of Justice

BELLAIRE, O., April 10.—(AP.)—Belmont County authorities last night were checking up on a fire which burned the home of Magistrate John Powell at Pipe Creek and damaged several adjoining structures, including a store building. The damage was fixed at $20,000. Powell said he believed the fire of incendiary origin in retaliation for his prosecution of thieves.

Doctor's PRESCRIPTION when system is sluggish; costs nothing to try

When your bowels need help, the mildest thing that will do the work is always the sensible choice. Take a laxative that a family doctor has used for all sorts of cases of chronic constipation. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is so pleasant to the taste, so gentle in its action, it is given children of tender age and yet it is just as thorough and effective as stronger preparations. Pure senna, and harmless laxative herbs; ingredients that start a gentle muscular action. Avoid a coated tongue, laden breath, bilious headaches, etc. Every drug store has Dr. Caldwell's famous prescription in big bottles. Or just write Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Monticello, Ill., for a free trial bottle.

Chubby Babies Need Special Care To Prevent Chafing

Every baby's skin is soft and tender, and deserves thoughtful care at all times. The skin of a fat and chubby baby lies in little rolls of rosy, healthy flesh and is even more liable to chafing than the skin of a thin baby.

Leading pediatricians advise the use of Mennen Baby Borated Mennen Talcum to prevent or relieve chafing and other skin irritations. They specify this procedure: Anoint baby's entire body each morning after the bath, massaging the oil gently into all the folds and creases, with special attention to the diaper region. Wipe off the excess oil softly with a piece of cotton, then dust the talcum over the entire skin surface. Since both the oil and the powder are scientifically medicated they will prevent and cure diaper rashes and other skin irritations.

Mennen Baby Oil is a blend of those oils indicated or in use by leading baby specialists and in the principal maternity hospitals. It is also recommended for use on baby's buttocks after each diaper change. The oil acts as a waterproof coating and prevents the skin from becoming red-raw and chafed in that region. As an additional precaution, it is wise to use Mennen Medicated Talcum here as well after wiping off the excess oil with a piece of cotton.

Special Offer! This week your druggist is offering a can of Mennen Borated Baby Talcum FREE with a purchase of a bottle of Mennen Baby Oil for 50c. Mennen Baby Oil is a sterilized blend of oils, properly medicated, pleasantly scented, and will not become rancid.

GROCERS everywhere have delicious cookies, crackers and cakes in inviting packages that preserve their oven-freshness.

IF IT were not for those dainty cookies, wafers, sweet crackers and cakes made by the great baking companies of this country and sold at grocery stores everywhere—what would ladies do at their teas and bridge parties—what would we do for desserts?

Alluring indeed are the creations of these bakers. And the marvel of it is that they come to us with all their oven-fresh goodness. What a tribute to the careful way they are made, packed and delivered.

There is a place in every balanced diet for these inviting inexpensive cookies and cakes. They round out the meal and make everybody satisfied and happy. For variation, serve them with stewed or fresh fruit or ice cream.

Too many of our meals are lacking in enjoyment because sugar has been left out. Try a dash of sugar in the essential foods, such as vegetables, fruit and cereals, and see how much better they taste. Doctors and dietitians heartily recommend this use of sugar as a flavor. The Sugar Institute.

Chickie Fears Jennie Read Barry's Blazoned Note

CHAPTER LVI.

THE eager young face brightened. Nance came over and swept an arm about Chickie. "I knew you'd feel like this. You believe in love, don't you? I just know it. Chickie, do you think someone will love Nance like that some day?"

It affected Chickie piercingly—brought her feelings in a warm tumult over her. She said haltingly: "Of course. Nance. And I'd wait for it if I were you."

Nance kissed her. "You sweet honey-love! All right. Because I want real love and not just excuses for things."

"What is real love, Nance? Do you know?"

Nance wrinkled her chin impishly. "Like yours, Chickie. But no one else who comes here has it—that's true! I know."

She wondered what made her tremble—why it made her glad.

But it did. When they went into the dance hall that night and he caught her with a sudden laugh saying: "Dance, frail! Look up—here!" and she found his face flushing, she lowered her head against him. She whispered: "Don't! You're bold!"

But she was swept as completely as the night a year ago when he said for the first time: "Chickie—I love you!" Swept and content.

That night late they were standing on the balcony, hidden by the roses. They looked down into the gardens and saw couples walking about—some coming from machines—others entering the house, going softly down the long halls.

From the room below the music stole up gently—a touch of loneliness singing in the silence. She said: "Barry, I came and stood here a year ago—remember?"

"Remember what? That we had wandered down to the pool?"

Knock at Door

"Yes, but not that—remembered we were so astonished—and when I came back here I couldn't sleep. I loved you so——"

"If I could——"

And they were talking like that. He sat on the rail. The moon dropped a long shaft of silver through the trees. He pulled her to him. She whispered: "It's very late——"

"You want me to go——"

"No—never—but you'll have to—I'm always afraid——"

"Of what, Chickie?"

"I don't know. Barry, it's different with us than with these others here? Isn't it?"

"Of course!"

She laughed: "Yes — even Nance could see it—"

And suddenly came a banging at the door of the room. She sprang to her feet. He held her hand.

Marge called out thickly: "Chickie! Oh—busy!"

In a blaze of indignation she flew into the room, flung the door open. Marge was going down the hall, laughing, banging at every door.

And there was Nance, eyes flaming. She came into the room. She said: "Don't mind her—"

Chickie couldn't answer. She was suddenly cowed. Was Nance going to stay? Would she walk out to the porch? For a moment she thought she was going to faint.

But Nance said with a sigh: "Well, moonlight may be sweet, but moonshine isn't! Did she frighten you?"

"A little. The noise did. I was out on the balcony."

Nancy stood on her toes, whispering in Chickie's ear. "Dreaming of him?"

"Perhaps! What else?"

"Good night, then—dream on!"

Chickie Trembles

Chickie closed the door softly. Her hands shook. She stood there so long that presently she saw his form coming toward her.

"What's the matter? What happened? Why are you waiting in here?"

She answered faintly: "Oh, I don't know. I was afraid Nance might stay—might go out there."

"What if she did?"

"Well"—and suddenly the muscles of her throat tightened. "Well, its late—she might think"——

His cheeks blanched. "What might she think—"

She answered hotly: "Well—the room here—and both of us—"

She could feel him stiffen, feel the flashing resentment. He stared at her coldly. She said, weakly: "Barry, don't look at me so!"

He drew a deep, rasping breath. "Chickie, this is awful. This is detestable. Making a problem and a shame of every breath we draw! I can't stand this."

Barry dont. It was just the sudden banging on the door. It was Nance coming in like that so late. Oh, I wouldn't want her to think things—not of us!"

He walked back to the balcony, sat morose and silent on the rail. She followed, put her hand on his, saying childishly: "I couldn't help it, Barry."

"Well, but why do you want to torture yourself? Listen, Chickie—why should Nance think things because we sit on this porch? You make me feel that in your heart you're blaming me—always. I can't stand that!"

"It's not true! Oh, you don't think that—kiss me. I haven't room in my heart to hold its love."

He said somberly: "But if you're going to crush out all the joy of it—"

"No no—you know I don't—there—please—" She took his face in her hands and kissed him. He pulled her to him, laughing.

"Well, I guess you don't!"

She said to him now, softly: "Barry, when I'm with you and you put your arms around me, nothing matters. Isn't that strange? Oh, I wish it could be this way always. I wish it could be soon."

"I wish that, too, Chickie."

"But it's just the same — no nearer?"

"It has to be nearer. I don't know. If you mean about the steamers, that's no nearer — well—"

Chickie Dreams

"Never mind, we don't care! You love me very much, Barry?"

He held her in silence.

But that night she dreamed. And in her sleep her fears walked stark. She heard the banging on the door, then Janina flinging it open with a derisive cry: "Ha, pink and pure!"

And Janina stood in the arch, her hands clapped to her hips, her head thrown back, shouting with crude laughter.

She sat up in bed, a wild fluttering at her throat. Gradually the strange room, the balcony, with its hanging rose trees, outlined in the dim moonlight. She remembered, sank back on the pillows, trembling.

But when she slept the dream returned.

She wakened. She had cried in her sleep.

But when the morning came she remembered only what Barry had said.

Coming home early the afternoon the following week, Chickie noticed as soon as she stepped into her room the faint, refreshing odor of lavender. In an excitement she dashed over to her bureau.

In the bottom of the drawer was a thin pad of pale pink sateen. It was filled with lavender. Jennie had done this. Yes—to surprise her.

Reads Letter

A letter lay open. It seemed to her, glancing at it then, that the words stood out—blazoned—written fire: "Chickie, dear, don't let it press you down. Don't let the thoughts of others shame it. Remember that wave flashing, magnificent, sweeping over the rock? Think of it like that——"

Had Jennie read that? Oh, no! she wouldn't. But then—why, it may have stared at her as it did now——"

Someone pattering across the room—Jennie. Shy, uncertain, sitting on the edge of the bed.

Oh—that must mean that Jennie knew! Chickie was afraid to turn—afraid to say the slightest word — afraid to glance at her mother — little Jennie——

And all her fears went now like mad things, biting through her.

WHEN certain girls begin to blossom out and meet attractive young men, they sometimes begin to belittle their families. Not that they don't love them. ### Mrs. Ticer Tells of Mysterious, Well-Paying Boarder

MRS. TICER looked at me with eyes that reflected my own astonishment.

"Why, I didn't know it was any secret," she said, and there was a suspicion of tartness in her tone that told me I must be wary or, in her own quaint phraseology, she would "get her back up" at any intimation that she should not possess the knowledge of the burglary she had just voiced. "I knew about it this morning. My boarder told me just before he left. He took a walk after breakfast and when he came back he said he heard about it from somebody on the road. It's a funny thing, though," she went on reflectively, "nobody seems to have heard about it. Leastways nobody has been in here to tell it or nobody has telephone about it. Usually, you know when anything exciting happened around here everybody is running around like mad or calling everybody else up about it. If Jerry or his father had heard it I'll just bet they'd have made an errand to come home and tell me about it, no matter what shape they left their work in. I don't say I haven't done the same thing myself lots of times. But as you know, I keep my mouth shut over anything that concerns you folks. When I work for people I feel that their affairs aren't to be talked about."

"I know that, Mrs. Ticer," I assured her affectionately, and indeed I had received many proofs of this part of her simple and admirable code of life. To work hard, to trust in God and follow the Golden Rule more nearly than almost anyone else of my acquaintance, this is Mrs. Ticer, who adds an almost exotic love of beauty to her other characteristics.

"I didn't mean to come in," I said, as she hospitably held open her kitchen door—almost all the entrance to her home is through her immaculate kitchen with its entrancing odors of cookery and preserving. "But what you have told me just now makes it imperative that I talk to you. Is there anybody else here?"

"Nary a soul but myself," she said, "nor won't be till dinner time. Today that'll be 1 o'clock, for both Jerry and Sam are farther away than usual, and they're going to work late tonight."

I made the mental comment that my hustling neighbor's easy-going son Jerry and even more leisurely husband Sam must be absorbing some of her energy, then tensed to attention as she added:

"And my boarder has gone for good, as I told you—went this morning. I'm not sorry, either, though he paid me well. But I didn't cotton to him some way, and I didn't like the way he was always soft-soaping Jerry and Sam, praising 'em up and treating Jerry to this and that and asking Sam's advice on everything under the sun. Not that Sam isn't a good man enough"—her tone was a ludicrous and unconscious mixtures of loyalty to her husband and a lively sense of his mental shortcomings," but you know yourself—his advice——" She spread her hands and laughed in an embarrassed fashion that made it easy for me to interrupt her.

"I want to talk to you about that boarder," I said gravely as my mother-in-law and I took the chairs she set out for us. "Don't you think I ought to, mother?" I put the question hastily that she might have no excuse for thinking her dignity ignored and cutting short our colloquy, as she was perfectly capable of doing.

But she was unusually affable, though grave, as she answered me.

"Indeed I do, my dear," she said. "I think you will find that Mrs. Ticer's boarder will prove a most interesting subject of conversation.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Don't Marry for Inconvenience

"MARRY for convenience—not for love!" urges an anonymous writer in a current magazine.

Another THWACK for poor old Love!

What does she MEAN, "convenience"?

About the most inconvenient thing that you can have around the house is a husband or wife whom you do not love. Just something always in your way—like a grand piano that you don't know how to play.

"I'm through with love," says the author—and that explains everything! People who are through with the morning paper always say "There's nothing in it." But that doesn't stop you from wanting to see for yourself.

* * *

Her arguments are all true; but her premise is false. She simply does not know what love IS.

Like you and you, and probably YOU, she has gotten LOVE confused with everything that it isn't. With spring dalliance, with infatuation, with romance, with sex-attraction, and with wild, erotic emotionalism. With sickly sentiment, selfish vanity, unreasonable jealousy, and the desire for possession and domination.

It is positively astonishing how few people, in this enlightened age, know what love IS. But you don't have to take my word for it. If you want to find out what love is, go out and buy a dictionary.

"LOVE," says Mr. Noah Webster, "is a strong feeling of affection." Not one word about sentiment or illusion or romance or passion or sex-appeal! Those are the heady wines of life which make the world go round and fill you with a dizzying ecstasy. They are the divine right of youth, and a life without them must be very flat and blank.

But they are NOT love. They are the glamorous dreams of which love is sometimes born—but which more often end in disillusionment.

Love is not a dream! Love is a REALITY!

Love is companionship, tenderness, understanding, mutual faith and abiding affection. Love is a glorified friendship, sprinkled with stardust. Love is just being "on the same wire"!

Infatuation is intoxicating and distracting; love is steadying and stimulating. Infatuation scarcely lives from spring moon to spring moon; passion always dies, sooner or later.

But love is like honeysuckle. You can bruise it, wound it, turn it out and throw it away. But you CANNOT kill it! The roots are too strong and too deep.

GIRL UNAFRAID

By GLADYS JOHNSON

foster. Ardeth had learned to dread the black moods of Neil.

She strove gallantly now to put the situation on a lighter plane.

"Oh, it's gor-geeous to be out in the sunshine!" She smoothed the pleats of her short skirt. "Go out through the park, Neil. Let's see the other cars."

It was the first bright day after a week of fog. The park highways were crowded—sedan and limousine; snappy roadster and cut-down auto.

Not Snobbish

Little of the snob in the heart of Ardeth, however. The big silent cars spinning past moved her to admiration, not envy. Enough to be alive and happy in the sunshine today. To know one was pretty and young. To feel this secret thrill of expectancy . . . holding one's breath. It was, in a way . . . waiting for something glorious to happen.

The cars were checked. The equestrian path crossed the highway here, and the traffic officer was permitting the riders to cross.

Sleek proud horses carrying sleek proud people. They moved through a different world, these high-stepping horses and the men and girls they carried, thought Ardeth.

That blonde girl there in the linen trousers and black coat . . . a pretty girl, and so sure of herself . . . Look at her turn and speak to the man on the bay mare beside her . . .

That man! Ardeth found herself sitting tense—leaning forward, her heart in her eyes.

A tall and laughing young fellow—riding so easily. The sun gleaming on his brown hair, flashing on his white smile . . .

As though the intent gaze of the girl drew his, the young fellow suddenly looked over. His eyes plunged deep into the eyes of the girl as he went by.

At her side, Ardeth heard Neil draw his breath jealously.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Good Taste in Mourning Costumes

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please settle an argument? My girl friend's fiance's father died. Was it proper for her to wear a black dress to the wake, or was it unnecessary? Would it have been proper to wear any color? T. W.

IT was not at all necessary for this young lady to wear black at the wake. But it would have been good taste for her to have worn a dark dress.

Slippers for the Ball

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to attend my sorority dance soon and I am going to wear a peach evening frock with white kid pumps.

Will you kindly let me know whether white kid pumps will be all right to wear for evening wear? ALICE.

WHITE kid pumps are not, to my taste, especially attractive for evening wear and especially with such a pastel and delicate shade as peach. They have, I think, a rather hard, unconpromising look for evening wear and with a peach evening dress would not make a particularly pleasing harmony. Apparently you have a bit of the same feeling if you question the attractiveness of their wear for evening. Why not have a plain pump dyed to meet the shade of your dress? That would be much more satisfactory and you would acquire a unit. You know, don't you, that if you take a sample of the material to the shop where you buy a pair of white satin pumps they can be dyed usually in 24 hours?

A Gift to the Groom

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am again in a quandary. I wonder if it is proper or not to give the groom a present? I mean, should the bride give the groom a present? E.

WHILE it is not as customary for the bride to give the groom a wedding present as it is for the groom to give the bride a wedding present, she may do so if she wishes. There is no rule for it—it is just a question of choice.

A Social Error

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper for a lady to assist her young man friend when putting on his overcoat, or should she let him put it on himself? L. A.

SHE should not help the young man to put on his coat, for this is very embarrassing to the young man. Or at least it should be! It is a very unattractive thing for her to do, and a distinct social error.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Impetigo Is Caused by Infection

THERE are all sorts of inflammations which attack the skin. The covering of the body is subject to many diseases. We hardly wonder at this when we realize how constantly exposed it is to dust, dirt and germs of all sorts.

"Impetigo" is the name given to certain forms of blisters which appear on what would otherwise be a healthy skin. These blisters dry out into crusts and then fall off, leaving a superficial raw surface. The spot soon heals without leaving a scar.

The disease is probably due to an infection from a pus producing germ. It usually lasts four or five days, but sometimes when the power of resistance is low, it may hang on for weeks.

It appears most often around the mouth, the nose or the ear. It may attack any part of the body.

Children sometimes have it on the face, and it may be quite serious. The child is apt to scratch the place and increase the infection. Sometimes the blotch looks like dried honey on the face of the child. Its appearance gives it the name of "milk crusts." A child should be kept from scratching or picking the infected area.

Most forms of the disease are infectious. A discharge from the blister may infect other healthy skin. Should there be a broken surface of the skin, such as a burn or eczema, the germ may enter and cause severe complications.

When impetigo forms into a crust, that should be removed. This may be done by first moistening it with a dressing of gauze or soaking it for a short time. When the crust softens it may be carefully wiped off. If the crust is allowed to remain the warmth of the face makes the sore an ideal breeding place for the germs, resulting in further infection.

One cannot be too careful about the complete cleanliness of the skin at all times. Use plenty of mild soap and warm water. Do not put the hands on the face unless the hands are scrupulously clean. Skin eruptions are a sign of neglect.

Keep the body clean inside and out. Build up the health by proper food, exercise in the fresh air, thus building up resistance against all disease germs.

Fortunately impetigo is a very superficial thing and does not go deeply into the tissues. But it is a disfiguring and painful trouble. One should do everything possible to get rid of it, and get the skin into a healthy condition. Nature does all possible to help us in mending diseased parts, and we should use intelligence in aiding this process.

Household Hints

Looking over the laundry is too often a sad task when the mending pile rises higher and higher because the wringer has made a vicious attack upon the buttons you sewed on so carefully last week. Many stitches may be saved by folding the buttons inside the garment and holding it flat as you run it through the wringer.

When using cocoa in place of chocolate in baking cakes, etc., dissolve cocoa in hot water and let cool before adding to batter. Four tablespoonfuls of cocoa are equal to two squares of chocolate. Cocoa used this way gives the cake a better chocolate color and does not make it dry.

It only takes a minute, and silk stockings are fragile luxuries worthy of every possible care. After rinsing out a pair of hose, and this should really be done every time they are taken off to insure longer wear, roll the tops down as though you were going to turn them inside out. Then shake them out and it will be found that they dry, retaining their shape and natural sheen. This action separates the threads and gives the hose that "new look."

For a cough cut a Spanish onion in slices, then place a layer of brown sugar between each one. Cover and allow to stand for a few hours. Then take the juice.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

WHAT matters the color or shape of the eyes if it is "full of gentle salutations and soft responses?" Numbered among the facial features, the eyes take first place, because they convey charming thoughts and tender emotions. Human sparklers are considered most beautiful, from a physical standpoint, when they are neither too round nor too long. The distance between them should be the length of the eye. Their loveliness is accentuated when the eyebrows are perfectly arched and lashes are long, curly and lifted.

THICK ankles, unless they are produced by bulky bones, can be slenderized by playing at bicycling. The beauty-quester should sit on a low stool, hands on hips, one foot over the other. She then pretends-like to pedal with the top foot. If the muscles of the calves of the leg are weak, there will be a painful pulling on the fibers. As these muscles strengthen, the muscles around the ankles will tighten up, and measurements will decrease.

VOICES soft and low are beauty assets. Alas, the world is full of loud speakers. They attract attention in street cars, in restaurants, in theaters and shops. They thump the eardrums and shred the nerves. Voices become unpleasant when they are pitched too high and when the volume is greater than it should be. They can be muted and made musical by proper training, by deep breathing, chest expansion and mindfulness.

SILLY to believe that the shade of the complexion powder should match a woman's skin. If she is sallow, she doesn't want a sallow powder, but a lark, rich suntan shade that will hide the greenery-yallery of her own cutaneous facial covering. Only darker shades conceal defects.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

The Conqueror

HE WAS a conqueror, men said,
And even at the last they found
He went with a victorious tread
And where he passed was sacred ground.

They called him victor, yet he won
Few battles of the scores he fought;
The strife he waged was never done,
Too hard, the lessons that he taught.

Men turned away because he pled
For finer selves they thrust aside,
Yet subtly upward still he led,
His vision would not be denied.

With changeless purpose, on he trod,
Unheralded, without renown;
He was a conqueror whom God
Inscrutably denied a crown.

A DAY of fairly routine events is presaged from the lunar transits, which point to some trifling complications or anxieties in personal affairs. New undertakings have a fair promise of success, especially if managed with diplomacy or shrewdness. This may be accomplished by means of correspondence or through secret agreements or understandings with combines, corporations or secret organizations. The mind may tend toward subtle intriguing or to conspiracy in furthering the plans.

Those whose birthday it is may expect success in their new ventures during the year by secret methods or understandings with close corporations, mergers or secret orders. They may incline to conspiracy, diplomacy or intrigue rather than above-board methods. Personal matters may be attended by anxiety or friction.

A child born on this day may have a mind given to subtlety, intrigue or mysticism. It may have talent in writing along such lines. It may have success in diplomatic posts or in strategic positions.

Trading of Grimes, Deal Due to Holdout. Jones Third Southpaw. | Face Lucas in Opener. Adams Finally Picked. Jockey Shines as Sub.

OFF YEAR EVIDENTLY FEARED BY ENS

"THE wages of sin is death, and the wages of a holdout is Newark," Vic Aldridge once remarked after the Giants had shipped him to the International League following a squabble over salary. Burleigh Grimes is now in a position to add that sometimes the holdout penalty is changed to a transfer from a pennant contender to a tail-end club. For it was his refusal to sign a Pittsburgh pact this spring at the terms offered, demanding both a larger salary and a two-year contract, that led to the sudden rushing through last night of the deal whereby Grimes was traded to the Boston Braves for Percy Lee Jones, left-hand pitcher, and a sum of money on the side.

Burleigh Grimes

The announcement came as a stunning surprise to Pittsburgh fans, for when the divorce suit that had occupied so much of his time and attention was terminated recently it was thought that it would be only a question of a few days until Burleigh entered the Pirate fold. However, the failure of the pitcher to offer to sign a contract when he conferred with President Barney Dreyfuss here last Monday appears to have been the last straw. President Dreyfuss at once got into communication with Manager Jewel Ens, and the trading of Grimes last night probably resulted from a decision by Ens that it would be harmful to the Pittsburgh club to let the case drag out any further.

IT is to be regretted that conditions arose that finally made such a step seem necessary or advisable. Pirate patrons had hoped to see an agreement reached eventually between the club and the veteran spitballer.

Grimes was popular here. Baseball never knew a harder worker on the field, and his worth to the Bucs was shown by his record of 42 games won against only 21 lost since he came to Pittsburgh in a trade for Aldridge two years ago.

IT is clear to every fan also, and the cash consideration paid by Boston on the side further attests the fact, that the Rovers are not receiving as much in pitching value in the deal as they are giving up in the release of Grimes. That is, sizing up the deal from the Grimes standard of the past. What Burleigh will do this year is a different matter, or at least the Pirate officials appear to think so.

Percy Jones

IN fact, a feeling of uncertainty, if not actual doubt, on the latter point, was one of the items that actuated the Pittsburgh management in making the deal, it is explained. Manager Ens evidently felt that, deprived of a full course of spring training and with further legal worries threatened, Burleigh might not measure up to his old marks in the 1930 season, at least in the uniform of a Pirate. He seemed willing to take the chance of getting better work out of anybody else, and Jones was the best that could be obtained. Boston refusing to give up a right-hander asked for by Pittsburgh, Jewel is gambling on futures. President Dreyfuss says he did not want money for Burleigh, but had to consent to that arrangement because he could not get any more for him in playing material.

ONLY one other club, it is understood, continuously showed any desire to acquire Grimes after he failed to go to training camp with the Bucs. That club was Chicago, but the Cubs were informed that none of their offers would be considered, as the Pittsburgh club did not intend to add any strength to a team that it expected to fight with for the pennant.

A third club appeared to be interested for a time, but finally dropped out. It tried to reopen negotiations last night shortly after the trade with Boston had been closed. The Braves opened negotiations for Grimes when Manager Bill McKechnie wired Manager Ens on the subject of a trade while the Bucs were in Paso Robles. The matter was dropped then and was not reopened until President Emil Fuchs suggested it in a long-distance telephone call last Sunday.

IT will require the development of the season itself to determine which side has profited by the deal, and whether or not Manager Ens has guessed correctly in estimating that Grimes will not be able to pitch up to his former standards. He has parted with a star right-hander to add a third southpaw to Jess Petty and Larry French.

Jewel Ens

This is the fifth time Grimes has been let go by a major league club, and the second time Pittsburgh has traded him. Detroit had him in 1913, but sent him to Chattanooga. Pittsburgh got him from Birmingham in 1916, and after the 1917 race traded him to Brooklyn with Al Mamaux and Chuck Ward for Casey Stengel and George Cutshaw. Brooklyn traded him to the Giants in 1927 for Butch Henline, and a year later the Giants traded him to Pittsburgh for Aldridge. The trade with the Braves will stand whether Burleigh signs with Boston or not.

JONES is a native of Harwood, Tex., and will be 31 years old next October 28. Grimes will be 37 on August 18. The new Pirate joined the Cubs in 1920 without minor league experience and remained with them until 1923, when he was placed with Los Angeles under option. In 1924 he was farmed to Seattle, rejoining the Bruins in 1925 and being retained by them until November 7, 1928, when he was traded to the Braves with Maguire, Cunningham, Leggett, Seibold and cash for Rogers Hornsby. In his eight major league seasons he has won 53 games and lost 56. His victories exceeded his defeats in two seasons—1926, when he won 12 and lost 7 games, and 1928, when he won 10 and lost 6 games. Last year he won 7 and lost 15. He defeated the Pirates once and lost to them three times.

MANAGER DAN HOWLEY, of the Reds, announces that he has definitely decided to send the Pirates' old hoodoo, Red Lucas, against them in the opener at Cincinnati next Tuesday. Lucas will do no more pitching until that day. He has not gone the route this spring, but is said to be fit for any distance.

Johnny Gooch will do the catching Tuesday against his old mates, and Joe Stripp has been selected over Tony Cuccinello to start at third base. Harry Heilmann may not be able to play, in which event Curt Walker will be in right, Ethan Allen in center and Bob Meusel in left.

SPARKY ADAMS is the definite selection of Manager Gabby Street for the second-base post in the Cardinal lineup at the beginning

MOBILE, Ala., April 10.—His opening day lineup more uncertain than a weather prediction, Manager Jewel Ens of the Pirates today indicated still another possible change in his battle front for the inaugural in stating that Ira Flagstead would lead off in event of a southpaw working on the mound for the Reds.

Ens also gave the first real intimation as to his slab choice for the jump-off game, but he could not be definite in the matter at this early date. He said the pitcher would be selected from among Kremer, Brame and Meine. In case he would be constrained at the last minute to switch to a lefthander, French would be the man. The boss of the club said he probably would be able to name his hurler definitely by Sunday.

L. WANER MAY NOT PLAY

Although he did not say so with any positive statement, Ens inferred by his manner that Lloyd Waner is lost for the opening game. The last weight report on the ailing outfielder was 133 pounds in his street clothes. In other words he is still 10 pounds under weight, and you know what 10 pounds means to a lightweight fighter. Brother Lloyd apparently has gained only a few pounds since he was discharged from the hospital in Pittsburgh more than two months ago.

Ens was moved to put Flagstead into the opening day reckoning on account of the impotency of Fred Brickell's attack against left-handers. Brick has been the lead-off hitter throughout the barn-storming journey; where he has been strong against the right-handers he has been weak against the other species.

As pointed out in these columns before, the three-southpaw hitter drive, at the top of the Pirate order has been ineffective against the lefthanders. Ens watched this phase of play and is now convinced it would be wise to start with Brickell if the Reds throw in a Kithogue. If Lloyd Waner were able to start, Jewel would put him in the leadoff spot.

It isn't likely, however, that Dan Howley will call upon a southpaw in view of the fact that Ted Lucas and Pete Donohue are reported in good form. Lucas has exercised a long spell over the Pittsburgh boys, and Daniel doubtless has heard all about this from his players.

Anyhow, Skipper Ens and the

ENROUTE TO WASHINGTON, April 10.—Those Yankees don't let a charley horse cripple their gate receipts. They tape Babe Ruth's leg up like a hockey stick and make him bat the first inning of each exhibition game and then they shoot him back to the hotel in a wheel chair. The only miracle I ever heard about which can tie that was the one-legged drop kicker that Pop Warner shoved into a football game. At that rate Babe should be good for another 20 years. They can stuff him like Barnum's famous elephant and tour all the one-day stands. The only thing that the Yankee circus lacks this year is a free street parade.

BURLEIGH SENT TO BRAVES FOR PERCY JONES

Pirate baseball fans were shocked as they awoke this morning to learn that Burleigh Grimes, holdout pitcher, had been traded to the Boston Braves for Percy Lee Jones, Hub southpaw hurler. The announcement came last night from Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the local National League club. Grimes went to Boston in exchange for Jones and, according to President Dreyfuss, "a large cash consideration," the amount of which was not named. President Emil Fuchs, of the Boston club, also refused to state the cash concerned in the transaction, although he admitted it was the second largest sum the Braves ever had paid for a player. Two years ago, Fuchs said, he gave the Giants $100,000 for Rogers Hornsby, who later was traded to the Chicago Cubs.

Reports from Boston today estimated the cash exchange at anywhere from $30,000 to $75,000, but it was admitted that this was only a guess.

The suddenness of the trade, rather than the trade itself, took local Pirate followers by surprise. They were divided in their opinions as to whether the deal would be of advantage to the Corsairs.

ASKED BIG CONTRACT

Pitcher Grimes had been one of the most stubborn holdouts of the season, being insistent that the Pirates give him a contract of $20,000 a year for two years, it was reported, before he would join the club. Local officials refused to entertain Burleigh's proposition, and Grimes and Fuchs came to an agreement with the local club officials by long-distance telephone after a conference yesterday in Boston. Grimes recently lost a suit for divorce from his wife in Canton, and since that time held one unsuccessful conference with President Dreyfuss before interviewing President Fuchs.

Grimes became affiliated with the Buccaneers in 1928, coming in a trade with the Giants for Vic Aldridge. He was born in St. Croix County, Wis., in 1893, and at his eighth birthday moved with his parents to Clear Lake, Wis., where he pitched for a team of youngsters. In 1912 he began playing professional baseball with the city team of Eau Claire, Wis., where he developed the delivery that later branded him the "spitball king." Later he played at Austin, Minn., where he won 18 of the 19 games he pitched during first year, and, after winning the pennant, he moved on to the Ottumwa, Ia., club, at a stipulated salary.

SUCCESSFUL CAREER

Six weeks after signing with Ottumwa, Ia., Grimes was sold to the Detroit Tigers, who, in turn, sent him to Chattanooga, Tenn., where he continued to make good. He married Miss Ruth Van Patten, from whom he sought his recent divorce, while with Chattanooga. During the next season, Burleigh was traded to Birmingham, Ala., where he spent two years successfully.

In 1916 he was traded to the Pirates, who sent him to Brooklyn in a deal shortly afterward. Grimes spent nine years with the Robins before he was traded to the New York Giants, and he pitched two years for John McGraw before coming to the Pirates to become their leading pitcher.

DAWSON RATED PROFESSIONAL

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP.)—Johnny Dawson, of Chicago, apparently has played his last amateur golf in so far as the United States Golf Association is concerned, unless he changes his method of making a living.

Called upon to give Dawson's status after the Chicago golfer had been barred from the North and South tournament at Pinehurst yesterday, H. H. Ramsay, chairman of the rules committee, said Dawson was not entitled to play in amateur golf, according to rules of the U. S. G. A.

Dawson's eligibility was first questioned in the national amateur last year at Pebble Beach after he had decided to change his business from selling bonds to sporting goods. He did not compete for the national championship.

The Chicago amateur has been well up among the leaders for several years. Last year he competed in the British amateur championships, losing to John Smith after 19 holes of sensational play in the semi-final round.

WITHDRAWS FROM TOURNEY

PINEHURST, N. C., April 10.—(AP.)—Eight players were the championship contenders today in the thirtieth annual North and South amateur golf tournament.

Topping the list of quarter-finalists were C. Ross Somerville, of London, Ont., co-medalist, and George J. Voigt, of New York, defending champion.

Johnny Dawson, of Chicago, who tied with Somerville for the medal in the qualifying play, withdrew from the tournament yesterday when his amateur status was questioned.

Somerville, who yesterday put out T. S. Tailer, of New York, 3 and 1, was matched today against J. B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y. Voight, 3 and 2, conqueror of W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, in first round match play, was matched against Phillips Finlay, Redlands, Cal. Other quarter-final matches:

W. E. Donahue, Newark, N. J., vs. J. T. Hunter, North Adams, N. J.

The Lowdown On the Pirates

By The Benchwarmer

MOBILE, Ala., April 10.—Well, folks, it looks like I'm sure of at least one pay day in the big show, and from what I hear I'll get two or three before they ship me to a Pirate farm. The old doughbag is just about shot, but I haven't written home for any money yet. And I haven't borrowed from any other player, but I was just fixin' to ask one of the newspaper scribes for a loan of five berries when along came Sam Dreyfuss with the meal money for four days. Maybe those 11 lettuce leaves didn't look good to me.

If I can just win a dollar or two every now and then in the five-and-ten game, I'll get by till we get a pay. It's a long time between pays in this spring training league, and, if I go with the Pirates next year, which I hope to do, I am gonna have a bigger roll. You see, I left with only $50 last February. The club pays all the expenses, but a fellow spends a dollar here and a dollar there, and the first thing he knows he's broke. On a two months' tour like this a guy ought to have about 200 berries in the kick to be sure of himself, but you gotta learn these things.

PRESENTS FOR THE WIFE

I don't wantta mention any names, but I know one kid that had seven dollars and fifty cents when he climbed aboard the rattler. He dropped about half of this playin' cards on the way to Paso Robles and it's been pretty tough for him. But I think Sam or Jewel slipped him a fifty on account, because he was steppin' out at the dances at Paso and he always had enough to buy the sodas at Canary Cottage.

I guess I shouldn't be poppin' off like this, but that rookie who said he was gonna save enough out of his meal money to buy his wife a spring hat and percolator has partly come through. He had the jerky under his arm when he was leaving Houston for Fort Worth and the fellows will bet even money that he'll have the bonnet before we leave New Orleans for Cincy. This kid has written his wife to meet him at Cincinnati and he wants to have the two gifts all set for her when she bobs up. They've only been married four months and they write two letters to each other every day. He hasn't told her about the two meal-money presents because he wants to shock her with these.

I understand that after the season starts we have to sign checks and the club pays for them, so a fellow can't put away a nickel then. On all the jumps on the Southern Pacific, the boys signed checks and I guess the sky was the limit. Anyhow, some of the orders the rookies handed the waiters made the waiters' eye pop. You haven't seen nobody eat until you see a cornfed rookie in a diner when somebody else is footin' the bill.

A NINE O'CLOCK GUY

Andy Bednar is still hittin' the day at 9 bells and gettin' up at 3 just like he did when he worked in them mines. It would take an earthquake to throw that fellow off the even tenure of his ways or whatever they call that verse. There's a kid that keeps his ears open and his mouth closed and I believe a fellow can go a distance that way. But I gotta pop off a little and I'm not changing my ways so long as I can get by like I did on this jaunt.

P. S.—The hot weather in Texas done me a lotta good and I think I'll be ready soon.

PHILLIES EVEN CITY SERIES

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—(AP.)—The Philadelphia Nationals evened the home series with the champion Athletics yesterday by winning 4 to 3, before 2,500 shivering spectators. The Phillies broke a 3-to-3 tie in the eighth inning off the knuckle ball delivery of Ed Rommell. O'Doul hit a single into center, his third of the day. Friberg followed with a shot to the same spot and O'Doul came home with the winning marker when Hurst singled over short. The score by innings:

Grimes May Go Back to Giants

NORFOLK, Va., April 10.—Burleigh Grimes, obtained from the Pirates by the Boston Braves last night in a trade for Pitcher Percy Lee Jones and a cash consideration, may return to the Giants in another deal, according to reports prevalent here.

The Braves, it is said, will send Burleigh to New York for an infielder and a catcher.

RUTH SEES CHANGE IN STYLE OF HITTING

SLUGGERS NOW EAGER TO GET ON BASE

By BABE RUTH
Baseball's Highest Salaried Player

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 10.—Maybe I'm all wrong but it seems to me I can notice a change in hitting styles in the last couple of seasons. A sort of throw back to the old days. I guess when hitters were trying to get on instead of hammering the ball over the fence for a home run.

Babe Ruth

I've noticed particularly this spring in the games we've played against other big league clubs and on the Yankees as well. For four or five years every young fellow who came up grabbed his bat from the end, swung from the ankles and tried to knock the boards off the fences. This year I notice that most of the young fellows are choking their bats and taking short chops at the ball and what is more important I notice that most of the coaches and managers are urging the kids to hit that way.

CHOKE HITTERS

Take the Yankees for instance. We have three young fellows breaking into our lineup. Chapman at third base and Cooke and Sammy Byrd in the outfield. And all three of those boys are choke hitters. Personally I think it's a good thing. I get a whale of a kick out of a sacrifice and stealing game when base runners are on their toes and runners are pushed across the plate by smart baseball rather than by home run drivers.

I have always maintained and I still do that hitters of the Joe Sewell and Ty Cobb type are the best in baseball. Those fellows stand up there flat footed with choked bats and they hit as you pitch. Just because one chap happens to come along who can drive a baseball out of the park is no reason why everyone else should try it. A lot of good hitters ruin themselves by trying to overdrive the ball. It's just like golf in that respect. The golfer who gets up there and swings with all his might never hits a ball as far as the fellows who relax, take an easy cut and meet the ball clean.

SEE RETURN OF OLD STYLE

Just to show you how baseball is changing—the Yankees had a sliding pit built in camp this spring for the first time since I can remember, and the young fellows were given plenty of work in it, too. And I understand that other clubs have been doing the same thing. Such smart managers as Connie Mack and John McGraw have come out with flat-footed statements that the next season or two will see a return to the old style baseball. I believe them, too.

The other day Lou Gehrig was talking to me about hitting and trying to dope out what caused his slump last season. He seemed terribly surprised when I advised him to cut out trying to hit home runs and to concentrate on meeting the ball. But I think that is Lou's real trouble. I don't mean by that that he won't hit home runs. As a matter of fact I think he will hit more that way than he will when he's up there taking that full swing. Hitting home runs isn't half as much a matter of power as it is of perfect timing and meeting the ball squarely on the nose. And Lou, in his anxiety to hit for long distances last season, was pulling himself clear off balance and lunging at the ball. The result was that he drove the ball into the ground for an easy out even when he managed to hit it hard.

PREDICTS BOOM FOR LOU

I don't know whether Lou is going to follow my advice this season or not. But I do know this: If he'll just take it easy up there at the plate, not force his swing, and will concentrate on meeting the ball squarely he'll hit at least 50 points higher than he did last season and he'll finish the year with just as many homers and maybe more. Wait and see if I'm not right.

Naturally, as far as I am concerned, I'll have to step up there and take my cut. I'm paid to hit homers and the minute I start shortening my swing and trying for base hits the crowd begins to groan and mumble. But I wish I might be free to try out my theories just once. If for one season I could forget home run hitting and take a nice easy cut—I'd just for one season stand up there flatfooted and cut—I'd like to bet that I could hit .400 for the year.

WALTER LOEFFLER
South Hills Country Club

When Walter Loeffler, the South Hills Country Club's affable member of the paid brigade, started playing golf, he was only knee high to the well-known grasshopper—or 7 years old. That was at Oakmont, and here we have another tried and true member of one of most famous golfing families in Western Pennsylvania. Walter has been playing the game for twenty years. He got his start as caddie-master at the Oakmont Country Club, getting a lot of good advice from the late Charley Rowe, who was pro. His first berth as professional was not in the capacity of instructor at all, but as greenkeeper at the Thornburg Country Club when it was being run by the folks who now make up the Chartiers Heights Country Club. That was in 1919. Loeffler left Thornburg, which is one of the oldest courses in the district, by the way, to become greenkeeper at the Montour Heights Country Club, the beautiful layout near Coraopolis. Leaving Montour Heights, Loeffler became affiliated with South Hills in the capacity of professional and he has been making good as golf teacher there for all of 10 years. He was West Penn open champion in 1923, scoring 155 at Oakmont, and has qualified every year he has tried for the national open excepting only last year, when he failed. A real guy, Walter has oodles of friends throughout the district.—VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Cub Fans Glad Grimes Is Lost To Pirates

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP.)—Chicago Cub baseball fans are disappointed that Pittsburgh didn't trade or sell Burleigh Grimes to the Cubs instead of the Boston Braves, but they are glad the spitballer no longer is with the Pirates.

LAYDEN BOOSTS NEW LEAGUE

HAZLETON, Pa., April 10.—(AP.)—First steps toward the formation of a Catholic high school basketball league for Pennsylvania were taken at a meeting held at Freeland last night and which had as its principal speaker Elmer Layden, Duquesne University athletic director.

The former Notre Dame football captain of "Four Horsemen" fame is back of the state-wide plan and he will be in charge of the rules that are to be drafted to govern the league.

Four circuits, each comprised of six clubs covering Northeast Pennsylvania from Honesdale to Shamokin and as far as Easton, were outlined and these leagues will be organized at a meeting called for Hazleton on May 7.

of the season. Street says the former Pirate has done everything satisfactorily in the practice games and is the logical choice for the job.

The St. Louis pilot also makes it known that the lifting of Taylor Douthit from center field is only a temporary move due to a batting slump and that Douthit will be sent in to play regularly when the pennant race starts.

Arthur Robertson

It has happened more than once in other sports, particularly in baseball, that a player sent in to take the place of another in an emergency performed so brilliantly as to outshine the regular, perhaps winning the job permanently. Something on the same order occurred on the turf Monday. The feat of Jockey Arthur Robertson in winning four races at the Bowie track that day, driving Chickweed, Equipoise, Macil and Frank Fulton, was sensational enough [illegible] it was all the more noteworthy because [illegible] was riding only as a substitute. Sandy Ward [illegible] was signed to ride Equipois[illegible], but in the jockey's room early in the day his right arm was burned so severely that he had to cancel his engagement. The result was that Robertson, second rider for the Whitney stable, was called upon to take his place, not only coming through with a victory on Equipoise but landing three other mounts first during the afternoon.

AGAPANTHUS COPS INAUGURAL AT WHEELING

GOODRICH RIDES THREE VICTORS IN OPENING

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 10.—It took the J. G. Demarest Stable five races to break into the pay-off dough here yesterday on the occasion of the first day's running of the anual spring meeting of the Wheeling Driving Club, but when the stable did crash through, it crashed through right. And how!

Agapanthus, a chestnut 5-year-old, made a one-horse race out of the Inaugural Handicap, feature event of the day, with $2,000 added. Besides bringing joy to the heart of its owner, it brought joy to the hearts of not a few of the honest citizens who had been chasing Dame Fortune with two-buck bets all afternoon.

HEATED RACE

Agapanthus didn't win without a struggle, although the son of Campfire-Scarab scurried under the wire by better than a length. Smouldering broke fast at the start of the six furlong test, and at the first turn, had its black nozzle out in front, with Fleeting Fire and Tommy Lad both in front of Agapanthus.

The latter made up ground in the back stretch, after passing the grand stand sixth. At the stretch turn, Wacket made a bid for fame with a magnificent spurt, but Jockey Garrity, wielding his bat in perfect time with Agapanthus's noble stride, brought the Demarest entry into the lead, passing Tommy Lad and Wacket like a pay train is said to have passed a hobo, and pounding along like the true thoroughbred he is, Agapanthus showed daylight aplenty between himself and the field at the wire. Tommy Lad had enough left to finish second and Wacket was third.

The time, considering the heavy track, was fair, 1:21 2-5. Agapanthus paid $6.80, $4.20 and $3.

The ope..ing day of racing failed to draw out the expected record-breaking crowd, but, considering the cold weather, it was fair. The meeting is termed the Golden Jubilee engagement, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of historical West Virginia State Fair track. It will continue for 16 days.

GOODRICH WINS THREE

Aside from Agapanthus' triumph in the Inaugural Handicap, the first day's racing was a triumph to the riding of Jockey Earl Goodrich, for no good reason at all nicknamed Eddie. Goodrich was up on three victors, having the mount on Elfrieda G in the last race, Shorty O in the fourth and Twelve-Sixty in the fifth. Elfrieda G brought the best price of the opening day, winning tickets on this race bringing the right handsome price of $12.40 for the original two bucks.

There were only two other better than 5-to-1 prices paid, and both, oddly enough, on one horse. In the first race the boys who parade to the windows didn't think much of Starry Dawn, who came through to pay $11.40 to win, $4 to place and the unexpected sum of $10.40 for show. Checkmate, winner of the third heat, was good for $9.60 on the snoot.

The victory of Autumn Bloom in the second race was as spectacular as any triumph of the day. Coming from third place as the field tore into the stretch, Bryan forged to the front and had its nose just far enough out as it sped under the wire for the judges to give it the well-known nod. Ella Bank was second and, had not the saddle girth on this turtle slipped, Autumn Bloom's late spurt might have gone for naught.

SHORTY O LEADS FIELD HOME IN FOURTH RACE

FLAGSTEAD MAY LEAD OFF

Pirates figure on looking at either the red-haired wizard or Texas Pete. If this should come to pass, Brickell would stay in the lineup and Flaggie would be available for emergency duty. All of the Pirates, by the way, are convinced that the team would not be weakened in any manner by having this little hustler in action. He's a sweet ball player.

BUCS TAKE BEATING

The Bold Buccos resembled bushers of a raw sort yesterday as they took a 9-to-6 pasting from the Mobile Club, of the Southern Association. The burlesque on baseball brought 10 errors, each team faltering five times. The Pittsburghers were at their worst and Manager Ens made no secret of the fact that he was disgusted with the performance. Unless things change quickly, Jewel will make a drastic shakeup.

Ervin Brame pitched the whole game for the Buccos. It was the first time a Pittsburgh pitcher had started and finished a game. On the surface it would appear that Brame was very ineffective, but if his mates had played even fair ball, the result would have been much different. Brame is one of the first choice to pitch the opening game against the Reds at Cincinnati Tuesday.

Heinie Meine will face the home team this afternoon. The Pirates will move back to New Orleans tomorrow morning, they being scheduled to play three games with the Pelicans. These contests will wind up their training schedule.

ATTENDANCE POOR

Earl Brown, a Pittsburgh boy, was on the mound against the Pirates through a part of the game. John Burdick, another clever young righthander, who pitched for Akron last season, finished the game for the locals.

LEAGUE ORGANIZES

CHARLEROI, Pa., April 10.—(AP.)—The Monongahela Valley Church League, one of the district's strongest amateur baseball circuits, organized for the season last night at the Speers Methodist Church.

DUNN SPURNS BOUT WITH RODGERS

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

The Motor Square Garden Boxing Club now is ready to match Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, with Jackie Rodgers, local Negro featherweight.

And Dunn, through his manager, Jimmy Conrad, has politely informed the club to tell Rodgers to run around the block and get himself a new reputation following his decisive defeat by Archie Bell, of New York, in their 10-round bout at Motor Square Garden last Monday night.

Dunn got the runaround from both the club and Rodgers after twice being promised a match with Rodgers for beating other foes at the Garden, on the plea that a Rodgers-Dunn bout would not draw, although Dunn twice had beaten Jackie before the latter piled up his string of eight knockout victories. Now that Rodgers is beaten and at least temporarily eliminated, Dunn is being offered a belated shot at him instead of being matched with the winner, Bell, whom he already has boxed in the East, with better success than Rodgers experienced against Archie here.

WOULD REMATCH RODGERS

Upon turning down Rodgers at this time and asking that Dunn be matched with the winner of Monday night's fight, Johnny's manager said the club threatened to rematch Rodgers and Bell if Dunn didn't come into line, as if Bell wouldn't do the same thing to a fighter who is made to order for him, as Rodgers is, any night in the week.

The fans want to see Bell again and the sooner the better they'll like it. They don't want Rodgers and Dunn now in view of the complete collapse of the Rodgers bubble, but they do want Bell against a worthy opponent, and it would seem that in view of the club's obligations to Dunn he should be given the chance.

Between Rounds

The Motor Square card for Monday night is complete. Sarge Sabato, of New York, and Vincent Hanright, of Connellsville, hard-hitting welterweights, are listed in the main bout; Patsy Pirrone, of Canton, O., and Harry Williams, of the south side, light-heavyweights, in the semi-final of eight rounds; a return bout; Russell Fowarts, of Youngstown, and Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, in the second bout, and Sammy Faris, of the Hill, and Al Rosino, of Swissvale, in the opener.

Willie Davies, of Charleroi, beats Johnny Edwards, of Huntington, W. Va., in the main bout at Clarksburg, W. Va., tonight. Louis Vine and Billy Jones are in the semi-final.

Mickey Doris and Gene Reed meet in a 10-round windup at Johnstown tonight. Young Straggio and Jimmy Dontella are in the semi-final. Johnny Grosso and Phil Scott.

Andy Andruzzi, victor over Phil Goldstein at the Moose Club last Friday night, leaves Tuesday for Buffalo, where he goes head to head at Old City on the night of April 22.

The card is complete for the boxing show to be held in the Canonsburg, Pa., hall Monday night. Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., bakes Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the 10-round main bout. Jimmy McGraw, of Martins Ferry, O., and Cowboy Dennis, of Lawrenceville, Pa., in a return bout in the 10-round semi-final. Harry Devore, of Wellsville, O., and Sailor Place, of Washington, Pa., box the second bout, and Johnny Wardell, of Pittsburgh, and Johnny Petullo, of Washington, are in the opener.

GRAHAM STOPS BILLY SHAW

CINCINNATI, April 10.—(AP.)—Bushy Graham, featherweight, Utica, N. Y., knocked out Billy Shaw, Detroit, in the first round here last night with a right to the chin. Graham rushed in at the start and nailed Shaw with a left hook to the midsection and followed this up with a punch to the head. Before Shaw had a chance to recover Graham drove his bruising right to the Detroiter's chin and the fight was over.

OBSERVATORY CIVICS BACK IN FIELD

By TOM BIRKS.

Located in Perrysville avenue, near the Observatory, a band of North Side boys for many years had what was known as the Whoopee Club. Among other activities they played baseball, and last season were members of the Steel City League. This season the club, well handled by Charley Meeder, again will be in the Steel City loop trying to land the pennant for the North Side, but will be known to the sandlot fans as the Observatory Civics.

This fellow Meeder, a wonderful sportsman, has worked hard during the winter and early spring months perfecting his organization, and now he feels that an even break should give him a pennant with the fine material under his control.

PLAYERS RETURN

In these days when players seem to take a delight in moving all over the county, a manager is fortunate, indeed, when the majority of his players return, and this season's makeup of the Civics will find practically the personnel of last season's team intact. Cooper, Karsch, Koster, Cuda, S. Rodgers, Joseuhaus, Mills, C. Miller, H. Miller, Sterling, McConnell, McVay and Meeder, Jr., will be on hand.

Jack Rodgers, a new infielder, classed as a good hitter, will be fighting for a berth; Steve Hachasy, former Schenley High School star, has been signed, and will share the pitching burden with Lefty McConnell. Karsch, a former high school star, also will be available to take his turn on the mound.

The Civics will get much opposition this season—even more than last year in the loop. St. Joachims, Fox A. C., Demor and the other clubs are well-balanced.

Fans around Perrysville avenue are going to see a great deal of good baseball, and Meeder and his boys will be popular on the sandlots.

Bunts

Last Saturday afternoon a satchel was lost between East Liberty and the Downtown district. It contained playing equipment and was owned by Jack Schneider, who drew his stuff with Italian National Bank. The paraphernalia is of little use to anyone but Jack, and he may be reached at Linden 1249-W.

LEAGUE FORMED

St. John's team, of the City League, will hold a special meeting and practice session Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at St. John's field. The following players are requested to be on hand: Pat O'Hara, Shaun Herron, Davis, Harper, Quinn, Brown, Donahue, Harbaugh, Rainbow, Fritz and O'Toole. Any other players looking for an opportunity to work in the City League should be on hand for a tryout.

Young Golfers Defeated in British Play

LONDON, April 10.—(AP.)—Old hands came to the front at the beginning of match play in the professional invitation golf tournament at Roehampton today. Of the young golfers who performed so well in the qualifying rounds, only Henry Cotton survived the first round.

Cotton with superior play to the greens, downed Bert Hodgson, 5 up and 3 to play.

Fred Robson put out W. T. Twine, 2 and 1, and Reginald Whitcombe, who scored a sensational 64 yesterday, fell a victim of J. G. Sherlock by the same score. Gus Faulkner was eliminated by Len Holland, 2 and 1.

The veteran Abe Mitchell had an easy time killing off his younger opponent, H. C. Jolly to the tune of 5 and 3. The other three survivors for the second round were Arthur Navers, W. H. Davis and Mark Seymour.

CLUB MERGER FAILS

The proposed merger of the Homewood-Brushton and Jimmy Smith clubs, two of Pittsburgh's leading sandlot teams, has been abandoned by the rival managements. The clubs will operate independently.

The North Borough's Municipal League is the latest addition to the House Wagner baseball family. A meeting was held in West View, with six clubs attending. Another will be called Monday, when rules will be adopted and the loop closed.

KAYE DON OUT TO SET MARK

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 10.—(INS.)—Kaye Don, British automobile racing king, started another bid for the world speed championship here today in his Silver Bullet.

With his gigantic Bunbeam racer "Silver Bullet" functioning perfectly over glassysmooth sands, Kaye Don made a speed of 182.-741 miles per hour in a test run preparatory to an attack on the world record of 231 miles an hour.

The 182-mile an hour clip was made on a test run southward along the nine-mile course. The British speed demon immediately turned the nose of his silver car toward the north, planning to "open her up" on an official record run northward.

Beach conditions apparently were far better than at any time in the past. Even at the terrific pace of the three miles a minute, Don seemed to sit solidly in the tiny cock-pit of his car. In the past he has bounced so badly on every speed attempt that he had to seek medical attention.

Motor trouble developed on Don's run northward, however, and the "Silver Bullet" flashed over the measured mile with its exhaust spitting fire and the roar of the engine punctuated by a series of sharp explosions. His speed northward was only a trifle over 155 miles an hour.

Lashers to Play For Riddle Club

Another brother act will flash on local sandlot diamonds when the Lasher brothers perform for the Riddle North Siders in the coming campaign of the North Side Twilight League. George Lasher will play one of the infield posts, while Phil Lasher will hold down one of the regular catcher positions. Both are heavy hitters, with George being the leadoff and Phil in the third notch.

DUKES IN TOURNEY

Al Anuszkiewicz and B. Stillwagon won feature matches as the first round of play in the Duquesne Interscholastic handball tourney was concluded yesterday. Seven matches are carded for today. Other winners yesterday were John Pullar, Joseph Hannon, Ed. Brining and Henry Stafford.

WOMEN'S DATES SET

ONE-DAY GOLF EVENT CARD ANNOUNCED

BY VERN SWARTSFAGER

With the West Penn championship slated for September 8 to 12 at the Westmoreland Country Club, and 15 one-day tournaments on schedule, Mrs. F. M. Sloan, of the Edgewood Country Club, president of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania, is expected this summer to direct local women's golf through one of the busiest seasons it ever experienced, beginning with the first competition on May 21.

Mrs. George L. Hays, secretary of the women's governing body, has announced an elaborate one-day tournament plan, with almost a tourney a week to be staged at 18 holes of medal play. The committee working on the team schedule for the league matches in two sections, will not have its card ready for a fortnight, due to the fact that Mrs. H. C. Anderson, of Longue Vue, and Mrs. J. Bernd Rose, of Allegheny, wife of the president-elect of the W. P. G. A., are out of town. Anjeanette Hunter, of Oakmont, former champion, and the third member of the committee, is lining up a tentative card, it is said.

At the annual meeting of the women's association, held last fall, Mrs. Sloan was elected president; Mrs. C. I. Wendt, Pittsburgh Field Club, first vice president; Mrs. H. C. Anderson, Longue Vue, second vice president; Mrs. L. H. Burnett, Oakmont, third vice president, and Mrs. Hays, Oakmont, secretary. The schedule follows:

Wednesday, May 21, Allegheny Country Club.
Wednesday, May 28, Altoona Country Club.
Tuesday, June 3, Highland Country Club.
Friday, June 13, Pittsburgh Field Club.
Thursday, June 19, Shannopin Country Club.
Thursday, June 26, Longue Vue Country Club.
Tuesday, July 1, Wildwood Country Club.
Wednesday, July 9, Stanton Heights Golf Club.
Thursday, July 17, South Hills Country Club.
Friday, July 25, Edgewood Country Club.
Friday, August 1, Greensburg Country Club.
Tuesday, August 5, Country Club of Pittsburgh.
Thursday, August 14, at Montour Heights Country Club.
Friday, August 29, Butler Country Club.
Monday, September 22, Oakmont Country Club.
Championship—September 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 at Westmoreland Country Club.

GRIMES TRADE SHOCKS FANS

tips the scale at 175 pounds. Percy started his professional career with the Chicago Cubs in 1920, but he pitched only seven innings his first season under the big tent. He remained with the Cubs until 1923, when he was optioned to Los Angeles, of the Coast League. Jones spent one season with the Angels and in 1924 was sent to Seattle on option. The following year, after winning 13 and losing 11 for the Seals, Percy was recalled by the Cubs and remained with the Windy City organization until traded to Boston, November 7, 1928, with Maguire, Cunningham, Leggett, Siebold and a cash consideration, for Rogers Hornsby.

Jones' complete major league record shows he has taken part in 247 games, won 53 and lost 58. His best season was in 1926, when he won 12 and lost 7 for the Cubs.

Jones will report to Manager Jewel Ens at New Orleans tomorrow night or Saturday morning. Ens announced today he plans to carry three southpaws through the season. Jess Petty and Larry French are the other two.

Buc Pilot Convinced Grimes Would Have Been of Little Assistance to Pirates.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

MOBILE, Ala., April 10.—The comparatively dull Pirate camp today buzzed with comments and opinions on the big trade that sent Pitcher Burleigh Grimes, of the Buccos, to the Braves in return for Pitcher Percy Lee Jones and a sizeable amount of cash.

To tell the plain truth of the matter, the news did not cause a shocking surprise among many of the Pittsburgh veterans, several of whom appeared to think that a trade was brewing as a result of the inability of the star pitcher

Success Came Late in Life

"For the first time in years I am able to eat the things I like without becoming nauseated, and suffering cutting pains afterward, and lying awake hour after hour unable to sleep," says Mrs. Kate Stuart, of 226 E. 70th St., New York, N. Y. "Ever since I started taking Acidine I am clear of all that. At first I took a dose after each meal. Now I take one at night and another after I get up—my stomach is so sweet I am eating whatever I want, and my nerves are calm, now."

That shows how easy it is for people with a sick, sour stomach to help themselves now. It is equally exposed to excessive acidity from failure to digest starchy foods. Acidine ignites the souring mass, sweetens the stomach, the inflammation is soothed and the tension on the nerves is relieved. Try Acidine. It tastes good; and costs so little at any drug store.

Sport Vignettes

This year will go down in history as the beginning of a new era in sports .... It will be known as AP (After Pyle), the great Cash and Carry man having ditched his cross-country Marathon for his own good as well as that of the populace .... Jack Bentley is on the job again as manager of the York club of the New York-Pennsylvania League .... Remember his trick windup when he was a pitcher for the New York Giants, a few years back, having come up from the Baltimore Orioles as a high-priced beauty? .... Back in the alleged good old days, the big league clubs relied on little except the annual Holdout Brigade for their pre-season publicity .... But times have changed .... Now we have Babe Ruth's bum pins, Pie Traynor's bad eye and Rogers Hornsby's bad heel to keep the headlines headlining .... Mrs. George W. Wightman, of Boston, wife of the former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, has won 31 national court titles, most of them of the doubles variety .... It is to be hoped that Lord Derby doesn't high-hat us when he comes to the United States for the Kentucky Derby in May .... The English Derby was named after his family .... Three officials will rule the games of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League in the future .... That ought to make the game official for the records, anyway .... Why not let the officials play and keep the players on the sidelines so they won't clutter up the works? .... Polo and race meets are the only excuses horses have for living in these motorized times .... This department has a standing order for the dismissal of any employe who pulls the dead grandmother joke for office boys on the opening day of the baseball season .... Which means that such a yarn will be submitted by no more than a dozen members of the staff .... It's surprising how many men reach the heights in the ring without being able to hit hard enough to knock your hat off .... There's Archie Bell, for instance—and look at the way he spiked the guns of Jackie Rodgers, a "killer," in their bout here the other night .... Midget Wolgast, the flyweight champion; Sammy Mandell, the lightweight king, and Jack (Kid) Berg, the junior-welterweight titleholder, are three other examples .... They make up either in speed or science for their lack of wallop .... The usual greeting of Manager Bunny Buntach for his heavyweight, George (Posi) Panka, is "Big Slavish Man," and he gets away with it .... Panka, by the way, is one of the best-natured of the local boxers .... They call him Pancakes and all other sorts of names, but he never loses his even temper and improves with every fight .... He'll drag a lot of local fans to New York with him when he boxes on the Sharkey-Schmeling card in June, and they won't all be cousins, either, although he probably boasts more cousins than any other man in Allegheny County.—HARRY KECK.

Babe Ruth Plays, But Sub Does His Running

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 10 (AP.)—With Babe Ruth in the lineup, but a substitute running bases for him, because of the Babe's charley horse, the Yankees trimmed the Nashville Volunteers, of the Southern Association, 8 to 3, yesterday. Ruth walked three times, struck out once and grounded out once.

and his employers to reach an agreement on a new contract.

On the face of the returns, the Pirates would seem to have finished second, regardless of the amount of cash that comes to Pittsburgh along with Percy Lee. But there are so many sides to be considered that one finds it hard to get the real "lowdown" on the transaction.

"I figure that Jones is a good lefthander," said one of the older Pirates in discussing the big issue. "But Grimes is one of the greatest in the game. It would be a bit off color to attempt a comparison between the two. Yet on the other hand, I was wondering whether Grimes would be as good this season as he had been if he had to sign a contract that was distasteful to him. Burleigh, as I understand, wants a 2-year contract, and the club would not have a part in a long-term document. Supposing that Grimes had eventually signed a one-year contract against his will. Wouldn't it be only human for him to be a bit dissatisfied? And discontented ball-players are not as apt to win as those that are entirely satisfied."

ENS NOT BITTER

Manager Jewel Ens of the Pirates was absolutely free of any bitterness when he discussed the deal. But Ens, apparently, figured that the spitball star would not be a big winner this year. In connection with the swap, the Buccaneer pilot gave out the following statement:

"I have for some time been convinced that Grimes' general attitude since the close of the past season, as well as in contract matters, did not augur well for his being of any material assistance to us in the 1930 pennant race. I, therefore, advised Mr. Dreyfuss to try to make certain deals for him, among which was the one for Jones, of Boston, which we were successful in bringing to a completion yesterday. I am mighty glad to have Jones on our club and am sure he will prove to be a winning pitcher."

Percy Jones is somewhat of a youngster despite his extensive career with the Cubs and Robins. The Southern boy, almost six feet tall and of a slender, though wiry, build, is endowed with the stuff of which slab heroes are made. Few southpaws in the sport have a better fast ball than Percy Lee and he also owns a good hook. During his service as a Bruin, he picked on the Pirates to a certain extent, our boys finding him very hard to solve even when they defeated him.

Jones is one of those lefthanders who fiddled around with his natural style. He began throwing a slow ball and that kind of stuff, but last year he was back in his natural stride, even if he did lose 15 games while winning seven for the last place Braves. In the previous year he copped 10 and lost six for the Cubs.

Jones has a delivery that is almost as easy as that of Wilbur Cooper, except that Percy is an inch or two taller than Wilbur and his fast ball carries more zip. His coming to the Pirates gives Ens a southpaw problem, as the Pittsburgh skipper had two starters in Jess Petty and Larry French. Ens, however, may carry three lefthanders. The two recruit southpaws, Lief Erickson and Martin Lang, are due to be farmed out.

Jones was reported to have inherited a cool $1,000,000 or so about a year ago, but the lefthander who now comes to Pittsburgh informed the writer that the story was a bit premature. Percy stated that in some distant day he stood to cut in on a big estate, but there are other heirs to be considered. However, the fans are apt to dub him the "Millionaire Kid" on general principles.

In touching on the financial phases of the case today, Vice President Sam Dreyfuss stated that the success or failure of the Boston team in signing Grimes left the Pittsburgh team with no responsibility. In fewer words, it's a case of everybody for himself and the deal stands.

McKECHNIE NEW BOSS

The fact that Bill McKechnie acquires the spitball star will be a source of enjoyment to many friends of the Wilkinsburg citizen. McKechnie apparently played the big Boston hand in swinging the transaction. Just how the second-division Braves can dig up the cash to pay stars like Grimes is something hard for the layman to figure, but you can lay a wager that Burleigh will make the Tribe "lay a lot on the line" before he decorates the line with the Grimes moniker. Whether Burleigh will get his two-year contract remains to be seen.

Meantime Percy Jones, reported in A-1 shape, is heading for the camp of the Pirates. Jones was in Richmond, Va., with the Braves when the deal was completed. He was ordered to proceed at once to New Orleans to join his new mates. Percy doubtless will figure the whole thing as a "break" for him—maybe it will turn out to be one of those trades that helps both sides, like the Maranville, Southworth-Barbare, Nicholson swap of 10 years ago.

LOSS TO BUCS

Nevertheless, it will take a lot of arguments to convince Pirate fans that the team can afford to lose a pitcher who doubtless would have won 50 ball games in the next two years, barring an accident to his pitching hand.

Grimes copped 25 games in 1928 and won 17 last year, after having hit a stride that was even better than his furious gait of the previous summer.

On the face of the whole thing, it seems to be up to some of the other stars to deliver in a better manner this year or the club will have little chance for a one-two-three finish.

VISA OBTAINED FOR MRS. BORAH

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP.)—It was almost time for the liner Mauretania to sail when a passenger discovered her passport had no French visa.

Naturally all tourists can't be expected to know all about these foreign requirements. But this was an emergency passport, secured for her by the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senator William E. Borah, and she was Mrs. Borah.

Cunard Line officials hastened to the French passport office nearby and told them as much.

"Ah, Oui, Mrs. Borah, even so, m'sieu, we have only visas for regular passports and for diplomatic passports. But for emergency passports? No."

At length officials from the French consul general's office were called, and they affixed, in time, for proper visa, an ordinary one.

Accompanying Mrs. Borah was Mrs. Jerome Day, whose husband is an official of the Hercules Silver Mine in Idaho. They expect to spend the spring in Southern France and England.

Interviewed by reporters, Mrs. Borah was asked if Senator Borah was as outspoken at home as in the Senate. She laughed and said:

Oh, no! He is very quiet at home. He is tired out and told me before I took a train for New York that 10 minutes after Congress adjourns he is going back to Boise and get some rest. The trouble with Mr. Borah is that he works too hard. He has fairly worn himself out. He takes his pleasures sadly."

Mrs. Borah added that Senator Borah is standing for re-election in November, and that, for this reason, he does not entertain an idea of joining her abroad, but wishes to be back in Idaho.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Local people, many of whom you know, are highly endorsing Tanlac. For example, Mrs. Ellen White says: "For years I suffered from indigestion. I got no relief from anything until I took Tanlac. After my fourth bottle, I feel like a new person and have a fine appetite."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation, or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Tanlac. It is good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and barks. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you. Accept no substitute.

GAVE UP HOPE OF EVER GETTING MARRIED

Pretty Young Wife of Steelworker Tells Story of Mingled Sadness and Joy.

"I met Carl on the steamer which brought us here from Austria," says Mrs. Vlacho, of Rochester, Pa. "We fell in love at first sight and I promised to marry him as soon as he got a job and saved a little money. After we had landed, Carl had a hard time for a while, but by and by he got a good job and I was very happy looking forward to marriage and my own home. But somehow the climate here in America did not agree with me. I got catarrh and stomach trouble. I grew weaker and sicker every day—by the time Carl had saved up enough money for our home I was so miserable and sick that I knew it would be sinful for me to marry. I was broken hearted. I cried day and night. I told Carl he should forget all about me and find another girl. But he loved me so much he would not give up. One night after work he brought me a bottle of World's Tonic and told me how it could help Austrians like us in a way that no ordinary American medicine can. He said World's Tonic is made from powerful medicines brought from many different parts of the world. That's why it brings such amazing benefits to foreigners as well as Americans. It's as good as a trip back home. I got better from the first spoonful of World's Tonic. At the end of the first week I was sure that I would get well.

"Just one month after I started taking World's Tonic we had a happy wedding. I've been well and strong ever since. We have three fine children now. We are all happy and I feel that I owe it all to World's Tonic."

World's Tonic is on sale at Dow's, May's & Liggett's, Maylower, and all other modern drug stores. (A-6)

STOCKS SWEEP UP TO FRESH 1930 HIGHS

Wave of Selling Reduces Gains, but New Leaders Carry Market Forward

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP.)—The stock market today gave one of the most impressive bullish demonstrations of the year in trading of record-breaking proportions. Scores of issues were marked up 1 to 10 points, with at least 50 reaching new high ground for the year. A flurry of selling swept through the market at midday, cutting down some of the early gains and sending a sprinkling of issues below yesterday's final quotations. New leaders were quickly brought forward, however, and the market was headed upward again by early afternoon.

A reduction in the call money rate from 4 to 3½ per cent, an unexpected increase of 90,905 tons in the March unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation and an increase of about 10 cents a barrel in Mid-Continent crude oil prices helped to generate bullish enthusiasm.

BIG BLOCKS SOLD

Blocks of 5,000 and 35,000 shares appeared on the tape at frequent intervals.

J. I. Case jumped 10 points to a new high at 308. Ingersoll Rand climbed more than 9 points to a new high at 209, and Allied Chemical 7¼ to a new top at 315, but profit-taking reduced some of the gains. U. S. Steel common responded to the tonnage statement by moving up nearly 3¼ points to 197¾.

Chrysler crossed 42 to a new 1930 high.

Pools were again active in such stocks as Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric, Houston Oil, Radio Corporation common, International Business Machines and A. M. Byers, all of which sold 3 to nearly 5 points higher.

REACH NEW HIGHS

Among the many industrials and specialties to reach new high ground were General Electric, International Harvester, Gold Dust, DuPont, Timken Roller Bearing, General Theaters Equipment, Shubert Theaters, Borden and Skelly Oil.

United Aircraft, Johns-Manville and American Locomotive were heavy, the last-named duplicating the low level of the year.

Freeport Committee Wins Proxy Fight

WILMINGTON, April 10.—Final tabulation of proxies of the Freeport Texas Company annual meeting which reopened here this afternoon, gives the opposition stockholders' committee 350,169 shares and the management 286,523 shares.

The opposition nominated the following board of directors: George Gordon Battle, Elmer G. Dieffenbach, Ralph C. Holmes, Charles B. Holladay, Eugene L. Norton, Victor G. Paradise, Odie R. Seagraves, Edward H. Phateng Langbourne M. Williams, Jr., and Frank A. Wills. The management nominated the old board of directors.

Fireproof Corp. Operations High

Conduit operations of the National Fireproofing Corporation are at an excellent rate, and tend to make up for a slight deficiency in the operations of the tile department. However, with easy money prevailing, and the advent of real spring weather, the operations of the tile department are expected to go to higher levels.

Steel's Unfilled Orders Increase

NEW YORK, April 10. Unfilled tonnage on the books of the U. S. Steel Corporation as of March 31, 1930, amounted to 4,570,657 tons against 4,479,748 tons on February 28, 1930, an increase of 90,905 tons. Unfilled orders on March 31, 1929, totaled 4,410,718 tons.

Gain in Steel Tonnage Furnishes Surprise In Wall Street

IF the bear element had been counting heavily on the steel tonnage report to provide some measure of aid and comfort it was rudely disappointed when that statement made its appearance on the stroke of noon. For the better part of a week it had been estimated that the March report on unfilled orders would show a small decrease. Actually however the report disclosed a gain of 90,900 tons thus comparing with an increase of 21,038 tons a month ago, and with an increase of 266,377 tons in March last year. The monthly tonnage figures of the Steel Corporation have proven "dynamite" to the speculative element ever since last October when the report for that month which had been expected to show a rather sharp decline in the total brought a gain of more than 183,900 tons.

An important economic bureau points out that many business men who have been complaining of poor business in their own particular lines have been buying stocks on the exchanges, thus accounting for the strength of the stock market, even though business as a whole has not shown any definite upward trend. Needless to say, bull markets must have good business and expanding corporation profits to sustain them, otherwise they are built like a house of cards to be toppled over by the first real wind of adversity.

ONE of the big stock exchange houses which "called the turn" of last year's reaction said yesterday that in consolidating its advance the market might be expected to retrace about one-third of its gain. This is equivalent to 12 points on the standard statistics' average. Reactions which come frequently are always more moderate than those which come in the form of an occasional "big break," which are as distressful to investors as they are injurious to business. Good motor and oil stocks offer the most attractive prospects at this time.

To those who are adverse to entering commitments in the motor shares, the widely heralded resumption of bullish activity on a large scale in General Motors should find immediate response in the market valuation of DuPont, which is the principal holder in the stock of the former organization. The ambitious expansion program outlined for the present year is indicative of the progressive trend followed by the management.

THE bullish statement by the president of General American Tank Car Company to the effect that the volume of business and profits for the first quarter of this year exceeded by an appreciable margin the showing for the like period of 1930 is one of the major reasons why sponsors of this stock have attained good success in their operation in this leading rail equipment. Dividend return of $4 annually in cash and 4 per cent in stock are indicative of the liberal policy adopted to stockholders.

More than one brokerage house is advising the purchase of Woolworth at current market prices in anticipation of an appreciably upturn with the approach of the Easter season. The company has enlarged its scope of operations to include stores in leading European centers and further expansion in foreign countries is contemplated.

Uncertain Outlook for Steel Continues

BY GEORGE H. SNYDER.

BUSINESS in the Pittsburgh district continues in a waiting attitude. So far as the major industries are concerned, conditions are much the same as they have been for the past two months. Production is at a higher rate than at the close of 1929 but no definite trend has been discernible since the first few weeks of recovery early in the year.

The steel industry continues to produce between 70 per cent and 75 per cent of capacity. Early this month production showed a moderate increase but most of this ground was lost last week. The steel industry is a fairly accurate index of the general rate of industrial prosperity. A study of production so far this year as compared with the corresponding months of last year gives a good picture of the general industrial situation.

March Production Off

THE daily average production of steel ingots, as reported by the American Iron and Steel Institute, reached its lowest point in 1929 at 115,851 tons in December. The daily output increased to 140,239 tons in January of this year and showed a further gain to 169,499 tons in February. Then the expansion in output came to a stop. The average in March showed a slight drop to 166,309 tons.

Due to the wide variation in the production of individual plants, it is difficult to estimate the production for the present month but it is unlikely that any very pronounced gain in output will be recorded.

So far this year production of steel has been far below the corresponding months of 1929. January's average daily output was off 15.7 per cent. February registered a decline of 5.97 per cent and March was off 15.2 per cent.

Year Has Slow Start

THE daily production in January was lower than in any month of 1929 except December. The output in March was smaller than in any month of last year except November and December.

A mixture of influences is affecting the steel trade at present. The demand for steel for automobiles is showing a moderate increase after remaining at a low rate since the break in the stock market last fall.

This is being counteracted, however, by some hesitancy on the part of railroads in purchases of new materials and equipment. With both gross and net income substantially lower than last year, most of the carriers are unwilling to make large commitments for either rails or rolling stock.

Prices Uncertain

THE hesitant attitude of buyers and the continued weakness in steel prices makes the outlook for the second quarter little brighter than that for the first. The average return per ton on most steel products is likely to be less than in the first quarter and this will be reflected in steel company earnings.

Within a few weeks the profits of steel companies for the first quarter of the year will be published. These will show substantial declines from the corresponding periods of 1929. Similar declines will be reported for the second quarter so that steel earnings for the full year of 1930 will be far below those of 1929.

There is little hope of price advances being established before the third or possibly the fourth quarter of the present year. Even a very sharp revival in production would be unlikely to make it possible for the steel industry to duplicate the phenomenal records in profits reported for 1929.

It must be remembered, however, that last year was so exceptional in every respect that it should not be taken as a standard for comparison. The profits of most steel companies were exceeded only by war years and in many cases all previous records were broken.

French Increase Duty on U.S. Motors

PARIS, April 10.—American automobile dealers in France today said that they had learned the French customs authorities had decided, pending passage of the new tariff to change the manner of valuation of American cars for duty in such a way as to increase the amount payable thereon from 25 to 60 per cent.

By this measure also the existing 45 per cent ad valorem duty will be calculated on the selling price in France instead as heretofore on the production price in America.

The supposed object of the surprise measure is to prevent dealers from importing large stocks of cars before the new tariff becomes effective.

HOUSE INQUIRY ON BANKING TIMELY

Remaking of Credit Map By Mergers Strikes at Economic System's Roots

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, in his testimony on branch and chain banking before the House Committee on Banking and Currency, expressed the belief that trade area branch banking would tend to lower interest charges to borrowers.

If this deduction is correct, it constitutes an extremely strong argument for modernizing the American banking system. Irrespective of sentiment, the tendency in the competition between old and new economic institutions is for those which render the best service at the lowest price to prevail. The borrower pays for bank inefficiency in high interests rates and the depositor in added hazards. In Canada, where branch banking prevails, bank failures have been extremely infrequent, whereas in the United States since the war 10 per cent of the banks have suspended—most of them, it is true, small banks in agricultural regions.

INQUIRY TIMELY

The House inquiry into the trends in banking is timely, for the remaking of the nation's credit map through mergers and less formal affiliations strikes at the roots of the economic system. The government cannot afford to ignore a movement fraught with such broad significance. L. T. McFadden, chairman of the committee, has invited leading matchmakers in the realm of banking, including A. P. Giannini and James A. Bacigalupi, of the Transamerica Corporation; George F. Rand, of the Marine Midland Corporation, and E. W. Decker, of the Northwest Bank Corporation, to present their version. The chief aim of the committee is fact finding, and the committee can ask pertinent questions more unabashed than the inquiring independent reporter.

The threat against the continuance of the independent unit bank has stirred deep feeling, and the economics of the subject are rarely examined without benefit of emotional frenzy.

The opening of branches and affiliated companies of the American automobile enterprises overseas has led to the question whether Europe is to be Fordized. E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, in an address tonight before the General Banking Confederation of Italy, at Milan, addressed himself to this arresting question.

MASS PRODUCTION

"Undoubtedly our mass production methods in the United States have been very useful and beneficial to us in many ways," Mr. Simmons, acting as good will ambassador without portfolio, pointed out. "But such methods are very well suited to a country like mine, which has abundant raw materials, a great domestic market for merchandise, and a marked similarity of tastes throughout the country. In other nations, lacking these particular characteristics, such a system of production would not, of course, be equally easy to establish. It is also true that our machine production tends to eliminate individual craftsmanship. America, as a relatively raw, young country, can better afford to sustain this loss, than could a country where craftsmanship has been developed to a very high degree through the continuous experience and skill of generations. In large measure, such undoubtedly is the situation with Italy, so many of whose products owe a great deal to the lively intelligence, high artistic standards, and conscientious skill of the traditional craftsman. It would be a real loss to the world, should Italy endeavor, by inaugurating machine production throughout her industries, to do away with her Venetian glass or lace, or with her extraordinarily fine leather, stone or wood work."

STUART VICTORY

The bringing of order out of chaos in the Fox situation represents a striking personal victory for Harry Stuart and 'h. firm of Halsey, Stuart & Co. The banking firm was fighting for more than retention of a lucrative client; it had previously sold vast quantities of Fox securities to the public, and felt a genuine sense of responsibility to investors. At last a formula was found for turning from wrangling to production. The marked improvement in the financial situation made it possible for the bankers to work out a method of refinancing which would not have been feasible a few months ago.

The granting of permission to the Chesapeake and Ohio to absorb its subsidiary, the Hocking Valley, completes the preliminary steps which pave the way for the Van Sweringen merger. This latest authorization brings the Nickel Plate, Erie, Pere Marquette, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Hocking Valley roads into physical contact with one another. An earlier move in this direction was the recent authorization to the C. & O. to absorb the Chesapeake and Hocking. Having withdrawn their merger petition, which was filed before the final merger plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission was published, the Van Sweringen interests will soon file a new petition, asking in effect for permission to do what the Interstate Commerce Commission approved in principle in the publication in December of its own merger plan. Accordingly, the consummation of this deal, which has hung fire for more than four years, now may only be a few months off.

AIR REDUCTION BUSINESS ON INCREASE

Continued Improvement Is Noted So Far in 1930; Record Net Last Year

NEW YORK, April 10.—After reporting a record year with profits of $5,972,995 in 1929, against $3,208,993 in 1928, a gain of over 86 per cent, Air Reduction Company continues to make good strides in its business this year, in spite of decreases so far shown in a number of important industries.

Net profits in January and February were more than 10 per cent ahead of profits in the same months last year, and while figures for March have not yet been completed, there appears no reason to believe the first quarter will not show about the same gain over the first three months of 1929. In the latter period net after taxes was $1,237,567, equivalent to $1.67 a share on 738,363 shares outstanding at that time. Assuming a gain of over 10 per cent in the first quarter of this year would give a net of between $1,300,000 and $1,400,000 for the period available for the 770,402 shares of capital stock outstanding on December 31.

PLANS PROGRESSING

This continued gain in spite of dull business elsewhere augurs well for profits later in the year if improvement in general business progresses.

Air Reduction is carrying on its program of expansion as favorable opportunities occur. Pure Carbonic Company, of whose stock Air Reduction owns more than 50 per cent, has just purchased Natural Carbonic Company, the fourth largest company in this field in the country, operating chiefly in the metropolitan district of New York. This acquisition will considerably strengthen the position of the company as one of the two largest producers of carbon dioxide, which has a growing market in production of dry ice and in carbonated drinks.

BUYS NEW PLANTS

Air reduction this year also has bought two new oxygen plants, one in Kansas City and the other in Cincinnati, which will further increase the already wide geographical distribution of the business. A slow but steady program of expansion through purchase or construction of plants in all important industrial centers has resulted in substantial growth in earning power which has taken place over the last few years.

Contrary to rumors, Air Reduction has kept intact its holdings of U. S. Alcohol, which incidentally were bought at a price which still shows the company a profit even at current market prices. These holdings are not as large as have been estimated and at the most could not exceed 50,000 shares, so that it is obvious the decline in the stock of U. S. Alcohol had no material effect upon the position of Air Reduction.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY AT STEEL MILL

MONESSEN, Pa., April 10.—Employment for hundreds of additional men is seen in the announcement of D. P. King, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Steel Company's Monessen plant, that, effective April 15, the eight-hour day will be established in the plant, except for those few departments where this is impracticable. The plant has been working a two-turn day in nearly all departments.

The announcement also said that the seven-day week will be abolished. Extra crews and a floating crew are to be added through the change.

Steel Subsidiaries To Spend $10,000,000

NEW YORK, April 10.—Construction work involving expenditure of between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000 at the plant of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, is to begin immediately, according to H. C. Ryding, president. The company is a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation.

America Steel and Wire Company, another subsidiary of United States Steel Corporation, will spend $2,000,000 for improvements to its Cuyahoga works.

Farm Implement Industry Best In 1929

WASHINGTON, April 10.—With production of farm implements in the United States reaching a total value of $650,000,000, and exports $140,802,000, an increase of $24,151,000, the farm implement industry was reported by the Department of Commerce to have had its most successful year.

At the same time the department announced that electrical equipment exports during February with radio apparatus leading, reached a total value of $11,275,457, an increase of $726,533 over the corresponding month of last year.

Remarkable progress has been made, the department said, in the exportation of American tractors, with Canada purchasing 17,200 of these land machines. Russia became increasingly important as a tractor market by purchasing 12,400.

Shows Little Business How It Can Live

By B. C. FORBES

CAN little businesses live by getting together through trade associations? Many big businesses are getting together through outright combination.

The law, from all appearances, has been frowning less upon gigantic mergers than upon efforts by 'independents' to form trade organizations having practical value to numbers in the way of enabling them to obtain reasonable profit-yielding prices and of checking injurious trade practices.

One senses, however, that the pendulum of public opinion is beginning to swing against endless mammoth mergers and in favor of the maintenance of businesses of more modest size.

Suggestions yesterday were offered as to how "independents" can get together and co-operate effectively in self-protection—and for the good of the country—without running foul of the law.

BENJAMIN A. JAVITS, New York lawyer, trust law authority and author of the book, "Make Everybody Rich: Industry's New Goal," told the commerce committee of the American Bar Association at its annual meeting yesterday, how trade associations could be organized and conducted "to extricate American industry from its present profitless and jobless prosperity."

After analyzing Supreme Court rulings, Mr. Javits declared that trade association should be conducted along these lines:

"First—The trade association must have a uniform cost accounting system.

"Second—Each member of a trade association would have to bind himself to set aside a certain agreed percentage of the net profits of his business to be redistributed among or used for the benefit of his employes. This fund to be used either to increase wages or shorten hours by adding more workers.

"Third—The members of the trade association bind themselves to pay a certain percentage of their gross sales into the association.

"WITH enlightened self-interest and public weal thus intelligently mated in a trade association, the court should, I believe," said Mr. Javits, "permit it:

"First: To make binding agreements not to sell below cost.

"Second: To enforce proper trade practice rules or codes of ethics.

"Third: To empower an arbitration board to enforce with the same force and effect as a court of law trade practice rules, codes of ethics or other agreements in the 'public interest as herein set forth by the power to assess damages not to exceed certain liquidated amounts agreed upon in advance in a trade association agreement."

HE added:

"There is no interference with the liberty to contract, since anyone can remain outside of the trade association and compete with it if he believes it in his own best interest.

"I have not seen a case in which it was shown to the court that a trade association's efforts were directed towards high wages and low prices as well as to its profit. Were that disclosed, I believe that the Supreme Court would declare that such an association's aims were not hostile to the public and would not declare it illegal provided its activities were in line with these aims."

HE concluded:

"If business men will learn that profits lie in business co-operation, that profits lie in giving the public quality and low prices, that profits lie in the elimination of waste, that profits lie in giving employes not only a living wage but a cultural wage, that profits lie in the creation of new buying power and new markets, and that profits lie in co-operating with the government to these ends, American business will exempt itself from the operations of the anti-trust laws."

Big business is inclined to take too much for granted. It is not taking sufficient pains to convince the public that what it is doing is in the public interest—that it is in anybody's interest except its own. Especially has big business failed to satisfy the people that its modern methods do not gravely swell unemployment.

If little business can get together in self-defense, and with reasonable regard for the public interest, neither Congress nor the courts are likely to interpose obstacles.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Authorization for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway to construct an extension of its cabin creek branch in Raleigh County, West Virginia, was given today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The line would extend from near Edwight to a connection with the road's Piney Creek branch near Surveyor, a distance of 19 miles.

PENNSYLVANIA TARIFF BOLT SUGGESTED

Porter Studies Request to Call Caucus of State's Group for Fight on Rates

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP.)—Representative Stephen G. Porter, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the Pennsylvania Congressional Delegation, took under advisement last night the suggestion of several colleagues that he call a caucus to determine whether it would be advisable to decline to support the party on the tariff conference report.

After he discussed the merits of the suggestion with Representatives Watson, of Langhorne, and Estep, of Pittsburgh, members of the Ways and Means Committee, which originally drafted the tariff measure, he will make known his position.

SEE INDUSTRY HARM

Two items affecting Pennsylvania industries, have, in the opinion of the advocates of the caucus, including Representative Estep, suffered at the hands of the Senate and conferees.

These items are manganese ore and plate glass. After efforts to have manganese ore placed on the free list failed in the House, were successful in the Senate Finance Committee, but ultimately failed in the Senate, the Independent Republican-Democratic Coalition, the Pennsylvanians assert, while continuing the rate of one cent a pound, reduced the metallic content from 30 to 10 per cent. This deprived the steel industry of its original protection, and in fact, increased its levy, the Pennsylvanians contend.

A clause in the plate glass schedule rearranging the measurements on imported glass, written by the Senate Coalition, nullifies, in the opinion of the Keystone state representatives, the protective advantage gained in the Ways and Means Committee draft, which the House approved.

SUPPORT LIKELY

The conferees are inclined to accept the Senate's decision on both manganese ore and plate glass.

That the caucus idea, which, in this instance, was conceived by members from Western Pennsylvania, will find favor in the eastern section, seemed certain. Seven representatives, comprising the anthracite bloc, which is fighting the importation of Russian coal, expressed enthusiasm and indicated that if a meeting of the delegation is called they would have an opportunity to solicit state-wide indorsement of their program already presented to the conferees.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was slow today at the wholesale produce markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The poultry markets remained steady; demand fair, supply normal, with slight changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets ruled firm; demand good, supplies adequate with slight changes in butter quotations.

Car-lot supplies were nominal with 447 cars on track. Arrivals included 6 cars of apples, 2 asparagus, 3 cabbage, 2 carrots, 3 cauliflower, 6 celery, 1 kale, 12 lettuce, 2 onions, 11 oranges, 1 peppers, 1 pineapples, 42 potatoes, 1 spinach, 1 strawberries, 4 sweet potatoes, 1 radishes and 5 tomatoes.

Talk of A. T. & T. Split-Up Is Baseless

NEW YORK, April 10.—Accompanying the rise in American Telephone and Telegraph Company are the usual rumors of split-ups and distribution of Western Electric stock. The management contemplates nothing of the sort. Later there will be a stock issue with rights.

Western Electric stock is about 99 per cent owned by American Telephone and Telegraph. It is through this subsidiary that the system is able to be sure of its growing equipment needs at reasonable prices. It is interesting to consider how much the Bell system would lose if it lost control of Western Electric and had to ask for bids on its huge expansion programs from competitors. It is through its grip on the manufacturing department that American Telephone and Telegraph is able to keep expenses down, operate efficiently and maintain its high investment value.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Sparkling Stories of Real Life

I MET him in Martin's poolroom.

After a couple rounds of Kelly for some of Martin's atrocious needled beer I asked his monicker.

"Call me Joe—Joe Smith," he said.

That reminded me of my pet story about the Frenchman who was asked if he knew Joe Smith and he said, "Sure, I know two Joe Smiths—one was named Pete."

That got a big laugh.

For several weeks I used to meet Joe at Martin's and play pool. We got rather friendly. Once, when I showed interest in what he did for a living, he grinned at me.

"Oh, I do odd jobs now and then—mostly nights," he said.

"That's all right with me, Joe," I assured him. And it was so long as his "night jobs" weren't pulled off with me the loser.

Almost anyone would have liked Joe Smith. He sure was a lot of fun, always cheerful minded. His own business and was ready to lend a fellow a few bucks to tide him over to pay day.

One night we were playing pool fairly late and I got hungry.

"Let's go over to the Greasy Vest for some eats," I said.

The "Greasy Vest" was Mac Guire's lunch wagon. The name painted across it was "Mac's Eating Palace," but we all called it the "Greasy Vest."

Inside and comfortably seated on the counter stools I said to Mac:

"You know mine, Mac, the old hamburger medium with plenty of onions."

Mac served plenty varieties but nothing on his carte du jour which was equally his carte du nuit since the place was never closed was quite equal to his hamburger and onions.

"Hamburger medium for me, and no onions," Joe said.

"Aw heck, Joe—you must be crazy," I said. "Hamburger's no good without onions."

Tells Story

"No onions, Mac," Joe repeated. Then he turned to me. "Lissen, Ted," he said, "I never told nobody this and I guess it might interest you."

"Shoot," I said, taking a sip of the coffee and sniffing the glorious odor of frying onions.

So this "Joe Smith" told me his story. I shall try to tell it in his own way, as if it happened to me.

It happened to me in a place not a thousand miles from New Brunswick, was the way he started out. There was a lunch wagon there and Otto, the guy who run it, sure served good hamburger and onions. That was my pet dish. Guys who had homes to eat regular at used to drop into Otto's wagon quite often just to get outside of a dish of his hamburger and onions.

I dropped in there one time. It was around 8 at night, a drizzling rain in November.

"How much on th' cuff now, Otto?" I asked.

Otto looked at his greasy little book. "A dollar siggsty," he said. He used to let us run up a bill the guys he knew. I don't think any of us ever did him out of a thin dime.

"I'm broke until mornin', Otto. Got a job tonight and will square up tomorrow," I said.

Otto nodded and winked slowly. Whatever he might think about my little "jobs" he kept to himself.

And so I sat there and got outside of a double order of hamburger and onions. Otto used to fry them onions a light tan color and heap 'em a couple inches thick on th' hamburger. They were sure swell.

When I finished 'em I took a stick of spearmint out of the glass jar and told Otto to add that to my bill. You know onions is swell but they don't smell so good to th' guy who ain't been eatin' 'em. Spearmint sort of takes away th' smell. No need for a guy to be unpopular and I might meet some lonesome Jane a little later.

Plots Holdup

It was getting along toward eight-thirty and I had to get on th' job. I went out, pulled my thin coat about me and decided to buy a nice warm Benny next day because then I'd have around five hundred bucks. I'd have them five hundred smackers within an hour, for that matter.

It was like this. Pat Norris, a fat old Irishman, had a combination fish and poultry shop not far from Otto's lunch wagon. Pat was a friendly old guy, but I didn't owe him nothin' and I needed cash. Pat was the party to supply it, although I didn't intend he was ever to suspect it. Pat took in a good bit of cash on Fridays with his fish and on Saturdays with his chickens from parties buyin' 'em for the Sunday feed.

Pat long had a custom of waitin' until Saturday night and taking his cash to the bank, which was open until nine on Saturdays. What with his Friday fish money and Saturday chicken money he averaged to tote over around five hundred bucks each time. And he always wrapped the cash up in an old newspaper, tucked it under his arm and made a short cut through the alley right to the bank on the street beyond. Pat wasn't fond of walkin', bein' old, and never failed to take th' short cut.

I'd doped that out all right and decided, bein' flat broke, that he was some easy money. I'd hide in th' alley, bump him on th' conk, grab th' mazuma in th' newspaper parcel and saunter away from there. Easier than shakin' nickels out of baby's bank.

Well, I hung around in doorways, not mindin' th' cold rain from thinkin' of th' swell warm new coat I'd buy me next day, and then nothin' to do for a few months but play pool and eat Otto's hamburger an' onions.

Finally there wasn't no customers in Pat's shop. It was around twenty of nine. I seen him futterin' around an' finally stick a new-paper wrapped parcel under his arm. That was th' jack. Then he doused th' lights.

Holdups Pat

That was my cue. I slipped into th' dark alley. I had me a nice piece of lead pipe all ready, with paper wrapped 'round where I grabbed it. I'd toss away th' pipe and stick th' paper in my pocket—burn it later—no finger prints—get me?

Old Pat did as he always did—turned into th' alley. I shrunk back against th' wall in a dark place, all ready to bounce my home-made blackjack offen his bean. But when he come amblin' along with all that jack under his arm wrapped in newspaper I seen he was some feet too far away for me to reach out and lam him.

Well, I had to wait 'til he was just past me. Then I made a leap on him. He half turned or twisted but I popped him on th' head and down he flopped. I picked up th' newspaper parcel, went back through the alley slowly—a man's a fool to run in a case like that—and up street to th' joint where I got my room. I tossed th' package under my bed and started out. My idea was to be back to Otto's lunch wagon for an alibi. Otto would swear I was there all th' time if I asked him.

Well, sir, I had me a swell new idea all of a sudden. I heard a cop whistle three times, so I knew they'd found Pat. And since I knew Pat a little I thought why not go in with th' others of th' curious mob? No one would believe that th' guy who done it would go back like that.

A coupla guys was runnin' into th' alley. I followed 'em, askin', "What's up?"

"Moider!" one mug say. Jees, that scared me blue. But I couldn't turn an' run. I wondered how th' devil I could have bumped him hard enough to croak him. I thought a Irishman had a harder skull than that.

A cop was leaning over Pat. I heard a groan. He wasn't dead and that was a relief, believe you me.

"Who done it? Who done it, Pat?" the cop was askin'.

Pat groans some more.

"Wontcher tell me who done it, Pat?" says th' cop.

"I don't know—I didn't see th' lousy rat," says Pat.

That sure made me feel still better. Everything was jake. An ambulance come to th' end of th' alley to take Pat to th' hospital.

Pat Identifies Him

I edged up and stared at Pat. He was holding his bean an' groanin' and cussin'. I was glad to hear him cuss. He couldn't be hurt much if he talked like that.

Well, th' lead pipe was down th' sewer. I was safe enough.

The cop lifted his feet.

"Lend a hand here," he said.

I edged right in. This was rich, me helpin' get Pat to th' ambulance.

I leaned over his head.

"You'll be all right, Pat," I said, "you ain't hurt much," and I got my hands under his arms.

Say, I'm a so-and-so if Pat didn't grab me 'round th' neck and hang on.

"Hey, Mister Cop, here's th' man who done it!" yells Pat, clinging to me. I couldn't make no break, so I laughs.

"Guess he's kinder looney," I said.

The cop dropped Pat's feet and came to me.

"How do you know?" asks the cop of Pat.

"Th' rat who socked me smelled of onions an' that spearmint stuff. I smelled it when he jumped on me—he done it—can't fool me on that smell," says Pat, still clinging to me.

The cop took a sniff of my breath.

A little while later Pat was having his head bandaged and I was locked up.

They'd find my room some way and find th' jack. That meant a long stretch for me—perhaps I wasn't sore—what I mean.

Monday m[illegible] and th' hearin'. Pat [illegible] stand and identified me [illegible] he spoke.

"For th' life [illegible] me I can't see why Joe done it," Pat says. "He didn't want my money—I had $670 in me coat pocket. He didn't touch it. Your honor, I think th' lad was crazy drunk on this rotten hooch that's goin' round here—I don't want to make no charges."

The judge asked me if I had been drinking.

"I sure was, your honor, and I don't remember hittin' Pat—I wouldn't hit an old man," I said.

"Case dismissed," says th' judge.

Joe Smith ended his story there, or tried to.

"But Joe," I said, "what was wrapped in the newspapers where Pat usually carried his money?"

"Aw, hell, did it make me look cheap, I ask you? They was three spoiled fish in that package Pat was takin' home for his cat!"

All names of characters in this story are fictitious.

Lack of Town Hall Cited As Money Disadvantage

Commenting on the Town Hall situation, James C. Chaplin, president of the Allegheny County Town Hall Association, states an important truth in asserting that no other public project has more effective possibility in deciding Pittsburgh's position as a city of major caliber. Mr. Chaplin, like other public-spirited citizens, deplores the delay in bringing into existence an institution which voters of the county ORDERED to be constructed TWENTY-TWO MONTHS AGO.

Mr. Chaplin points out that Pittsburgh suffers a monetary loss through not having a suitable Town Hall, one that would attract conventions requiring ample space in which to hold expositions pertaining to the nature of the assemblage being held. He holds that such business corresponds to a great industry, one potent to impart double benefit—spending of cash money on the spot by visitors and impressing upon them sufficient of the city's greatness to go forth as boosters and advertisers by word of mouth.

Yet we wait for these benefits. How much longer we shall continue to wait only our County Commissioners know. Our Commissioners are astute and practical men. Judged by their energy and the class of improvements they have given the county, they can well be called live-wires. They could justly be called that as the term applies to their attitude on every public construction project except the Town Hall.

They are engaged at the present time in marvelous improvements to make access to the city easier and safer. But they sleep in the one matter which, above all, would make access to the city desirable to thousands of visitors. Thousands of visitors ready, willing, to come here and mingle with us to their own profit and ours. It is not selfish to state, as Mr. Chaplin points out, that they will spend much money, too. They want to spend it. But they say that if we want their money we must give them the accommodation they desire.

The Commissioners, in delaying construction of the Town Hall, are depriving Pittsburgh of a source of revenue it is entitled to have by reason of its natural advantage as a transportation center. They are depriving citizens who ordered it built that satisfaction of civic pride that is attached to possession of worthy civic institutions.

If they wait for selfish local groups to help them to reach a decision as to the proper site they wait in vain. Eventually the choice will rest upon them, and if they make a mistake they will not escape censure in the least degree by having taken months to come to a conclusion that could have been reached just as long ago.

City Proud to Welcome Thousands of Educators

Several thousand persons will be in Pittsburgh today, Friday and Saturday for the Western Pennsylvania Education Conference. This is a combined meeting of the Pittsburgh teachers, the western convention district of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, and the School of Education Conference, having the support of the public schools, Pitt, Tech and the Henry C. Frick Educational Commission.

The business of the conference, divided among various groups, and a general meeting to be held in Syria Mosque Friday afternoon, will include discussions and addresses by prominent educators from leading universities.

Pittsburgh is proud to welcome such a distinguished group of visitors. Most of us think that we quit school long ago. Our guests, however, come for the purpose of attending school—a school that will teach them how to better conduct schools. So we greet them heartily—wish them every success, culturally and socially.

The Vanishing Newsboy

He May Survive, Though.

The feat of the General Electric Company in transmitting the front page of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, a Hearst newspaper, from San Francisco to Schenectady in three hours, suggests interesting possibilities for the future.

Will newspapers some day be "delivered" at your home by radio, on a screen? Will you turn the "pages" by merely dialing your receiving set? Can you get a new edition every half hour by the same simple process?

It seems quite likely. And it would be a great convenience. The chief drawback that occurs to us at the moment would be that there would be no more newsboys. City life would be duller without these flip youngsters, or the equally alert newsstand proprietors with their marvelous dexterity in making change and their melodious bellowings of "Whaddya read?"

But maybe it would not make much difference. The new does not necessarily wipe out the old. Despite the automobile, there are more horses today than there ever were. And notwithstanding the street car, the airplane and other methods of rapid transit, most human beings still have feet.

'WHETSTONE FOR DULL TIMES'

By Herbert Kaufman

THE best WHETSTONE for dull times is BUILDING CONSTRUCTION. Nothing else so quickly restores the keen edge of confidence.

Which largely accounts for the loud cheers of stock quotations at word that eleven billions will shortly put on overalls, grab shovels and tool-kits, and begin to lay foundations, roads, rails, conduits, and bets that investment can earn HIGHER wages with a CARPENTER'S HAMMER than with a COUPON-CLIPPER.

Public works and private projects for 1930 have contracted to distribute ELEVEN THOUSAND MILLIONS between manufacture, transportation and labor.

And that's the kind of money that passes from pocket to pocket until practically EVERY class in the community gets a PIECE of it.

Construction is a CREATOR, not a CONSUMER, of national wealths. Therein it differs from extravagance and diversion and fashion—three OTHER primary stimulators of prosperity, which leave nothing on the plate after they've satisfied their generous appetites.

EXTRAVAGANCE, amusement and fashion sustain occupation, but DESTROY its YIELDS in the progress of ENJOYING them.

Construction not only PRESERVES but INCREASES the ORIGINAL value of the country's cheap and abundant assets.

It transfers clay to BRICKS, slag to CEMENT, ores to GIRDERS and PIPES and WIRES—CLEARS weed patches and ash-heaps from vacant land, and leaves INCOMES and TAXES flourishing on the sites.

Its cash heads DIRECTLY for the pay envelope, and from there immediately turns to the grocery store, the dry-goods counter and the shoe shop.

It hastens to EMPTY retail shelves and place FRESH factory orders.

It rides on the BASIC producer—the farmer, the cattle rancher, the wool grower and the cotton planter.

SOME fraction of it drops off at EVERY town between the coasts, to encourage trade, hire field hands—to engage cannery help, quarrymen and millwrights.

The construction dollar is a trans-CONTINENTAL traveler—the busiest dollar on EARTH. Its six pences are the NIMBLEST in the land. They're the Boy Scouts of currency, FOREVER doing a good turn SOMEWHERE.

They skip no territories or economic groups. They spread industrial and commercial action from gulf to lakes.

Construction dollars are INDESTRUCTIBLE dollars because they invariably leave PERMANENCIES behind. The dollars that fill gas tanks, teacups, and cosmetic jars DISAPPEAR in them.

The dollars wrought into cars and tires and apparel quickly land on JUNK-HEAPS.

BUT skyscrapers and hotels, apartment houses and power stations, are just so many stacks of greenbacks—MAGIC greenbacks, because every penny invested in their erection has been SPENT and STILL retains its FULL power of EXCHANGE.

Once prosperity means business she draws BLUEPRINTS, drags capital to the saw-buck, and proceeds to disprove the axiom that "YOU CAN'T HAVE YOUR CAKE AND EAT IT TOO."

When Dr. Julius Klein confided to friend Mike that we're entering an eleven billion dollar building book, he staged the star radio act of the season. HIS spring song had Mendelssohn's lashed to the mast. There's the sort of music to which employment, stock tickers and dividends MUST quickstep.

A few MORE such GOLDEN melodies, and NOBODY will be "listening to the mocking BIRDS."

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

I DO not admire Bad Pasts—nor advocate them—but they certainly seem to have their points.

Perhaps you've noticed it yourself—Theoretically, people with blemished records should be miserable, haunted creatures, at odds with life and their neighbors—regular kill joys. And the Shining Examples should be chuck full of peace and happiness and good will toward their fellow men. But usually it works out just the other way!

THE BAD HOMBRES ARE GENIAL AND GENEROUS—

AND THE MODEL CITIZENS SEEM TO CARRY A CHRONIC PEVE!

Instead of radiating confidence and brotherly love, they're generally on the snoop for naughtiness and as full of suspicion and intolerance as a pup is of fleas. Instead of sitting in wrapt contemplation of righteousness, they're always trying to dig up some new dirt! If I didn't know their hearts were humming with hozannas, I'd suspect they were suffering from a lot of stifled desires and unsatisfied curiosities and were taking out their grouch on every sinner that came along.

For example, observe these Immaculate Old Ladies (of both sexes) who have never departed from the path of rectitude by even the teeniest, weeniest bit of a skid—wouldn't you think they'd be all of a glow over the fact, fairly beaming to think of the temptations they've passed up? But instead, just watch them when some Flippant Fluff breezes by with a bunch of Boy Friends in tow. Listen to the snorts.

Is that a defense of righteousness of a celebration over virtue . . . OR IS IT JUST A BLAST OF PURE ENVY?

If you want a loyal, generous, tolerant, understanding, jolly, Regular Guy for a friend, do you seek out some Pillar of Society with an unblemished record? Well, maybe YOU do, stranger, but, believe me, I DON'T. I've learned better. When I want a side-kick like that, I pick me out a good, hard working gambler or hijacker or hobo, or other general wastral. Not that I admire vice—but it's generally a whole lot easier to get along with than virtue. For sinners seem to have gotten it all out of their systems. They've tried everything once. They know what it's all about. They've had their conceit and their contrariness kicked out of them along with their curiosity and now they're willing to settle down and take things easy and give everyone the benefit of the doubt—

But Model Citizens are apt to be awfully picky. They've got a lot of righteousness, but none of it seems to be doing them any good. Maybe they're glad they resisted temptation, but they don't look it. THEY LOOK MORE AS IF THEY HAD AN INGROWING CASE OF SOUR GRAPES AND WERE JUST WAITING FOR AN OPPORTUNITY TO GET EVEN ON THE TOUGH, ROUGH GUYS WHO TOOK THE CHANCES THEY PASSED UP.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

SOMETIMES these seem to be wholly useless, while in other cases, although they have no use as limbs, they protrude as two claws, which doubtless serve some new if minor function.

If, as their general anatomy indicates, snakes have evolved from lizards, these vestiges make sense; without the background of Evolution, they are inexplicable.

H. G. Wells

The Duckbill Platypus has no teeth; like a bird, it uses a horny bill instead. But it is a mammal and on evolutionary principles must have descended from toothed forebears.

We look for evidence on this point—and there the evidence is, carried about by the young Platypus in the shape of teeth which, though they are complete with dentine and enamel, never cut the gum.

They have no function whatever, save that of reassuring the Evolutionist; and the same is true of the whalebone whales, for here also the embryo develops teeth and then changes its mind and absorbs them again, all before it is born.

The vestiges of toes preserved to us in the horse's splint-bones have no sense save an evolutionary one; and here the fossil record clinches the matter by showing that this sense is the true one.

In the common Vapourer moth, which of recent years has become such a pest to trees in London parks, the females are wingless. Where they burst out of their cocoons, there they stay, and are there sought out and fertilized by the winged males.

Most moths, of course, are winged in both sexes; thus on the theory of Evolution we should expect that the wingless female Vapourer had arisen from winged ancestors.

That she has done so is shown by the fact that she still bears the vestiges of wings—mere buds, wholly useless for any purpose; and, interestingly enough, in the chrysalis stage the wing-rudiments are actually larger than in the adult moth.

Another very pretty example of a vestigial organ is to be seen in the African Swallowtail butterfly, Papilio dardanus. The "tails" of Swallowtails are prolongations of the hind wings; and in order to make room for these during the resting stage between caterpillar and butterfly, their chrysalis-cases possess special little pockets into which the tail-rudiments project.

Now Papilio dardanus differs from most Swallowtails in being tailless in the female sex; for the females, in shape, color and pattern, mimic other butterflies which happen to enjoy immunity from attack by most enemies.

But the chrysalis-cases of the females possess tail-pockets just like those of the males, although they are obviously useless, and not to be explained, unless we suppose that dardanus is descended from an ordinary Swallowtail with tails in both sexes.

Sometimes one only of a pair of organs becomes vestigial. Female birds have only one ovary and oviduct—the left—doubtless to provide against the accidents that might occur if two large and brittle eggs were to knock about simultaneously in their insides; but the right ovary and oviduct are always present as miniature and useless vestiges.

The reptiles, from which the birds undoubtedly have evolved, possess a pair of functional ovaries and oviducts; so that the presence of the vestigial right set of organs is perfectly unintelligible to the evolutionist.

Vestiges may, of course, also occur in plants. The well-known Butcher's Broom (Ruscus) gives us an example. In this plant what appears to be the leaves are really flattened-out stems, as is shown by the fact that on them are born the flowers, and by other anatomical details.

This curious arrangement is an adaptation to a dry soil; the leaf-like stems are flattened vertically instead of horizontally, like ordinary leaves, and are accordingly not so much heated as leaves would be, and so lose less water, from their pores.

However, leaves are not absent in the Butcher's Broom; they are still to be found, but only in the form of vestiges, mere scale-like organs below the leaf-like stems and the flower-stalks.

These contain very little chlorophyll, and in any case soon wither and fall off, so that they are quite useless for the leaf's prime function of food-manufacture.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 10.—Once an aristocratic driveway connecting Central Park with Riverside Drive, West Seventy-Second street has become publicized as The Street of Scandals. Fifteen years ago it sheltered the Nathan Strauses, the Huylers, the Dunlaps and others of wealth, known for their philanthropies.

While here and there it retains touches of former opulence, the character of its four-block length has greatly changed. Among its fading glories the fashionable Dakota apartment house remains—the only one in town with an expansive sweep of lawn and a tunnelled arcade of private shops underneath.

Innumerable brown stone fronts and grilled mansions have been torn away to make room for towering and ornate apartment hotels. Seven have arisen in one block in four years. Table d'hote cafes, quick lunches, beauty salons, tea rooms and such are in profusion.

Several cheaper apartment houses are filled with high flying chorus girls, gigolos and those negligee ladies known as keptees. In the area are also several apartments listed as "houses of call." Broadway's professional gamblers hold forth there, too.

One apartment building on West Seventy-second street—which changed its name since the murder—was owned by the late Arnold Rothstein and was his home before the assassin's bullet laid him low. Another apartment house was the scene of the Frank Tinney-Imogene Wilson episode, which spread the first pages.

E. W. Browning, the gray-haired millionaire Romeo, had his real estate offices on Seventy-second and lived there during the exciting tabloid exposures with his various marital difficulties with the now famous "Peaches." Browning owns several buildings along the strip.

A private house on the thoroughfare is reputed the location of one of the most select speakeasies in all the town. Not even the bonafide "members" are permitted to pass through its portals unless in formal dress.

Drug addicts, driven to desperation by craving, often execute what the underworld calls "wing dings." That is, they simulate epileptic seizures along the street in hope that arriving ambulance doctors will administer hypodermic injections as first aid. Some of the "wing ding" artists are able to portray pain so convincingly they fool experts.

Those pale piano pounders who sat all day cross-legged and with a drooping cigaret sagging from a corner of the mouth have almost been mechanized out of existence in the cubicle song sheet shops dotting Broadway. The radio now squawks the sidewalk ballyhoo.

Song plugging, too, is dying of slow strangulation. The talkie is blamed. Big song hits are now talkie theme songs, and when they are released all over the land, do their own plugging.

"It occurs to me," writes R. D. S., "that you column lads are afflicted with an egoistic malady that breaks out in a rash of I's. After reading so many of you for so long I am unable to talk about anybody but myself. What do you take for it?"

What are you offering?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

ISN'T pride the cause of most of your mistakes and the most of your trouble?

For fear of "what people will say" you do or fail to do what would personally benefit you.

You might increase your income if you would take up another line of work.

You don't because you think it might lower your standing with friends.

You might save much more money if you would live on the scale you can afford, and not to keep up with certain persons in your circle.

You may be deficient on many subjects, but you won't be enlightened because you would have to admit your ignorance in that direction.

There are certain little side issues you might follow to increase your yearly saving account, but pride forbids.

So on down the line your life is regulated by pride's voice.

You are catering to those who will not put an estimation upon you from your own standpoint, but from the angle of what you have accomplished.

Later you will regret that you let pride stand in the way of broader usefulness, instead of following good sense and business principles.

The longer you put off taking a step in the direction you know you should go the harder it will be for you to do so.
